SECRET WAR ON SCHOOLS IS ALLEGED

N. E. A. Officials Coming to the Oakland Convention Declare Big Move Exists to Cripple Education System

Resolve to Fight the Plan to Get Rid of School Leaders Made by Those Who Lead in Public Education

The official program of the convention of the National Educational Association, which will convene in Oakland July 2, will be found on page 12.

Bringing 180 delegates from the Southern States to the convention of the National Education Association, the first convention special arrived this morning at Third and Townsend streets station, San Francisco. The delegates will remain overnight in San Francisco and will go to Berkeley tomorrow. A second special from Birmingham, Ala., is due tomorrow.

Declaring that the National Education Association, which is to meet in convention in Oakland, considers that there exists "an organized movement to cripple the leadership in the schools of the nation and to reduce school costs" and that the convention looks upon these matters as the "outstanding emergency problem," officers of the association today outlined the political trend of the forthcoming convention.

The convention officers declare that the delegates are coming here determined to fight what is described as "an organized effort on the part of forces opposed to public education to 'kill off' educational leaders in states and cities, as the most effective way of saving at the expense of the schools."

N. E. A. officers declared, in pointing to the difficulties that recently beset heads of public school systems in California and Pennsylvania, that this is characteristic of the situation everywhere. They claim that "education must fight for its life against selfishness."

SCHOOL ENEMIES SAID TO BE BUSY.

The educators believe that the Oakland convention of the National Education Association is the logical occasion for the discussion of these problems. One officer declared:

"A fight is on the country over to reduce school costs. It grows out of a general movement to reduce taxes. The enemies of the public schools and those who believe taxes must be cut down to expand industry have joined hands in many places. This is a powerful combination and one which might win out before the public is aware of what is taking place."

N. E. A. officers declare that the policy of the opponents of the school system seems to be "to weaken educational leadership." It is claimed that:

"Wherever exceptionally strong leaders have succeeded in obtaining increased support for the schools, they have found themselves under fire provided there were local agencies to assume te responsibility of the attack. The attack is of necessity local, yet it is often plain that it receives real inspiration from the outside."

ATTACK LAUNCHED FROM OUTSIDE DISCOVERED.

"In one city, a superintendent was responsible for the adoption of the single salary schedule which has become a model for school systems of the nation, and which increases salaries more nearly to a professional basis. This superintendent found himself vigorously [illegible] school election was only averted by last-minute activity on the part of friends of the school in acquainting the public with the designs of the opposition and with the danger which threatened the schools.

"In another city, where a number of school movements which were attracting the attention of school authorities throughout the country had been launched, the fight was even more bitter, and the public might have lost had not the opposing forces made the mistake of attacking the motives of the superintendent of schools, charging him with dishonesty and crookedness.

"The public in each case saved the situation by substantial majorities. There are other striking examples of the effort to destroy the leadership in cities large and small. In a few places, the thinking public has been taken unawares. In most cases, these attacks seem to come from a local source—political, factional, sectarian, or commercial—but a careful analysis usually shows outside connections and influences.

"This movement has put in jeopardy the positions of some of the state superintendents of public instruction. One of the most outstanding leaders in administration and teaching efficiency in the United States could not accept reappointment because of conditions imposed."

DOCTOR ACCUSED BY 38 NURSES

Kissed, Peeped at Garters, Girls Charge: Frameup, Replies Physician.

SACRAMENTO, June 21.—"Garter peeping, kissing, drunkenness and conduct unbecoming a gentleman and a doctor," are the charges made by thirty-eight nurses of the Sacramento county hospital against the hospital superintendent, Dr. H. E. Morrison, 50 years old, married and a father, which the county board of supervisors and the grand jury today took for investigation.

To all of this Dr. Morrison replies, "frameup," although he admits having kissed one of the nurses. "It was all in the spirit of fun," said he." It was when one of the nurses came out of the ward and announced that she had finished her work. 'You dear, sweet girl,' I exclaimed, and kissed her."

But the nurses of the hospital do not regard it as fun in the formal letter which they have sent to the two country boards. And when the charges were officially laid before the hospital committee of the supervisors last night, one nurse said Dr. Morrison had peeked at her garter and told her she had "a pretty knee." Another said she and the doctor had had a scuffle when he attempted to "show her the basement of the hospital."

The names of the nurses that testified before the committee last night were not disclosed, but E. M. Kimberlin, chairman of the committee, said the charges were of such a startling nature that the [illegible] fore the grand jury.

Following is the letter written by the nurses to the grand jury:

We, the undersigned, after much consideration and thought, have come to the decision that it is impossible for us to carry on our duties as nurses under our present medical superintendent. His attitude is not that of a doctor or a gentleman. He has at [illegible] which girls, if necessary, are willing to substantiate the above statements.

Having at heart the welfare of the hospital and county, we have taken this means of making known our complaint, feeling that the hospital committee has not been aware of the conditions as they exist at the present time, and knowing these conditions the hospital committee will act in this matter.

Those who signed the letter are: Miss Edna Todur, Miss Genevieve Shumate, Miss Edith Layesh, Miss Lydia Harnish, Miss Louise Neumann, Miss Bertha Carter, Miss Ella Tallon, Miss Esther Lewis, Mrs. Frances Bierbauer, Miss S. Capen, Miss Irene Rowan, Miss J. Favero, Miss Helen Everett, Miss Edna Ball, Miss Ceil Laycox, Miss Pearl Moser, Mrs. Vera Walter, Miss Annette Russell, Miss Hazel Myers, Miss Mae Van Len, Miss Laura Eby, Miss R. Elder, Miss Meriam Parker, Miss Josephine Lascaey, Miss J. Vigilia, Miss Alice Nelson, Miss Marie Johnson, Miss Elsie Riekents, Miss Veda Riola, Miss Beatrice Lafleur, Miss Arline Dodge and Mrs. J. PARENTS JAR BOY AND GIRL HONEYMOON

Wedded Bliss of Two Weeks Ends With Bride at Home in Tears, Loving Still, But With Annulment Sought

School-day Romance Leading to Marriage Develops Very Peculiar Legal Features When Families Interfere

Following a boy-and-girl romance which culminated in a wedding two weeks ago, 18-year-old Aida Pillsbury Cleverdon is in tears today at her father's home, 523 Boulevard way, Piedmont, while her 19-year-old husband, Richard Cleverdon, is once again making his home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Cleverdon, 2823 Benvenue avenue, Berkeley.

The bride is a graduate this spring of the Anna Head school in Berkeley, a well-known amateur musician, and a daughter of John T. Pillsbury, official of an Oakland corporation. The bridegroom is a son of W. T. Cleverdon, San Francisco shipping man whose residence is in Berkeley, and Mrs. W. T. Cleverdon, president of the State Housewives League, and one of the most prominent civic workers in Central California. He graduated last year from Berkeley high school, and is now in business with his father in San Francisco.

"SEPARATION" INVOLVES UNUSUAL FEATURE

The "separation" of the youthful bride and bridegroom involves some of the most unusual features that have come to light within a long time in either the social or legal history of the Eastbay:

1—The two are still in love with each other, and see each other nearly every day.

2—One parent of each consented to the wedding.

3—One parent of each did not.

4—In order to propitiate the respective parents who opposed the marriage, the young couple now wish to obtain an annulment, on condition that they shall remarry when the bridegroom is 21 years old.

5—But the law says that since each had the consent of at least one parent, the marriage is entirely legal, and cannot be annuled.

COMPLICATED SITUATION FACES "WEDDED LOVERS

There is the complicated situation that today confronts two of the best known members of the younger sets of Piedmont and Berkeley, respectively.

The crux of the whole present tangle, according to members of both families, lies in the fact that Mrs. Louise Pillsbury, divorced wife of John T. Pillsbury, and mother of the girl, and W. T. Cleverdon, father of the boy, gave their consent to the wedding, and that Pillsbury and Mrs. Cleverdon, father of the girl and mother of the boy, respectively, withheld theirs.

Consent was given by two of the four parents involved, they explained today, in order to prevent an elopment, after they had seen how determined the two young people were to marry.

LAW STEPS IN AGAINST BRIDE'S PLAN.

When Pillsbury refused to consent to the marriage, his impulsive [illegible] own hands and married young Cleverdon anyway. Afterward, it is declared, she became remorseful at having disobeyed her father, with whom she had made her home ever since the separation of her parents seven years ago, and has made up her mind to make amends by permitting the marriage to be annulled—temporarily. When her [illegible] fault of youthfulness which was her father's principal criticism against him, by becoming 21, she will marry him again, she declares.

But right in there steps the general laws of the state of California, according to officials on the staff of the district attorney, with the announcement that even though one of the contracting parties to the marriage is under age, if he or she has the consent of either parent, the marriage is legal, and cannot be annulled on that ground.

BOUQUET GIVEN BY OBJECTING FATHER.

It is not the first time that the law has placed itself squarely in the path of true love and refused to budge.

The two were married in Oakland June 2, and spent their honeymoon at Santa Cruz. In spite of the objections of the bride's father to the wedding, when she left Oakland on her honeymoon she carried with her an enormous corsage bouquet which he presented to her after the ceremony.

HARDING TO FACE WORLD COURT FOES

President Will Open Fight for International Tribunal With Speech in St. Louis Auditorium: Hostile Zone

Executive's Special Travels Leisurely Through Middle West: Throngs Greet Nation's Chief at Stations

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,
International News Staff Correspondent.

ABOARD PRESIDENT HARDING'S SPECIAL TRAIN, en route to St. Louis, June 21.—With Washington and its worries behind him and 15,000 miles of open road ahead, President Harding prepared today to carry his international court fight "to the people."

The presidential special traveled at a leisurely pace through Indiana and Illinois today, slowing down for the villages and making brief stops at the larger towns along the line. Small crowds gathered at nearly every town of any size and the president usually managed to say a few words.

The burden of his message was that he seldom had seen the Middle West looking better from an agricultural standpoint.

The first stop of the day was at Seymour, Ind., where, despite the early hour a fair-sized crowd had gathered. Next came Mitchell, Ind., and here the president said:

"I am happy to see you this morning and to say a word to you. You know nothing is more pleasing for those who are temporarily charged with authority than to meet and come in contact with the people whom they are trying to serve. I want you all to believe, because it is everlastingly true, that your government is just as much interested in your welfare as you are yourselves because, unless you are a fortunate and happy people, your government cannot reach that height of efficiency, power and helpfulness to which we aim to bring it."

AMERICANS MOST FORTUNATE ON EARTH.

At Washington, Ind., the president told the station gathering that "Americans are the most fortunate people on earth." He also spoke of law enforcement and the need for every citizen to obey the laws, whether he agreed with them or not.

The president will open his long speaking tour in St. Louis tonight with a vigorous re-affirmation of his faith in the court and his determination to put America into it if possible.

The president deliberately chose to begin his battle for the court in territory that presumably is hostile to what he proposes.

Missouri is the home of Senator Jim Reed, Democrat, whose record of irreconcilability to any form of European entanglement was endorsed by the Missouri electorate last November by sending him back to the Senate for another term.

Governor Arthur M. Hyde, although a Republican, is no less opposed to the court plan, as evidenced by his letter to Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, asking him to lead the Senate fight against it. Governor Hyde said that 500,000 Missouri Republicans were against the President's proposal.

WILL REPLY TO HIS CRITICS.

At the coliseum in St. Louis tonight, the president will reply to his critics and emphasize to the Missourians the principal point made in his April speech in New York—that joining the court does not mean joining the League of Nations, under whose auspices the court was established. The president believes that once this point [illegible] of the present opposition to the court will disappear.

The president will not tarry long in St. Louis. He is due to arrive there at 4 o'clock this afternoon (central time), and will leave at midnight for Kansas City, where he speaks tomorrow night. Governor Hyde, Mayor Kiel and a committee of 250 citizens will form a reception committee to meet the president.

From the station he will go to the coliseum to greet members of the Rotary International convention and will later participate in the laying of a cornerstone at the city club building.

The president did not wait until St. Louis to inaugurate his speech-making. Late last night at Grafton, W. Va., he made the first of the innumerable rear-end talks that he will be called upon to make across the country. A good-sized crowd had gathered there and the president spoke a few minutes on general subjects.

Battleship Delayed By Tide in Canal

PANAMA, June 21.—The U. S. S. Maryland, passing to the Pacific yesterday, was obliged to tie up in the north Miraflores locks to await the rise of the tide. Transit through the canal was delayed two hours.

Today Sun Has Longest Job on Year's Calendar

TODAY is the day the sun makes up for the easy job he had December 21 for, before he knocks off work this evening, he will have put in all but twelve minutes of a 15-hour day. When he appeared above the East Oakland hills at 4:47 this morning, he ushered in the longest day of the year, which does not end till 7:35 p. m.

Whether the sun will do his long day's work out in the open, or spend most of it in his workshop building silver linings to high fog clouds, as has been his habit lately, is another question, which the almanac does not attempt to answer.

To those Eastbay residents who neglect to make scientific measurements, there will not appear much difference between the length of today and that of yesterday or tomorrow. Nevertehless, by knocking off this short difference in time veery day from now on, the sun will have got his work down to a nine-hour and 31-minute basis by next December 21, when he will begin at 7:23 a. m. and quit at 4:45 p. m.

These casualties occurred in Missouri, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, New York, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania.

MOUNT ETNA LAVA DOOMS NEW TOWNS

Eruption of Sicily's Volcano Increases in Fury After Short Lull, Belching Out Huge, Devastating Floods

Engineers Labor Desperately to Prevent Cities' Burial: Molten Rivers Reach Flat Land, Orchards Disappear

WASHINGTON, June 21.—(By International News Service.)—The American Red Cross today offered full services to the Italian government in aiding the people in the towns stricken by the eruption of Mount Etna. The United States cruiser Pittsburgh has gone to aid in the relief work.

MESSINA, Italy, June 21.—(By International News Service.)—Violent and continued explosions accompanied by subterranean rumblings shook the slopes of Mount Etna this afternoon. The crater was invisible through dense clouds of smoke and ashes. Lava still flowed from the half dozen fissures in the crater.

LONDON, Jun 21.—(By International News Service.)—The eruption of [illegible] all its former fury, dashing the hope that the volcano's force has been spent, said a Central News dispatch from Rome at noon.

Etna's crater is furiously belching cinders and ashes and lava is again pouring out in a heavy stream, the dispatch added.

Engineers are working desperately to protect Linguaglossa and Castiglione from destruction. Deep trenches are being dug to deflect the molten stream.

HAMLET OF LAVINARO DOOMED TO DESTRUCTION.

CATANIA, June 21.—(By United Press.)—One hundred hours after the first great blasts from Etna's cone started a panicky exodus of tens of thousands of Sicilians from their homes, molten streams of lava from the volcano still advanced upon helpless towns and deserted hamlets today. Ashes and cinders still fell at great distances from the mountain.

One of the main streams of steaming, withering lava, moving with decreasing speed around Mount Etna's foothills, suddenly shot out a fiery branch which now is advancing upon the hamlet of Lavinaro. Destruction of the little township seems imminent.

LAVA FLOOD SPREADS OVER FLAT COUNTRY.

CATANIO, June 21.—International News Service.)—The flood of lava from Mount Etna reached the flat country this morning. The intense heat is shriveling up trees and vineyards. Showers of white volcanic sand are covering the entire countryside.

Contrary to reports yesterday, the town of Linguaglossa has not been destroyed, but is menaced on three sides. It stands like an island, almost surrounded by lava. It has been evacuated save for soldiers and priests.

Catazza has been completely submerged.

At latest reports the main stream of lava was flowing towards the river Alcantre, which may divert [illegible] village of Montenero took refuge on the roofs when the place was surrounded by lava. They cannot be reached and their lives depend on whether they can withstand the fumes from the molten river.

Hindu Denied Permit To Wed White Girl

[illegible] to grant a marriage license to Sader Din, a Hindu, 31 years old, and Berilla M. Mutter, 32 years old, both of Yuba City, was learned this morning from the office of Deputy County Clerk A. M. De Solto. Sader Din, De Solto says, applied for the license with the aid of an interpreter.

The advice of A. B. Tinning, district attorney, was followed, De Solto says, in refusing the request. Tinning cited the recent supreme court decision in a naturalization case that Hindus are not of the white race.

Art Is Argued

ROW OVER ART ARGUED IN OPEN

Joris Dahl Takes His Paintings From Gallery; Thereby Hangs a Tale.

BERKELEY, June 21.—Art is long, finds Joris Dahl, recent recruit to Berkeley from New York City, and life is devious and full of woes. The entanglements in which he has been involved with the California League of Fine Arts and its proprietor, Mrs. Jessie F. G. Herring, of 2419 Haste street, have passed through the preliminaries of argument, reached the dignity of a street brawl and are now in statu quo, with Dahl promising court action if his art abilities are further questioned.

Dahl reached Berkeley from the East with more original water colors than pennies. Certain Berkeley art connoisseurs who encountered him were interested in his work, and promised him some financial assistance. The material form which this took was an introduction to Mrs. Herring, who looked over his work and chose four for exhibition in her gallery at Wilkins hall.

Now, the story hinges chiefly on the question whether the $4 she handed him at the time was in payment for the four pictures or whether it was merely a loan and the pictures were exhibited as further assistance to him. Dahl says $4 payment for such paintings is extraordinarily humorous. At any rate, after they had been hung and Mrs. Herring had departed for a visit to other art folk at Carmel, Dahl began ruminating on the bargain he had struck, and the more he ruminated the more he repented.

ARTIST REGAINS TREASURES BY STEALTH.

According to admissions on both sides, he proceeded to the gallery during Mrs. Herring's absence, obtained the keys from the owner of the building, entered the gallery and departed shortly afterward with his treasured paintings under his arm.

Mrs. Herring presently returned, found the pictures gone and registered extreme wrath. The report of her displeasure did not, however, reach Dahl until yesterday when he was called to the apartment of Miss Thelma Davis, pupil of the California School of Fine [illegible] Hotel where, he says, Miss Davis, instead of buying paintings from him as he had been led to expect, immediately began berating him for reclaiming his works from the Haste street gallery. The argument, it is generally admitted, waxed warm. Miss Davis, Dahl says, got the pictures away from him and refused to return them. He descended to the street, with Miss Davis following, intent upon finding a policeman.

In front of the Hotel Carlton, at one of the busiest corners in Berkeley's business districts, Dahl and Miss Davis and the policeman had barely got together when Mrs. Herring and a feminine supporter also arrived.

ARGUMENT ROUSES ALL EAST BERKELEY.

The argument developed and grew so strenuous that most of foot-loose East Berkeley gathered to hear what it was about. There were charges and counter-charges, recriminations and insults of various degrees before the field was cleared.

Dahl returned the $4 to Mrs. Herring who gave the paintings back to the artist.

Dahl says it is over, as far as he is concerned—unless various unpleasant comments on himself and his art are repeated. In this event nothing but a slander suit, he says, will calm his ruffled feelings.

U. S. TO SEIZE RUM SEALED BY ENGLAND

Treasury Officials Will Break British Government Locks and Confiscate Liquor On Liners for Return Trip

First Test Comes Tomorrow When Berengaria Arrives; "We Will Enforce Law to Limit," Mellon's Aide Says

WASHINGTON, June 21.—(By United Press). — United States customs officers will be ordered by the Treasury Department to seize all liquors aboard the liners Olympic and Bengaria, other than limited amounts for medicinal purposes, whether it is sealed or not, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Moss announced today.

The fact that the liquor aboard the liners may be sealed by official British government customs service seals will make no difference, Moss said.

"The British lines obviously seek a test of the supreme court decision and we will enforce it to the limit," Moss said.

The Berengaria and the Olympic both are reported to have sailed from British ports with stocks of liquor placed under seal by British customs authorities. This liquor was to be brought into American waters under seal and served on the return voyage.

The Berengaria is due in New York tomorrow. The Olympic, which sailed from Southampton yesterday, will arrive some time next week.

BRITAIN PROTESTS ON KLONDYKE SITUATION.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—The long reach of the Volstead law now has brought within its embrace the Klondike region of Canada. As a result the British government has appealed to treasury officials for relief for the British subjects there, and another complication has been added to the international controversy over features of the law which are held abroad to restrict the rights of foreign nationals.

With no practicable means of communication with the outside world except along the roads, canals and rivers of Alaska, the residents of the Klondike have found these avenues completely barred to liquor shipments. Thus far the treasury has found no way to grant the relief requested, holding that a former treaty granting Great Britain the right to transport certain goods across American soil in bond has been set aside by prohibition laws.

FARMERS ROUTED BY RUM RUNNING GANG.

RIVER HEAD, N. Y., June 21.—Farmers who were driven from the water front last night by armed rumrunners who came ashore from a yacht, reported to the authorities today that a large quantity of liquor had been landed from the yacht and carted off in m[illegible] trucks.

HAYWARD BOARD STILL BALKS AT DRY SLEUTH BILL

Chairman of Finance Committee Says Charge Was Unduly Inflated.

HAYWARD, June 21. — Declaring that he, as chairman of the finance committee, did not intend to expend a cent of the people's money for payment of a bill that was illegally given and inflated to a preposterous amount, Frank Cunha, member of the Hayward city council, answered resolutions presented by the congregations of three local churches last night, at a council meeting.

The resolutions, adopted by the Presbyterian, Congregational and Methodist churches last Sunday and mailed to the council, expressed disapproval of a recent decision of that body to refuse a $243 payment to F. V. Powell, a private operative who assisted in the arrest, with subsequent conviction and heavy fining, of several local dealers in liquor.

Sicily "Land of Dreadful Night"

Darkness Thick Enough to Feel Fields Vast Sizzling Cauldrons

CATANIA, June 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—The smiling, fruitful and thickly populated slopes of Mount Etna and the surrounding country, as the correspondent of the Associated Press saw them in the past, have now become with ghastly suddenness the "land of dreadful night."

Through the thick darkness which can almost be felt, glows the crimson of the lava fire flowing from the broken lips of the craters, extending for miles and gradually growing darker, as the molten mass cools and hardens, until cracks and crevices appear on the surface through which can be seen bubbling up the boiling lava from beneath.

The fields of Fiume, Freddo, Diana and Calatabiano, once green and beautiful, now covered with heavy deposits of dust and cinders, tremble and heave beneath the feet, while the roaring sounds accompanying the eruption mingle with the rumblings of lorries through the darkness carrying away the refugees and their possessions from the doomed villages.

As one approaches the volcano, masses of fiery material thrown up from the smaller craters can be seen; they roll slowly down the mountain-side, and above them are dense clouds of smoke and vapor. One by one the splendid homes and villas, where the families in the neighborhood were accustomed to spend the summer months, are overborne and destroyed. Orchards and gardens have been consumed in the intense heat long before the lava reaches them, throwing off myriads of sparks and finally smolder down into grim blackness.

At Castiglione, where the progress of the devouring lava stream is slow but steady, the inhabitants linger in their houses collecting and packing their possessions, though doubtless most of these must be abandoned along the road. The living room in almost every house has been transferred into a chapel with statues of the Madonna and Saints, and candles burning before them, while kneeling figures prostrate themselves in prayer for protection.

The visit of King Victor Emmanuel was the outstanding event of the day. It served to infuse new courage and spur the helpers and workers to do prodigies to relieve the sufferers. The king, wherever he appeared, was the object of intense enthusiasm, the women especially crowding around the royal motor, holding up their children and telling them to look on the royal deliverer, crying "long live the king, he will see that we have all we need."

Victor Emmanuel was deeply moved by the horrors of the situation and expressed tenderest sympathy for all his people. In one dismal procession of refugees a young man in a shabby old military uniform staggered along with an aged man on his back, almost worn out by the burden he had carried through the suffocating atmosphere. The king noticed the youth, who for a moment stood with streams of perspiration streaking his face, blackened by smoke and dust. "This is worse than when we were in the trenches on the Carso front," exclaimed the youth.

The king applauded the young soldier's devotion to his "father." The young man, saluting, replied that the aged man was not his father, but that he himself was an orphan who had lost every member of his family in the great earthquake at Messina. He had been adopted and cared for by the old man, who was a soldier.

"He has been more than a father to me," said the youth, "and I could not do less than save him now."

The king asked the name of the soldier's foster father and promised the youth employment, saying that such devotion deserved to be rewarded.

The news of Premier Mussolini's departure for the scene of the disaster thrilled the people who were informed that the premier had thrown up all engagements in order to mingle with those so terribly stricken by misfortune and observe for himself conditions and what the people most need.

The announcement that Ambassador Child and Rear Admiral Andrews was coming aboard the Pittsburgh was made late last night and a wave of gratitude swept through the island. Everywhere people recall how much America did for Sicily when the earthquake destroyed Messina. Wooden huts and hospitals then erected by Americans are still in existence and constant praise is heard from the inhabitants who declare that America is always first to offer assistance and that though far away in the distance, is nearer than any of our neighbors to our hearts."

The women of the stricken countryside, hearing of the king's arrival, said wistfully:

"Is not our queen coming to comfort us as she did before?"

Queen Helena's loving sympathy, practical help and competence as a nurse during the Messina catastrophe made an indelible impression in the hearts of southern Italians.

PHYSICIAN WOULD BACK HEALTH BY PUBLIC OPINION

Public Protection From Disease Is Primary Duty of State.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., June 21.—"It is a primary duty of the state to protect the public from inroads of communicable disease, and to institute measures for the prevention of non-communicable diseases," said Dr. Linsly R. Williams, managing director of the National Tuberculosis Association addressing that body here today.

"That the state appreciates this duty is evidenced by the creation of state and local boards of health and the support given to health activities by budgets voted for the maintenance of these boards. But boards of health are able to go only as far in controlling disease as public opinion will support them. An effective campaign against disease cannot be carried on by money alone; it must have the support of public opinion."

"This opinion is best secured through the membership and support of voluntary health and tuberculosis associations, which furnish the necessary leadership through which the people can express their opinion. To spread health education is one of the chief functions of voluntary health organizations. Therefore, they should gain the support of public opinion and other official health agencies so that the latter may be adequately financed and operated for the good of the community."

Poison Law Violations Laid to Druggist

STOCKTON, June 21. — Facing two charges of violating the state poison act, J. W. Hawkins, 21 years old, said by the police to be a part owner in a rug store at 20 South Sutter street, is at liberty under bonds. His examination has not been set. Policemen O'Dair, Strike and Fredericks arrested him and [illegible] a sale of chloral at the time. They say they have direct evidence that he has been selling hypodermic needles and narcotics illegally.

Peasants Think Mussolini Can Make Etna Quit

CATANIA, Italy, June 21.—(By The Associated Press.)—Reports from the Mount Etna region today said there has been a slight decrease in the intensity of the eruption while the explosions within the crater were less frequent.

With the arrival of Premier Mussolini in prospect, the peasants who have hourly expected the destruction of their homes by the lava flow became more cheerful for such is the prestige of the Premier that many of the ignorant and superstitious peasants literally believe that he will only have to bring his will to bear on the volcano. Etna is to them almost a living person, for the eruption to decrease, even to stop.

Not only have officials in charge of the rescue work made all preparations to receive Mussolini and explain to him what has already been done to help those in distress, but the bishop of Acireala plans to conduct the Premier through the villages which have suffered most.

Monterey Board Is Asked to Meeting

SALINAS, June 21.—Representing the "Bridge the Golden Gate" association, Thomas L. Box, chairman of the organization, appeared this week before the Monterey county board of supervisors and extended the members an invitation to attend a meeting in the supervisors' chamber in San Francisco next Saturday, at which time a movement to organize a bridge district will be launched. This is made possible, Box said, through Governor Richardson's approval of a bill passed by the last legislature.

The bridge association and the San Francisco supervisors, according to Box, will take the initiative in forming the proposed bridge district. Supervisors of every county in the state have been invited to attend.

This Leaves the Arms Free from Hairy Growths

(Toilet Tails)

A simple method for completely removing every trace of hair or fuzz is here given. This is painless and usually a single treatment will banish even stubborn growths. To remove hairs, make a thick paste with some powdered delatone and water, spread on hairy surface and after about two minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This method will not mar the skin, but to avoid disappointment, be certain you get delatone.—Advertisement.

BASES FOR NAVY GREATEST NEED, ADMIRAL SAYS

U. S. Accused of Being 250 Years Behind Times On Preparedness.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—"The crying needs of the United States Navy at present are naval bases, particularly on the Pacific Coast

"Personally, I am not familiar with all of the numerous localities seeking the base, but it is well known that those that have professionally examined the situation have decided upon the Alameda site as being the most suitable."

With these statements and a number of others, H. A. Wiley, who was yesterday raised to the rank of vice-admiral by an executive order of President Harding and made commander of the battleship division of the fleet, today set forth the needs of the United States Navy if it is to function properly and to be of use in protecting the nation.

PEOPLE BEHIND TIMES.

The people of the United States he said, in their attitude toward the navy, are 250 years behind the times and are in the position that England was in long ago when people opposed adequate naval force. The people of the middle states are the enemies of the navy, he added, because they do not appreciate its necessity and, through ignorance of the law in regard to taxation, fear that they might be burdened with taxes.

"The minimum number of men needed to adequately man our ships," said Admiral Wiley, "is 120,000, while Congress has provided for only 86,000.

NAVY NEEDS BASE.

"The navy today urgently needs a modern, up-to-date base on the Pacific Coast and an adequate personnel.

"The life of the fleet depends upon its bases to supply the fleet's requirements for material upkeep and secure anchorages from which to operate. In all of these essential requirements the United States Government is deficient.

"Our navy in ferce and prowess satisfied to be second to any and the officers of the navy are looking forward with hope to a better and wider understanding of the requirements of a fleet and what such a fleet means to the country.

"This country, however is 250 years behind the times, like England was 200 years ago in its attitude toward the navy."

Disabled Veteran Employment Urged

BOISE, Ida., June 21.—Employment of disabled veterans of the World War, 250 of whom are about to complete their vocational training in Idaho, is urged in an official statement issued by Governor C. C. Moore.

"During the World War," the governor declared, "these men went from Idaho as our representatives in that struggle, returning to us injured, broken and disheartened. With the assistance of the United States veterans' bureau they have since prepared themselves to again enjoy the independence and happiness of self-support. Public officials and employers of the state should remember that these men are entitled to preferential rights in employment.

Boy Hobo Proves Right to Enroll in Ananias Club

Jimmy Logan, who claimed to be 6 years old, and that he was the world's youngest "hobo," is believed to be the reincarnation of Ananias.

His wild tale of beating his way to Oakland from Sacramento under a Pullman seat, is Simon-pure fiction, and today the boy is at home with his parents in Oakland.

In fact Jimmy Logan was not Jimmy Logan at all, but Joe Setzer, 9, adopted son of Mrs. Alex Lester, 244 Ninth street, this city. When he started out on his voyage around the world he decided upon the alias of Jimmy Logan. He got as far as the Oakland mole, where he boarded a train and climbed under a seat. When discovered by the conductor, he said that his name was Jimmy Logan and that he had ridden all the way here from Sacramento where he resided at 501 Fifteenth street.

He spent the night at the home of Mrs. Agnes Wilderson, 1510 Poplar street, employed in the information bureau of the Southern Pacific, and yesterday was taken to the Travelers' Aid in San Francisco. When word from Sacramento showed that the "runaway" did not live there, he admitted his real name and address. A "visit" to the woodshed followed his arrival home.

Joe chuckled after he brushed away the tears inspired by this "visit."

"I sure fooled all those people all right. If they hadn't have telephoned to Sacramento, they'd be believing me yet."

"We try to teach Joe not to tell stories," said Mrs. Foster, his adopted mother. "He has a great imagination, and loves to romance. Maybe this will be a lesson to him."

And she threw away the switch.

Police of Lisbon Search For Bombs

LISBON, June 21.—(By Associated Press).—Nightly bomb explosions which have been terrorizing the residents of this city for more than two months, are still a maven of a mystery as ever although the police have resorted to many drastic expedients in their efforts to find the culprits.

In the small hours of the morning recently the entire police force, backed by the Republican Guards, was divided into squads and ordered to search all Lisbon dwellings for explosives. Nothing was immune to the raiders, from the humblest peasant homes to the residence of the Duke of Palmella. One bomb and a rifle, found at the Communists' Union, was the reward of the searchers.

CARD PARTY PLANNED.

ALAMEDA, June 21.—A card party will be given tonight in the Legion hall on Park street under the auspices of the Alameda Housewives' League, as announced by Mrs. Kate Hroven, president. The entire proceeds from the affair will be donated to the Alameda Post No. 9, American Legion.

The Kansas City speedways has been pronounced the fastest in the world by great automobile racers.

ISLAND OF OZ WORK FIGURED

By working double crews of men, the Labor Temple Association yesterday practically completed the structural work at the Island of Oz. This includes a grandstand on the new boulevard just south of Harrison street, a half mile of structures for the industrial exhibits and a pontoon island in the lake. The work represents an expenditure of approximately $40,000.

An invitation was issued yesterday by the executive committee of the Temple Association for the public to inspect the site of the coming show.

Another big feature was added to the exhibits when arrangements were made by which H. A. Snow, explorer will place on display specimens of animal life from his private collection.

New York Planning Big Johnson Welcome

NEW YORK, June 21.—Plans for an elaborate welcome to Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, [illegible] months tour of Europe on July 23, are being made by a committee of thirty-four of his friends.

A dinner is planned for July 25 at which 6000 persons are expected to be present. U. S. Senators Johnson and George H. Moses, of New Hampshire, will be the principal speakers.

The day of his arrival on the Leviathan, Senator Johnson will be greeted in the lower bay by a tug bearing a large group of his friends [illegible]

DOPE VIOLATION CHARGED.

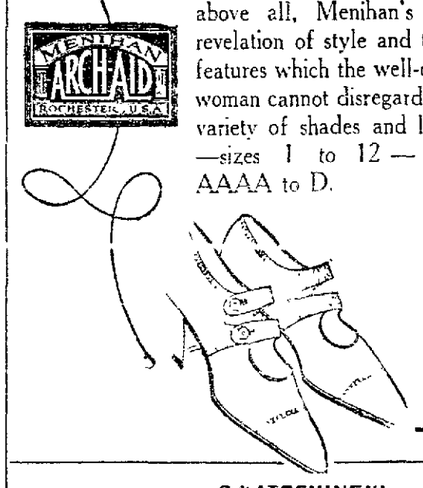

ALAMEDA, June 21.—Wong Lee, residing at 317 Webster street, Oakland, was arrested late last night on a complaint sworn to by Policeman Andrew Peterson, who charged him with violating the state poison act. An opium pipe is being held as evidence. Bail was set at $500.

40 DIE OR HURT IN OIL; 20 MORE WHEN BOOTLEG STILL EXPLODES

Many Saved From Burning Chicago Tenemtn by the Police and Firemen.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

CHICAGO, June 21—Ten men women and children are known to have been burned to death, several others are missing and are believed to have perished, and 15 or more others were injured by leaping from flaming windows early today when a moonshine still exploded and sent fire racing through a tenement house here.

One man is under arrest and held for questioning by state authorities who suspect him of having manufactured moonshine whisky in the building. He is Joseph Smith, second hand furniture dealer who occupied a storeroom on the first floor of the building, the upper stories of which were cut into 24 flats. The explosion occurred in the basement.

The roar of the blast probably prevented the death toll from mounting higher Pedestrians passing heard the crash, as did policemen on beats in the neighborhood, and an alarm was quickly sent in

The rapidity with which the flames made headway in the flimsy walls of the structure made escape difficult for the 160 persons quartered in the building.

Those who died in the flames were trapped Many others, getting to the windows, leaped to escape the raging furnace before firemen could reach them

Shadow of Gallows Falls Near Altar

GOETTINGEN, June 21 — (By Associated Press) The "shadow of the gallows" fell across the marriage altar at an unique welding which occurred here recently The bride was a daughter of a man sentenced to death, and both best man and bridesmaid were under similar sentences The groom had been condemned only to twenty years imprisonment. All four were fugitive Flemish who had been convicted by the Belgians because of certain Flemish tendencies and pro-Germanism

Work Commenced To Widen Bridge

SAN LEANDRO June 21—Excavation work has commenced preparatory to the widening of the bridge across San Leandro creek at East Fourteenth street The forms will be made and the concrete poured within a few days according to the contractors

At present the bridge is eighteen feet narrower than the street This leaves a projecting point at both approaches of the bridge, which have proved traps to motorists unfamiliar with the road

SOME CUTS OF MEAT CHEAPER THAN IN 1913

CHICAGO, June 21.—(By Associated Press) —The recent announce ent from one of the statistical bureaus of the United States government that the cost of living is approximately 67 per cent higher today than it was ten years ago has brought a statement from W. W. Waddell vice-president of Armour & Company, to the effect that wholesale selling prices for meat are in some cases lower than they were in 1913, and in others at almost exactly the same level

Waddell submits the following comparative prices based on an average of the trading in May, 1913, and May, 1923

	1923	1913
Pork Loins ...	.16¾	.14½
Boston butts ..	.12½	.12½
Spare ribs	.08	.10
Beef carcasses	13	12
Loose lard ..	10 18	10 60
Ham . ..	21	.23

"It must be understood there are certain grades of products that sell for higher prices than those quoted and other grades that sell at lower prices,' says Waddell, 'but the general standard of prices is just about on the level of 1913

'In 1913 and in 1923 the average cost of hogs was about the same but since 1913 the cost of manufacturing live animals into meat has increased materially, as has the cost of distributing the finished product The prices quoted above are to retailers. Retail prices vary according to the grades handled, and the service given to the householder.'

This is the tenth installment of an intimate history of the inside working of the prohibition enforcement bureau, together with a psychological study of the motives for violations of the dry law, written for The OAKLAND TRIBUNE by a man who was formerly a high official of the bureau. The articles will appear from day to day.

Shortly after this I ran into my first discovery of a fraudulent transportation of wine. The offender, in making his application for a permit to transport wine, which he claimed was his own and that he was taking from his old home to a new one into which he was moving, had been obliged to give the addresses of the two homes. Having a little leisure time on my hands I boarded a street car and went out to one of those addresses. I discovered it to be the clubhouse of a rather prominent fraternal order, but that the man who wanted to move the wine did not live there. I was never able to locate him. During the ensuing year thousands of frauds of this kind were perpetrated, the small force of inspectors not permitting of an examination of the authenticity of a tithe of these applications.

I recall another case in San Francisco about a year later, when an inspector went out to look for the "home" address given in one of these applications and discovered it to be occupied by a reservoir. There wasn't a house within a block.

PERMITS WORKED OVERTIME.

Another trick of those who wished to remove wine illegally under a pretense of legality was to work a permit overtime. The permit, say, was for the removal of ten barrels of wine from the old home to a new one. The applicant had ten days in which to use it. Instead of ten barrels altogether he transported ten barrels every day for the ten days, making 100 altogether. Ninety of those barrels came from some winery in the vicinity of the alleged "old home" and were transported to San Francisco for sale. If a prohibition officer stopped the truck on the road, the driver was able to produce a permit for ten barrels and as that was all he ever carried at a time, he was apparently doing only what he had a right to do.

Still another easy way of beating the game was to alter the figures. Printed forms were supplied for permits, but the amounts, names, adresses and so forth were filled in on a typewriter. With the help of a good eraser it was easy to turn ten barrels into a hundred, and when whisky was the commodity a fortune might travel on one truck. As long as the applicant had the federal director's name at the bottom of the permit, he was comparatively safe. The chances of detection were about one in a thousand.

EMERGENCY WHISKY FRAUDS PERPETRATED.

The withdrawal of whisky for use in emergency in the case of employees of industrial establishments meeting with injury, was also permitted and one head of a big manufacturing establishment in Los Angeles attempted to take advantage of this provision by laying in a stock for his own use. We found that a wholesale liquor dealer had withdrawn a number of barrels, for which he was unwilling to account, but under the sweating process he gave up the name of this manufacturer as the buyer. We visited his palatial home in the residence district and there in his cellar we discovered the missing barrels. He had enough liquor on hand to take care of the needs of his suffering employees for quite a number of years.

It is easy to trace whisky by the serial number on the original containers. Every barrel that leaves the distillery bears on the head a serial number and a government stamp, also numbered together with the name of the government officer who gauged it and the number of gallons it contained when it left the distillery. A strict record of the numbers must be kept by every dealer through whose hands it passes.

SERIAL NUMBERS BETRAY BOOTLEGGERS.

The first bootleggers operating after the inauguration of the Volstead act overlooked this little point and revenue officers finding the barrel in the possession of the last purchaser, were easily enabled to learn that it was contraband and through the sweating process to ascertain who had bootlegged it. But after that the bootleggers took no chances. As soon as the barrel came into their possession they emptied its contents into five-gallon glass containers, in which form it was delivered to the ultimate buyer and immediately broke up and burned the barrels. Of course, the buyer had to take chances on the genuineness of the contents, but most of the men who were able to buy whisky in fifty, one hundred and two hundred gallon lots knew the men they were buying from and had faith in the quality of the goods.

Large fortunes were made in those days and in brief periods. A friend pointed out to me on Market street one day a man who had operated but a comparatively short time and had [illegible]. He had fixed that as his limit and then quit. He told my informant that the temptation to re-embark in the business and continue the acquisition of "easy money" was almost irresistible, but that he knew that if he went back into the business it would be but a question of time until he was caught.

BLIND PIGGER IS BUNCOED.

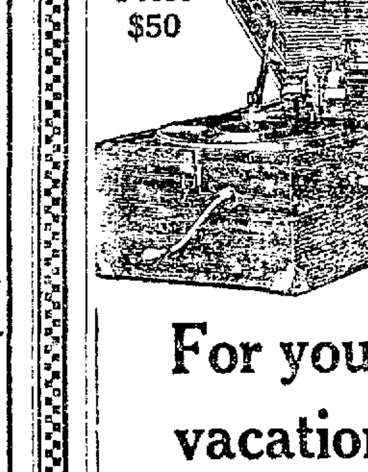

Those five-gallon containers became the common medium for the transportation of contraband liquor and many a seasoned dealer got stung through depending on them. There were two old-time saloon men operating a blind pig in the vicinity of Ellis and Powell streets, San Francisco, who bought all their goods finally in that form. One night two very young men drove up in a fine car and one of them went in and told one of the partners that they had four five-gallon lots in their machines which they had stolen from the cellar of their father, who, according to their tale, was an Oakland banker, and which they were willing to sell at $40 a gallon, or $800 for the lot. To make the story sound better [illegible] dents of Berkeley and wanted the money to go on a time. The blindpigger got into the machine with them and drove out to a dark place, where they gave him a sample. He had too long an experience not to realize immediately that it was very good whisky, and he closed the deal right there, paying them the $800.

At his direction they took the stuff to his home, where he kept the better part of the firm's stock, and carried it into the house. But when he took a quart of it down to his blind-pig for retail purposes, he found it was nothing but colored water.

GOVERNOR WILL WITHHOLD NAME ON TEACHER ACT

Richardson Terms Retirement Salary Measure As Unsound, Unsafe.

SACRAMENTO, June 21.—Governor Richardson has announced that he would not sign Senate Bill 127, amending the teachers' retirement salary act for the reason that the whole scheme is unsound from an actuarial standpoint, and the great majority of teachers, who are now paying into the fund, would under the present plan never receive a dollar in return. In a statement regarding the bill the governor said:

I have made a cerful examination of the teachers' retirement act and of Senate Bill 127, amending the act. I have read the report of actuaries who have investigated the subject, and have conferred with the insurance commissioner, the board of control, and others in regard to this matter. From this investigation I am forced to conclude that the present law is unsound, that the fund is now insolvent, and that it is only a question of a few years when the crash will come.

Senate Bill 127 will not improve this desperate condition, but may make it worse. This bill increases the pension to teachers from $500 to $720 a year, increases the tax on teachers from $12 to $24 a year, and changes the state payment from 5 per cent on inheritance tax to an amount similar to that paid by teachers. The increase in the cost to the state, in the opinion of the state controller, would be $350,000 for the next biennial period.

On first investigation it was my desire to sign the bill but when my attention was called to the report of the actuaries and I dug deeper, I found the proposition so fundamentally unsound that I could not, in justice to the teachers, double assessments when there is little hope of the great majority ever receiving a cent of benefit, and in justice to the taxpayers sink their money in a scheme having as little financial stability as an assessment insurance company or a get-rich 3 per cent organization.

WHOLE FAMILY AWAY FOR VACATION

[illegible] husband tells me your husband's vacation starts next week."

"Yes, he's having it early this year. We're all so busy getting ready to start I don't know which way I'm going."

"You are all such nature lovers. I suppose you're going to the mountains to camp again this year?"

"No, not this summer. I almost wish we were. We're all going to my folks for the three weeks, down in the southern part of the state. It's a lot more work to get ready to visit where you know a lot of people than to get into some hiking clothes and rough it."

"Yes, I should think so. I suppose you have to have clothes to dress up in?"

"Yes, and it has about ruined father's purse to get the family ready. The boys both needed new suits. So did husband; and I had to have a dress and hat. Imagine buying all that at once."

"My goodness, that would be a drain on the bank account, wouldn't it? In fact, I don't think our family bank account could stand such a strain."

"Well, there is only one way that our's could and that's to take advantage of Cherry's wonderful reduction sales in their ladies' department. They're located at 515 13th street. I saved a lot of money on my clothes. He says also, they have just the right quality to please him and a good assortment of styles and fabrics to choose from at their separate store at 528 13th street for men and boys. SLAIN BURGLAR IS GIVEN NAME BY AN UNKNOWN Man Killed by J. A. Folger, Jr., Called William Lee by S. F. Woman.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—Identification of the burglar who was shot and killed early yesterday by James A. Folger Jr., son of the late coffee millionaire, when he was caught in the act of robbing the Folger home at Woodside, is believed to be established today, following a mysterious telephone call received last night at the Redwood City morgue.

A woman, giving the name of Mrs. Mike Harrington, 79 Putman street, called the morgue and, after giving a complete description of the slain burglar, said his name was William Lee.

The description given by the woman was so accurate that it even included details such as missing teeth. She told the authorities that she was speaking for a man standing beside her at the telephone but refused to give any further facts.

As a result of this clew to the dead man's identification, detectives attempted today to verify the woman's message. Until the mysterious telephone call was received, possible identification was based solely on a tatooed monogram of his left arm. The monogram was a combination of the letters "C. L."

MAY PROVE "PHANTOM" SANTA BARBARA BURGLAR.

SANTA BARBARA, June 21.—Police of Santa Barbara are investigating the slaying of a burglar at Woodside yesterday in the belief that he may have been the "phantom burglar" who robbed the homes of wealthy men here of jewels and money valued at from $25,000 to $50,000 during February and March.

Hair Often Ruined By Careless Washing

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store; it is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure and ask for "Mulsified."—Advertisement.

Preparedness Is Urged by Senator Reed

Says U. S. Must Keep Pace, But Keep "Loaded Gun Behind Door."

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—Severe condemnation of those who "assume that a few officeholders in the city of Washington are capable of regulating [illegible] domestic affairs of 110,000,000 people," was made yesterday by Senator James A. Reed of Missouri in an address before 600 members of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce at the Palace Hotel.

Senator Reed's address dealt largely with undue governmental interference in business. The speaker also touched upon matters of preparedness and defense and said: "We are getting enough sense to know that the first element in the world peace is America, and the first element to make America a real factor in world peace is to make her impregnable to keep the peace. We will keep the peace, but we will keep a loaded gun behind the door."

Auto Accident Leads To 'Drunk Charge'

Joseph Wayland was arrested on a charge of being drunk following an accident at Hill Road and Buena Vista. The accident happened yesterday afternoon. Wayland lost control of the machine and ran into the curb, where it overturned. The police say that in the car they found a empty gallon jug. There were two men in the machine with Wayland at the time of the accident, but no one was injured.

TRADE, SUBJECT OF DINNER TALK

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—"Inter-Ocean Trade Conditions and Possibilities" was the subject of an interesting address at the luncheon at the Palace Hotel yesterday of the Alameda County Commuters' club. The address was made by J. P. Cofer, vice-president and manager of the foreign trade department of the Wells-Fargo National bank.

Cofer said that the people of the Pacific coast are particularly interested in the trade of Asia, especially China, and that conditions in that country ought to be better known by business men in California. Co-operation with American firms in China was absolutely essential, he asserted, and, if possible, direct representation should be arranged for by concerns in this country. He stressed the necessity for the bay cities to work in closer unity. There will be no luncheon during the vacation period.

WARNING

You who use Palmolive Soap use it for beauty's sake. Be careful that you get it. There are many soaps made to deceive you. They imitate the shape and color. Names are coined to sound like Palmolive. Numerous soaps—some of them wretched soaps—are put in this guise to mislead you.

Our interests do not matter, but yours do. Your demand is for Palmolive, because of what it does. You are seeking certain proved results. And you are cheated when you get a soap which can't bring those results.

Palmolive Soap has world-wide fame because it aids complexions.

The envied results, seen everywhere, have won millions of people to it. Thus Palmolive became the world's leading toilet soap. Not merely because of olive oil—that's ages old. Not merely because of palm oil—Cleopatra used that. But because our experts found a way to give those oils unique efficiency in soap.

It is Palmolive Soap that has won beauty lovers as no other soap ever did. It is the Palmolive blend—based on 60 years of study—that brings those desired results. It is Palmolive which, by enormous production, gives you a 25-cent quality for 10 cents.

That is what won you—that is what you want. A commonplace soap without those virtues will not suit or serve you. Then be careful. Note the name carefully. Be sure you get the wrapper shown below. Don't let anybody cheat you on a thing that means so much.

Modern Garages Appear at Palestine

NAZARETH, Palestine, June 21.—(By Associated Press).—The automobile in Palestine, made possible by the good roads ... its seclusion and repose from the ... brought with it the modern garage and the repair shop, usually in charge of Arabs, Syrians or Jews who learned the trade in the United States.

Even in Nazareth, which in other respects is little different in day twenty centuries ago when the Saviour sent forth the message of brotherhood and equality which transformed the world, there are modern garages and machine shops. They make a striking contrast to the ... natives, and are within a short distance of the site of the abode which once was the carpenter shop of the Master of Men

Paris Now Boasts Pantomime School

PARIS, June 21.—(By Associated Press).—Acting without the aid of speech to interpret each expression, is the ... course at the French National Conservatory. George Vague, master of pantomime, trains pupils in facial gymnastics and posture. His students are given exercises in moving muscles of the face and in developing their ability to simulate ... just as in the conventional classes they are taught to convey ideas with a combination of facial expression, gesture and tone of voice.

One of Vague's ideas is the suppression of undue motion. Instead of waving their arms and contorting ... tion, his pupils cultivate an ability to express themselves rather with postures than with gestures.

KAHN'S with deep appreciation THANKS the people of the EAST BAY

Oakland's Largest Dept. Store.

Thanks to you for your splendid patronage which made possible the glorious success of our 44th Anniversary Sale

Soiled stationery greatly reduced Friday

As we said last year:

In this our most tremendous and successful sale—we owe this much to you to say, it "beat" all former sales records. It far outshone anything ever attempted by us in a merchandise way—and all due to your splendid co-operation and belief in us.

About twenty-five years ago—long before advertising was believed—our late president, Solomon Kahn, told the advertising man who brought him an anniversary sale ad, to first verify every single statement therein, and after so doing to put these words in editorial form: "Every item herein mentioned is true in its fullest literal sense."

That is the same policy of this store today and that policy is responsible for the faith and trust Oakland people have placed in Kahn's for years and its merchandise and in its advertisements. That policy is responsible for the unusual success of this sale.

In grateful tribute to a loyal public we are giving this Thank You Sale Friday, offering values similar to the Anniversary values, giving you a chance to buy values at never-to-be-forgotten prices. Every item is a sales saving. Read—come—and buy.

Once more—Thanks from the bottom of our hearts.

526 Russian Refugees Get Honolulu Aid

By IRENE CORBALLY KUHN, International News Staff Correspondent.

HONOLULU, Hawaii, June 21.—Ragged and tattered, 526 survivors of Admiral Stark's ill-fated Russian fleet are here today preparing to begin the last lap of their journey toward the United States—and freedom.

The refugees presented a deplorable picture of poverty as the United States army transport Merritt steamed into the harbor. The local Red Cross provided them with clothing.

"We have butchers, bankers, architects, engineers, doctors, lawyers and even one priest in the party and do not propose to become a burden to the people of the United States," said Lieutenant General T. H. Khouskenon, successor to Admiral Stark, commanding officer, who remained in Manila.

While the ship was en route from Manila several Russians were overcome while working in the engine room and others who refused to take their places were put in the brig on a water and bread diet by Captain F. S. Ransdall of the transport.

SILKS TURN INTO "HOOCH."

NEW YORK—Entering a warehouse supposedly used for storing silks, federal agents found all the cases filled with 'bootleg' liquor.

I.W.W. CONVICTED AT SACRAMENTO DENIED PARDONS

Radicals Not Included in the List Granted Freedom by President.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Immediate release of more than a score of Federal prisoners convicted of violating war laws but with continued detention of almost as many more was ordered today by President Harding before leaving on his western trip.

The President acted on 158 pardons and commutation cases, a record - breaking number. He granted thirty conditional and fourteen unconditional cummutations, one full pardon restored civil rights to twenty-seven former prisoners and denied eighty-four applications for pardons or commutations. He also ordered remission of fines in two cases.

Interest centered in the cases of those convicted of violating the espionage, draft and other war laws, whose applications had been pressed by various organizations and persons of prominence. These numbered forty-eight and the President granted commutations to twenty-seven, but denied applications in twenty-one cases, including a group of twenty alleged members of the Industrial Workers of the World convicted at Sacramento, Cal. Two convicted there, however, had their sentences commuted conditional on their deportation.

TWO TO BE DEPORTED.

Immediate commutations, conditioned upon deportation, were ordered by the President of Harry Gray, a British subject, and Vincent Santilli, an Italian. The twenty convicted in Sacramento who were denied commutations are Elmer Anderson, Peter de Bernardi, Harry Brewer, Mortimer Downing, Henry Hammer, George O'Connell, James Quinlan, George Voetter, James Graves, Phillip Laughlin, Robert Connellan, Caesar Tabib, R. E. Conner, Frank Elliott, William Hood, John Perthast, Myron Sprague, Edward Quigley, Chris A. Luber and J. Tori. All of the Sacramento prisoners were given ten-year sentences and their convictions, a Department of Justice memorandum said, resulted from 'various acts and not mere expressions of opinion.'

'They assisted in the destruction of property,' the departmental statement said. 'They actively urged, solicited and incited others to acts of violence, disloyalty and disobedience for the express purpose of hampering the government in the prosecution of the war and created and promoted disloyalty and insubordination in the military and naval forces.'

CHICAGO PRISONERS FREED.

Sentences of twenty-two alleged I. W. W. members convicted in the Chicago trials and sent to Leavenworth penitentiary were commuted to expire at once. Three of four alleged I. W. W. members convicted at Wichita, Kansas, received similar action.

Announcement of the President's action was made by the Department of Justice last night after the executive's departure. The President's orders included clemency for many other prisoners convicted of offenses ranging from bigamy to bootlegging and including violations of the mail fraud, Mann white slave, bribery and other statutes.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC MEN AT MEET

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—That a billion dollars will be spent within the next ten years for hydro-electric works in the west, was the statement made before the annual convention of the Pacific Coast Electrical association yesterday by Governor James G. Scrugham of Nevada.

The governor declared that the principal development work would be the Boulder Creek project near Las Vegas, Nev.

The 600 delegates to the convention were welcomed to the city by Supervisor J. Emmett Hayden, in behalf of Mayor James Rolph Jr.

YOUNG ATTACKS ECONOMY POLICY OF RICHARDSON

Lieutenant-Governor Says State Functions Crippled, No Saving Made.

The mooted economy program of the present state administration has merely effected a transfer of a portion of the tax burden from the corporations to the individuals and the storing of money in the reserve fund for expenditures at a later date, declared Lieutenant-Governor C. C. Young in speaking yesterday before the members of the Oakland Knights of the Round Table.

"Since all state taxes, about $35,000,000, are paid by public service corporations, reductions of state expenses will not affect the taxes of the individual," said Young. "But this individual pays all city and county taxes, aggregating $260,000,000, and these taxes must be increased this year because the county boards of health and the school districts must assume certain necessary expenses abandoned by the state."

Young asserted that vital functions of the state government have been crippled without saving a single penny for the taxpayers. He especially mentioned the educational system, the National Guard, the Railroad Commission and the state board of health as agencies that are being hindered by lack of funds to carry on their work efficiently. In discussing these matters, he said:

"The state board of health has been reduced 50 per cent and all work has been abandoned in the control of malaria, rodents and plague. The National Guard has been reduced 40 per cent, placing it below that of Montana, which has only one-fifth of our population. The circulating state library has been closed. All Americanization and immigration work of the state board of education discontinued and the industrial welfare, civil service and housing commissions all cut one-third.

CANCER CURES TO BE DISCUSSED

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21. — A special train, bearing 1000 delegates to the sessions of the Radiological Society, which is to be held here tomorrow in connection with the forthcoming convention of the American Medical Association, will arrive here tonight from the East. Leader of the group of X-ray and radium specialists, is Dr. Russell D. Carman of the Mayo Clinic, in Rochester, Minn, president of the society.

The sessions of the California Medical Association, which will precede those of the national association, also open tomorrow morning. The national convention commences next Monday and will continue until June 29.

Latest discoveries and cures of cancerous growths will be discussed by the radium and X-ray experts, and demonstrations made with the latest type of X-ray machines. Motion picture demonstrations will be given also.

Among the speakers will be: Dr. W. H. Wallace, New York; Dr. H. H. Bowing, Rochester, Minn.; Dr. Leon T. De Wald, New York; Dr. Albert Soiland, Los Angeles, and Dr. D. L. Webster, Stanford University.

Mine Agrees Upon Emergency Exit

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—The Kennedy Mining and Milling Company of Jackson in a hearing before the Industrial Accident Commission, declared yesterday afternoon that it would not oppose the construction of an emergency exit betwen its mine and the Argonaut mine, the latter being the scene of the disastrous fire with large loss of life last year.

The arrangement would mean a connecting tunnel at the 3800-foot level of the Kennedy mine with the 4850-foot level of the Argonaut mine.

It was said that such a tunnel might cause flooding of the Kennedy properties, but that for humanitarian reasons that company had consented to its being put in. The commission took the matter under advisement indicating that it would probably call upon each company to bear its proportionate share of the expense.

Young Defies Governor On Bromley Bill Veto

Lieutenant Governor C. C. Young as entered the controversy surrounding the Bromley bill, which Governor Richardson vetoed, with the statement that he was "inflicting cruel punishment upon a band of discredited politicians who are planning once more to parade their virtues before the public by misuse of the referendum and at great expense to the people."

Young, in a statement last night, said he had written to Governor Richardson on June 16 and urged him not to sign hte measure, but since the governor had seen fit to class the referendum advocates as "discredited politicians," he, Young challenged the governor to sign the bill and let the referendum proceed. The Bromley bill, which was an administration measure, would have made all appointive state officers serve at the pleasure of the governor rather than fill definite terms.

STATEMENT ISSUED.

Young's statement and letter to Governor Ricardson follow:

"It is true that I did write a letter to the governor, in which I endeavor to point out the vicious nature of this spoils system bill, and stated that if the bill became a law I should be compelled to join in a referendum against it.

I couched this letter in the decently respectful language which I thought befitting such a communication. What effect it had upon the governor I do not know, but at all events I note that he had backed down on his bill. In doing so, however, he must be including me in what he is pleased to style "a band of discredited politicians who are planning once more to parade their virtues before the public by use of the referendum;" for I most certainly should have stood with Chester Rowell, Senator Jones and the others toward the end.

BILL WELL WORDED.

I notice that the governor declares that "on close examination" he now fears that the Bromley bill may "result in litigation and complications." I am certain that all who have examined this short bill will agree that the governor is alone in this fear. His bill was exceedingly brief and admirably worded and meant just what it said; that, upon its taking effect, he could have summarily dismissed the members of every board and commission in the state except those expressly protected by the constitution, and by supplying their places from among his adherents could have built up the most powerful political machine ever seen in any state. Not one of the dismissed officials could have had any possible legal redress, it was a plan so perfect that I am sincerely sorry for the pain which its abandonment must have caused.

RETRACTS ADVICE.

Out of sympathy for the governor, I shall, with his permission, retract the advice I gave him against signing this spoils system measure. I have heard scores of people discuss the Bromley bill, and I have heard only one who justified it in any particular. Business men, labor organizations, friends of California's schools, women's clubs—all have expressed their opinion of the bill and its apparent purposes—an opinion more plain than polite.

The governor, however, seems to regard this bill as a very important factor in his scheme for saving money for the corporations. Accordingly I now withdraw my advice not to sign the bill, and challenge him to sign it. The referendum can then proceed, the people can get a chance to register its verdict, and the governor may possibly thereafter be able to add another to his list of "discredited politicians."

SENDS GOVERNOR LETTER.

The letter to the governor follows:

Dear Governor Richardson:

I had intended the other day at the regents' meeting to speak to you concerning the Bromley bill, but found no opportunity. I have noted that you have not yet signed the bill, and thinking, therefore, that you may not have fully decided the matter one way or the other, I should like to present to you my opinion respecting it.

I feel that this bill must be much more far-reaching than its author could have intended. As I see it, it puts the members of practically all the boards and commissions of the state in the light of political appointees at the hands of an incoming governor. I cannot believe that you or any other governor would care to be placed in the position of making such appointments.

I realize, of course, that an institution like the board of control, which is peculiarly a governor's board, may properly hold office at his pleasure, as is now the case independently of this proposed bill. But other boards are of an entirely different nature, and I feel certain that their value to the state lies very largely in that independence of action which can come only through appointment for definite terms.

CREATES SPOILS SYSTEM.

In a word, I believe that this bill would create in California a "spoils system"—a political system fifty years out of date in America—and I am convinced that its enactment would put California back politically those fifty years.

As you doubtless know, a movement was started by certain legislators to invoke a referendum which will bring this bill before the electorate for its verdict. Regarding the measure as I do, I shall feel compelled to give what aid I can to such a movement, should the bill be signed and the proposed plan be carried through. I am saying this, not because I think it would concern you particularly one way or the other, but rather because I feel that frankness and fairness demand that I should state to you my position before taking any public stand on the question.

However, I trust that you will make this course unnecessary by refusing to sign the bill.

"FLIMSY," SAYS ROWELL.

"Too flimsy for consideration," was Chester H. Rowell's expression on the governor's reasons in a statement issued on behalf of the referendum committee. Other members are Senator Herbert C. Jones of Santa Clara county and Mrs. Aaron Schloss of Berkeley. Action was taken to hold up the Bromley bill and submit it to the people. Organization was under way to secure the referendum signatures. Speaking for the committee Rowell said:

The last minute refusal of Governor Richardson to sign his own spoils system bill is an emphatic victory for the referendum. The governor could and did bulldoze the bill through the legislature. He could have given it executive approval and had freely and belligerently asserted his intention to do so, but he did not dare face the people on a proposition so indefensible, so he has thrown down his own supporters in the legislature whom he forced to take the odium of a measure which even he, its author, now deserts.

REALIZED FAILURE.

The ostensible explanations by which the governor seeks to save his face are, of course, too flimsy for serious consideration. He did not hesitate to risk "litigation and complications" on his budget bill, which is now tied up in the courts [illegible] of the public service just because he insisted on putting into it precisely the features which he now finds fatal to his spoils system bill. The more likely explanation is that when the governor received a letter from Lieutenant Governor Young (who certainly is not a "discredited politician"), announcing that if the bill were signed he would have to join the referendum movement against it, he realized that the jig was up.

Everybody should know by this time that the alleged crusade "for the tax payers against the tax eaters" is exclusively for the benefit of the corporations.

Infected Sebum

According to authorities, over 90% of all hair troubles are traced to infected Sebum.

Sebum is an oil. It forms at the roots of hair. Its natural function is to supply the hair with oil.

But frequently it becomes infected. It cakes on the scalp. It plugs the follicles and chokes them. It forms a breeding place for bacteria—germs by the millions feed upon the hair and destroy it.

It invites semi-baldness. Soon total baldness follows. But it seldom kills the hair root. Remove the infected Sebum—normal hair growth usually follows. This is scientific fact. We guarantee results in writing under 3-bottle treatment plan.

Now Science Overcomes It

The Van Ess treatment combats the infected Sebum and removes it. It penetrates to the follicles of the hair. It revives dormant hair roots and generally grows new hair.

We urge you to try it.

Obtain it at your druggist's under 3-bottle treatment plan. Your money returned if results are not obtained.

Society Happenings

Hobart-Crocker Nuptials Are Social Event

At high noon yesterday, two of the pioneer families of the state were united through the marriage of Miss Ruth Mary Hobtra and William Willard Crocker at St. Matthew's Episcopal church in San Mateo.

The chapel was banked with Columbia roses and at the end of each pew gilt standards supported handsome bowls of roses, alternating with smaller jardiniers. The windows of the edifice were outlined with California holly and banks of maidenhair fern.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Walter S. Hobart. Her gown was of soft crepe, trimmed in Louis XVI lace, simply designed and finished with a girdle of pearls. A train four yards in length was suspended from the shoulders and over this the wedding veil was draped, a wreath of orange blossoms fastening the veil to the coiffure. Orchids and lilies of the valley were carried by the bride in her bouquet.

Miss Helen Crocker was the only attendant, gowned in salmon pink chiffon, very simply outlined with side panels of gold tissue. She wore a large drooping picture hat, from which a scarf of gold tissue was draped at one side. The unique shower bouquet was of snap dragons which matched the gown. Irish Elegance roses, bavardia and Columbia roses.

Charles Crocker, who is a student at Yale university, and who came west for the wedding, was best man.

The ushers were Templeton Crocker, Harry Crocker, both cousins of the bridegroom; William G. Devereux, William G. Parrott, Lawrence McCreery, Richard Scherwin, Samuel F. B. Morse and Count Jean de Limur, a brother of Count Andre de Limur, who married Miss Ethel Crocker, a sister of the bridegroom.

The wedding breakfast and reception was at the Hobart home in the San Mateo hills, where a mammouth marquee of a brilliant blue was erected for the breakfast.

The bride made her formal debut to society three years ago at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Alexander S. Lilley, in San Rafael.

Crocker is a scion of the well-known Crocker family of Sacramento, his grandfather, the late Charles Crocker, being among the first millionaires of California. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Crocker. His mother was Miss Ethel Sperry of Stockton.

Simple Way to Have Beautiful Wavy Hair

Lustrous, fluffy, wavy hair plays an important part in the scheme of beauty. A heated iron should not be used to give the desired wavy effect, for it destroys life, lustre and fluffiness of the hair. It is far better to use the simple silmerine method, which curls the hair more effectually, more lastingly, and at the same time keeps it beautifully soft, "light," and glossy. It is beneficial instead of harmful, and it is such an easy thing to apply the liquid before doing up the hair, using a clean tooth brush for the purpose. Liquid silmerine may be had in any drug store and a few ounces will last for months. It is neither sticky nor greasy, and leaves no spots or streaks. The hair will stay in curl even in moist or warm weather.—Advertisement.

KNIFE FOR RUPTURE? NO!—SAYS EXPERT

"Thousands of Rupture Cases Can Be Instantly Relieved Without Use of Torturesome Truss or Risky Operating Table, and I'm Willing to Prove It—FREE OF CHARGE."—E. B. Scott.

The days of knife fear and truss agonies are over. No longer must unfortunate ruptured folk be tortured by that dreadful dragging-down sensation, and kept in constant, relentless misery by the cruel pressure of a gouging, steel-rimmed truss or a so-called appliance or support with great, bungling pads. Such barbaric treatment for rupture is now a relic of by-gone days.

Until science had made such great strides in the treatment of Hernia, rupture meant either the knife or weary years of terrible miseries that continued with its victim to the grave. But today it's different. Ruptured folk no longer need worry. With the great blessing of the wonderful SPONGE RUBBER RUPTURE PAD, every single trace of truss agony is completely banished, every misery that was inflicted by the old-fashioned truss literally flies away, the terrible fears that usually went hand in hand with rupture are forgotten, and each suffering mortal can again live in perfect ease and bodily freedom.

This remarkable device is not an experiment, but a thoroughly tried article that has proven itself time and time again. Legions of people are wearing it. People who know feel at the mention of the old-fashioned truss as well as the great comforts, the soothing and pleasing relief that is obtained through this remarkable discovery. All anxiety and worry are gone; they now know that rupture CAN be conquered without the knife or barbaric truss.

Mr. E. B. Scott, the Ohio Hernia Expert and specialist, controls the entire distribution of this wonderful pad. He wants to bring the benefits of this great invention to all rupture sufferers. He wants to prove to them ABSOLUTELY FREE OF ANY CHARGE that the invention is all that it's claimed to be—that ruptured people CAN have ideal comfort, CAN receive instant relief, CAN put themselves on the road to recovery by the use of this easy wearing device. This is his generous offer. Read it.

He says, "I will send in plain sealed envelope to any Ruptured person, a Sponge Rubber Pad—a special sample of the device, which owing to the marvelous benefit secured by those who have used it, is rapidly superseding the old-fashioned, bungling, useless but costly truss. With it will come full detailed directions for use, showing how to strengthen the weakened muscular parts, helping the device to bring about rapid benefit and a natural and perfect immunity from any recurrence of the disorder."

There is no obligation. If this Pad is all that is claimed, surely you will want to see it and try it. So write today and this and your name and address to E. B. Scott, Hernia Expert, 388-S. Scott Bldg., Akron, Ohio, and the pad, with particulars, will be sent you by return mail. Do this today.—Advertisement.

Baltimore, Md.—I have suffered for the past eight years with kidney and bladder troubles and have used all kinds of remedies, but without success. One year ago this fall I gave up and went to bed, the doctors saying that I could not live six months. I was so bad that I could not leave my bed and was preparing myself to die, when I heard of Veronica Water, and about two weeks before Christmas I began its use and continued regularly, and was able to go downstairs to my New Year's dinner, and have been gaining ever since. I think by the time I use another case I shall be permanently cured, and I can recommend it to all others for these troubles.—Benjamin A. Hoffman, Baltimore, Md.

Veronica Water is a natural mineral water pure and unadulterated just as it comes from the springs. It is sold by Drug Stores everywhere. A big generous 1½ quart bottle for sixty-five cents. If your druggist does not have it in stock send his name to Veronica Springs Company, Santa Barbara, Calif., and arrangements will be made for you to obtain Veronica Water through him.

Why This Doctor Advises HOKARA

Says It Gives Instant Relief in Many Skin Troubles

It is not often that a doctor comes right out and endorses any preparation but when he does you may be sure it is something out of the ordinary. Read what Dr. Johnson, skin specialist, says about Hokara, the antiseptic, astringent, greaseless Cream:

"For over twenty-five years in my practice I have used many kinds of preparations called "skin foods" but never until I found Hokara did I see such beautiful and satisfactory results. I use it on my own patients. It cleanses the skin and makes it soft and fresh looking, producing firmness and [illegible] All those to whom I have recommended it are delighted with its use."

If you suffer with skin trouble so that the itching seems almost unbearable and the skin is so broken out that you are sensitive about your appearance, don't think it necessary to use some greasy vile smelling ointment or salve. Just go to your druggist and get a positive guarantee of satisfaction or money back.—Advertisement.

MONOLITH

PLASTIC WATERPROOF PORTLAND CEMENT

Sea water—one of the most destructive of natural elements, cannot penetrate the WATERPROOF substance of MONOLITH. For this reason, MONOLITH is highly recommended for use in any construction work that is subject to the action of sea water.

MONOLITH must never be considered as a substitute. It is the highest grade of Portland Cement—with the added qualities of being PLASTIC and WATERPROOF. These important "extra virtues" extend all the way through.

THE PEAK OF QUALITY AND ECONOMY

Because no other tire is built the same way or made of like materials, no other tire has the wearing strength, the riding quality and the tractive power of the new Goodyear Cord Tire with the beveled All-Weather Tread.

Made of a new and longer-wearing rubber compound, the tread of this tire is now beveled at the outer edges, and the big tough blocks of this tread are braced by heavy rubber ribs.

Every cord in the carcass of this rugged, long-lasting tire is made of highest-grade long-staple cotton of extra tensile strength.

The exclusive Goodyear method of group-ply construction is employed to defeat internal friction and promote long wear.

The sidewalls are built extra heavy to resist rut wear and curb wear. And the famous Goodyear All-Weather Tread provides maximum traction and safety in every kind of going.

As Goodyear Service Station Dealers we sell and recommend the new Goodyear Cords with the beveled All-Weather Tread and back them up with standard Goodyear Service

BALL OF NATIVE DAUGHTERS IS FLORAL DREAM

Parlor Resumes Sessions After Entertaining for the Grand Officers.

STOCKTON, June 21.—Beautiful and colorful was the ball last night for the delegates to the grand parlor of Native Daughters, grand officers and other members of the order in the Auditorium, which had been converted into a floral dream by the Misses Belle and Manuelita Aldecoa. Grand President Mattie M. Stein and the grand president N. S. G. W. led it.

Today the grand parlor will be in session all day. During the afternoon Phoebe A. Hearst Parlor, No. 214, Manteca, will provide the program of music and other features, which will be followed by refreshments. The ball in the evening has been arranged under auspices of Caliz de Oro Parlor, No. 206, Stockton. It will be held on the roof garden of Hotel Stockton. For all who do not care to dance, cards will be provided.

Yesterday morning nominations were made and bids received from Yosemite Valley and San Diego for the 1924 convention. During the afternoon the northern end of the county was visited, scores of gaily decorated autos carrying the 400 delegates and grand officers. After viewing the great fruit districts a reception was given in Lodi by Ivy Parlor of that city. The affair was held in the beautiful new home of the Lodi Woman's Club. A band concert was a feature. Refreshments were served.

HOMES FOR CHILDREN.

During the morning session Miss Mary Brusie gave a report of the work accomplished by the two orders for orphans under their charge. She showed that over 2000 children had been placed for adoption in good homes for 1922-23 and that the year's expenditures for this work amounted to $12,000.

Florence Doyle, grand marshal, has been appointed to fill the vacancy at the Mills' scholarship board caused by the death of Mary L. Tillman.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her from an Operation

Muskegon, Michigan.—"After doctoring for eight or nine years with different physicians without any relief at all, they said at last that medicine would not reach my case and I should have an operation. I had heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and often saw it advertised in different papers where some women had suffered just as I did and got well and strong again by taking the Vegetable Compound. I decided to see what it would do for me, and before I had finished the fourth bottle I was much better, the weakness stopped and the severe pains in my sides left me. I am now much stronger and do my own work and work in the factory besides. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and give it all the praise."—Mrs. NELLIE QUILLON, 17 Morris St., Muskegon, Mich.

Women should heed such warning symptoms as bearing-down pains and weakness, for they indicate some female trouble, and a persistent and faithful use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will seldom fail to help.

AIRPLANE BEATS HABEAS CORPUS

LOS ANGELES, June 21.—Only a few jumps ahead of a writ of habeas corpus which would have freed his captive, Sheriff Tom Cavanor of Oklahoma City is rushing home by airplane, automobile and rail today, with Haywood Rector, 21-year-old negro, who was arrested here on a charge of having burned a cotton press two years ago in Oklahoma.

Fearing that the California law might release the negro before he could get him out of the state, the sheriff rushed his prisoner to Riverside by auto and chartered an airplane there which carried him to Arizona. He is finishing his journey today by rail.

OAKLAND PIONEER WOMAN IS ILL

Mrs. Josephine Galloway, "Oakland's Lady of the Flowers," and pioneer newspaper woman of the city, is in a critical condition today at her home, 540 East Eighteenth street. Physicians and nurses during the past two days have watched with anxiety her faint pulse and have nearly abandoned hope for her recovery.

For more than twenty years Mrs. Galloway has been a conspicuous figure in the downtown district, distributing each morning among the employees of the business houses, the homely, fragrant flowers which she grew in her small East Oakland garden. She always wore a sprig of bloom pinned to her lapel. Mrs. Galloway has been confined to her home for several weeks, her condition at times becoming alarming.

Mrs. Galloway is the editor of Our Young Men, a local publication dedicated to the service of the young people of the city in their religious activities. She was a member of that early coterie of [illegible] who entered the local newspaper field.

Honey Shortage Is Expected in South

RIVERSIDE, Calif., June 21.—[illegible] Southern California this winter, according to T. O. Andrews, Riverside county bee inspector. Andrews says that the long dry season that occurred here caused beekeepers to ship many stands to Utah and Idaho, where more moisture had brought more wild flowers, and the honey produced by these bees will be marketed where it is gathered.

Wife Slapped Him, Husband Complains

When he sought to escape from the house because fifteen young girls in a flutter were discussing details and preparing for the marriage of his sister, his wife slapped his face and scratched him, John D. Scanlan, 1015 Center street, told Superior Judge T. W. Harris. He was granted a decree of divorce.

AMERICAN MONEY OUT OF DATE

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., June 21.—Styles in money change so frequently in Europe these days that the people over there are dubious even of American money that isn't 1923 model, according to J. D. Lowsley of the First National Bank here.

A woman came into his banking house a short time ago, Lowsley said, and told him that she had sent $8 in American currency to a friend in Austria. The friend took the money to a bank in Austria and asked to have the bills changed into Austrian currency. The clerk examined the notes carefully and saw that they were issued by the United States Treasury Department over ten years ago.

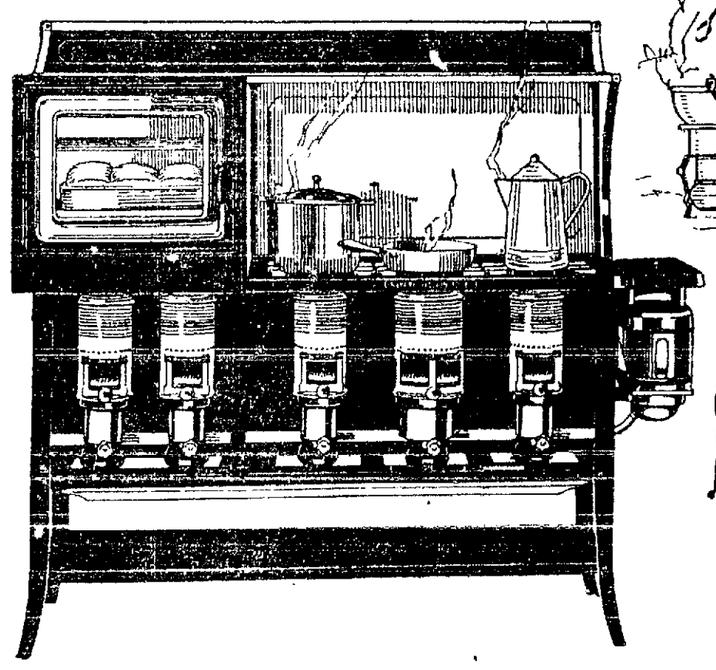

"I cannot cash them," he declared. "They are out of date."

Supervisors Give $500 For Rodeo

Tom Norris and M. G. Callaghan, representing the Livermore Rodeo, called on the board of supervisors for funds and were given $500 from the advertising fund. The supervisors gave the money on the ground that the rodeo is valuable from an advertising point of view.

Otto Fischer, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, David Oliphant and Cal Ewing attended today's supervisorial meeting as representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and asked financial help from the advertising fund of the county. They were tentatively promised that provision for from $5000 to $6000 would be made for the Chamber of Commerce in the budget for the fiscal year.

Recently word was received from the United States health service that the governor had cut out the state office of rodent inspector and that if the county wished to continue keeping men in that office it would have to pay the expenses, which amounted to $300 a month. The supervisors decided to dispense with the state inspectors as they already pay $625 for county rodent inspectors.

Valley Farmers Advised to War On Grasshoppers

MODESTO, June 21.—Grasshoppers in large numbers are making their appearance in Stanislaus county and if a concerted fight is not made against them within two weeks the crops of the county will suffer enormous inroads from the winged pests, according to the report of A. L. Rutherford, county horticultural commissioner.

The hoppers will form into swarms about July 1, Rutherford says, and must be fought before that time.

LETTERS TRAP SLAYER SUSPECT

MARYSVILLE, June 21.—The arrest of Luke Johnson, alias Bruce Manners, charged with the murder of Claus Botton, a mail carrier, in the mountains of Madera county about a month ago, finishes a chase that led the officers to Marysville and various other points in Northern California. Sheriff John Barnett and J. P. Bradley arrested Johnson near Bray, Siskiyou county, to which place he was traced by Sheriff C. J. McCoy and Chief of Police C. A. Smith of this city.

Jealousy over a woman is said to have been the cause of the shooting, which occurred on May 8 at North Fork, Madera county.

Johnson was captured after letters had been mailed by him to a brother, L. B. Johnson, who came west from Minneapolis with the announced purpose of inducing his brother to surrender and face trial on a self-defense plea. The slayer's brother is reported to be in San Francisco and it is said will return to Madera and provide funds for the defense of Johnson.

MOTHERS know the necessity of a 'tween-meal snack that satisfies and nourishes without clogging the appetite—that does not spoil the "three squares" and lead to ill health.

Snow Flakes—say the Mothers on the Board of Approval—solve the problem of what to give the children between meals.

One Mother writes as follows: "The children certainly like them and now we always have a package in the house. As soon as they get up in the morning they are in the cracker box. They make cracker sandwiches for lunch, eat them at school—in fact they're always eating them."

Keep a box of Snow Flakes where the children can reach them.

SOMBREROS OF DONS WORN BY LUNCHEON CLUB

Business Men With Spanish Head-dress Invade Rotarians' Weekly Meeting.

The Spanish sombrero insignia of the Dons of Peralta sponsors for the annual fall fiesta centering about Lake Merritt, arrived in town today when some 20 members of the Mutual Business Men's Club wore that type of head gear at their luncheon at the Hotel Oakland.

The sombreros were not the exact pattern officially adopted by the Dons of Peralta, but served to put over the idea of the coming festival in fitting fashion.

The sombrero brigade paid a friendly visit to the Rotarians, who were holding their weekly luncheon meeting in an adjoining room. The sombrero idea originated with Woodson Ross and Arthur C. Wheelock, both of whom are dons and members of the Mutual Business Men's Club.

The official greeting of the dons is 'Obapesla' which stands for unity, fellowship and progress of the following seven Eastbay cities. Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, Piedmont, Emeryville, San Leandro and Albany.

HAYWARD, June 21.—When an apparently normal hen will lay a perfect specimen of an egg and then turn right around and within the next minute or so deposit its counterpart in a most unconcerned manner it is quite a feat in the opinion of W. The bird in particular is a white leghorn.

According to McClure he was surprised to see one of his hens choose the hard cold cement floor of a shed for a temporary laying place. As he walked over to pick up the egg the bird calmly moved over a few feet and presto! there was a mate to the first.

OAKS WHITEWASH ANGELS IN FASTEST GAME OF SEASON ON OAKLAND BALL DIAMOND

Colwell Has L. A. Batters At His Mercy

Fastest Game of the Year Is Featured by Classy Work in the Field.

By EDDIE MURPHY.

In the fastest and snappiest game of the season on the local diamond, the Oaks evened up in their series with the Angels by scoring a 4 to 0 victory. Thanks to some high class pitching by Ira Colwell, who held the Angels to seven scattered hits. Thanks also to "Buz" Arlett, Del Baker and Ray Brubaker, who drove in the four runs with timely hitting. Claude Cooper and "Frenchy" LaFayette were not overlooking anything, and they each grabbed a pair of hits off the pitching of "Lefty" Thomas. Cooper, who scored two of the runs, started the first inning with a triple to right center field, and he scored on Arlett's scrifice fly to Twombly. LaFayette opened a two-run rallying in the fourth by getting a single, and Jack Knight Del Baker crashed a hit to right and LaFayette scored, and Brubaker hit through short to score Knuight. Maderas forced Baker at third, and Colwell hit into a double play.

GAME IS FAST ONE.

Cooper opened the way for the fourth and last run in the fifth, when he singled. Whiteman was an infield out, and Cooper stole third. Arlett planted a hit in center field and Cooper scored.

The last three times at bat for each side went along in quick fashion, Thomas and Colwell retiring the batters in the order they faced them and making it possible for the full game to be played in one hour and twenty minutes. Umpires "Beans" Reardon and Eddie Finney helped to get the game over so quick by advising the players to hustle.

There were a number of fielding features. In the second inning, McCabe of the Angels made the star play of the game when he raced to the left field fence and made a back-handed catch of Del Baker's line drive near the foul line. It was a better catch than Billy Lane, the Seattle outfielder, made last week.

MANY GOOD PLAYS.

In the same inning, Ray Brubaker, Oak shortstop, robbed Deal of a hit by grabbing his Texas Leaguer with his bare hand. Hood was the next batter, and Al. Maderas made a great stop and throw to first base to rob Hood of a hit. Maderas and LaFayette starred in another feature play in the ninth inning. One was out when Deal crashed a hot one toward third. Maderas knocked the ball down with his gloved hand, and with very little time to spare he cut the ball to first. It was high, but LaFayette leaped as high as he possibly could, and came down on the bag with the ball before Deal touched it. Deal got a double and single in four times at bat, but Brubaker, Maderas and LaFayette robbed him of two other hits. The score:

LEADER OF YALE IS MASTER CREW COACH

Yale has a real rowing coach in Ed. Leader, formerly mentor of the University of Washington crew.

This far western instructor in watermanship is the most-talked-about crew coach in the country. Taking candidates without previous experience, he has transformed them into an aggregation of oarsmen which has defeated Princeton, Columbia, Cornell and Pennsylvania.

Ed. Leader is high in favor with the Yale authorities and has qualified as one of the master coaches of the day.

On the eve of the Harvard-Yale race on the Thames, Leader's eight is a 2 to 1 favorite to win this classic. Harvard has a good crew, but the experts say it isn't good enough to defeat the Leader-coached eight from New Haven.

Ed. Leader learned all of his rowing on the Pacific coast. He knows nothing about Atlantic Seaboard or English methods or traditions. The former Washington University coach has evolved a system of his own which is sweeping college waters.

Last year Yale defeated Harvard by nearly four lengths. This year Leader hopes to bring a crew to the scratch that will repeat this rather one-sided victory.

With the usual clamor for championships, unfortunately the Yale crew will not meet the winner of the intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie.

Superiority for the four-mile distance is generally granted the Elis.

At Poughkeepsie the contending crews, including Cornell, Columbia, Pennsylvania and Washington, only row three miles.

If Yale shows up Harvard on Saturday, Leader's leadership as a coach will not be seriously questioned from any quarter.

Base on Balls Gives Sacramento a Win

SACRAMENTO, June 21.—The Sacramento Senators and Salt Lake Bees staged a listless twelve-inning game here yesterday afternoon, the home team winning by a 6 to 5 score when Al Gould, pitcher for the visitors, walked Cochran to force the winning run over the plate. Brown opened the inning with a double, Mollwitz got a single, and "Buddy" Ryan, as pinch-hitter, was purposely walked. The score:

Joie Ray Fails to Lower Mile Record

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 21.—Joie Ray failed in his second attempt this month to break the world's record for the mile at the Harvard stadium. The Illinois speedster's time was 4 minutes 15 1-5 seconds as compared with the record of 4 minutes 12 3-5 seconds. He won the race over three Harvard runners to whom he conceded handicaps up to 150 yards.

Despite the many substitutes, the card was a corker.

Close Races For Flags in The Big Tents

Ty Cobb Is Having Troubles With His Players Getting Injured.

CHICAGO, June 21.—If the Boston Braves continued today to frighten the Pirates of Pittsburgh with the sort of Indian signs they have made during the current series, the Cincinnati Reds will rise into second place tonight of their own dead weight, and then tomorrow a tug and tussle for runner-up in the National League will be on for. Cincinnati will open a two-game series thereafter, resting today.

Pittsburgh maintained its hold on second place by deposing its first strong rival, St. Louis, and then it neared first by walloping the New York Giants twice out of three games, but finally along came two of the weakest clubs in the league, Philadelphia and Boston, and the Pirates lost all their frightfulness.

The Reds came up another notch yesterday by taking the third game out of four from Brooklyn, 4 to 1, knocking out of the box Dazzy Vance, who held them to one hit earlier in the week.

The Robins were displaced by Chicago, which has been cavorting near the first division for two weeks. The Cubs managed to take a game from the lately troublesome Quakers, 16 to 1, and are within one point of St. Louis which dropped another to New York, 7 to 5, giving the Giants the edge in the series.

The Yankees tied the score with Detroit, but the Tigers, despite a weakened infield, came back and won, 9 to 7, and as Philadelphia beat Chicago 4 to 1 in 11 innings, the American League situation resolved back to its day before status.

The Tigers went back into the first division, as Boston beat St. Louis, 3 to 1, George Ehmke holding the Browns to three hits, while he won his tenth victory of the season, 3 to 1. Cleveland beat Washington, 5 to 1.

SPEAKER RETURNS

With the return of Tris Speaker, the Cleveland Americans are showing more pep. They trimmed the Washington Senators by getting to Mogridge in the seventh inning, when he weakened in his duel with Morton. Speaker's first hit in three games started the rally.

Leslie Mann, the speedy St. Louis National outfielder, cracked out three hits, including a double in three times at bat against the Giants.

Stuffy McInnis, former American League star, now with the Boston Braves, had a field day at bat, bagging four hits, including a double, in five times up.

Manager Ty Cobb of the Detroit Tigers is running into heaps of misfortune lately. His star third baseman, Fred Haney, sprained his right ankle in trying to get away from Ward of the Yankees. Jones, who has been on the hospital list, limped into the position and first baseman Blue, who was knocked unconscious Tuesday before the game, but played, was unable to get into action yesterday.

Vernon Tigers Win Close Game From S. F. Seals

LOS ANGELES, June 21.—Oliver Mitchell of the Seals and Bill James of the Vernon Tigers hooked in a pitching duel yesterday afternoon, with James coming out the winner and the Tigers on the best end of a 3 to 2 score. James was nicked for eight hits, while Courtney allowed but five, but errors by Hal Rhyne and Dee Walsh were costly. The Seals tied the score with three hits in the sixth, but the Tigers put over the winning run in their half. The score:

In boys' and girls' singles and doubles among the honor position players are James McGee, Bobby Sellers, Ed Chandler, Tom Stow, Cranston Holman, Sherman Lockwood, Avery Follett, Carolyn Swartz, Rose Marie Brunn and Helen Jacobs.

Northern Tennis Men In Big Cup Matches

SEATTLE, Wash., June 21.—Because A. S. Milne and W. H. E. Richards have been requested by the Canadian Tennis Association to join the Canadian Davis cup team, a match of the Laurel Tennis Club of Vancouver, B. C., here Saturday with the Seattle Tennis Club for the Starr-McReynolds-Starr cup has been cancelled. The Vancouver team centered around Milne and Richards, who are to leave at once for Toronto. The Tacoma Tennis Club will play here Saturday for the cup, which is emblematic of the club championship for the Pacific coast.

Leon de Turenne, Washington state champion, and Danny Lewis, captain of a high school team, left to represent Seattle in the Pacific coast championship Saturday at Berkeley, Calif. Lewis was selected when Henry Van Dyke Johns, city champion, found that business would keep him from making the trip.

Omaha Girl Breaks 2 Swimming Marks

OMAHA, Neb., June 21.—Helen Condon, crack Nicholas Senn hospital swimmer, broke two mid-western A. A. U. tank records in the hospital pool here at the fourth annual A. A. U. swim meet.

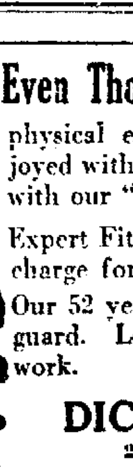

Miss Condon established her first record in the senior 50-yard back stroke event, negotiating the distance in 42 seconds flat—2-5 of a second faster than the old mark.

In the senior 50-yard breast stroke race she clipped a second from the old mark when she again swam the distance in 42 seconds.

JESS WILLARD MUST PASS PHYSICAL TEST BEFORE HE CAN MEET LUIS FIRPO IN THE RING

Physical Test For Willard in New Jersey

Jess Must Present Himself for Examination Before Board for Firpo Bout.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Jess Willard will present himself for physical examination in New Jersey to prove his fitness to meet Luis Firpo, it was said today at the office of Tex Rickard, fight promoter.

Notification of the required examination has not yet been received, it was said, but there was no doubt Willard would quickly acquiesce.

Confidence that the westerner would meet the test successfully was voiced at Rickard's office, where it was said he recently had passed, with a remarkably high mark, an insurance examination by Lloyd's.

If Willard passes the inspection he will be permitted to face Firpo, South American heavyweight. Otherwise the match will be called off.

The examination will be conducted under the supervision of Thomas Kilduff of Hoboken, boxing inspector of Hudson county. Bugbee has authorized Kilduff to select three physicians.

"I have no objection to Willard boxing in New Jersey," said Bugbee today. "As a matter of fact I regard him as a particularly high type, both as a boxer and a man.

"But so much has been written and said about his age and physical fitness to meet so rugged an opponent as Firpo that I regard it as my duty to throw about the match every possible safeguard.

"I anticipate no reluctance on Willard's part to undergo the examination. If there is any the bout will have to be called off."

TRENTON, N. J., June 21.—State Comptroller Bugbee, director of the New Jersey Boxing Commission, has ordered Jess Willard to report for physical examination before next Wednesday, to prevent a last-minute slip up in the Willard-Firpo bout, booked for Boyle's Thirty Acres, Jersey City, July 12.

Dick Grotto Heads Corn Husker League

LINCOLN, Neb., June 21.—At a meeting here of directors of the Nebraska State Baseball League "Dick" Grotto of Omaha was elected president of the league to fill the vacancy caused by the death of C. J. Miles of Grand Island. Mr. Grotto has been serving as president almost throughout the season.

It was decided not to return to the system of last year for a split season.

Kid Parker to Be Guest of Jack Dempsey

Kid "Hats" Parker will leave for Dempsey training camp at Great Falls on the 28th of this month and will be the guest of the champion at the large scrap at Selby on the Fourth. Parker received a telegram from the champion yesterday telling him to hurry up and join the camp and the Kid lost no time wiring his acceptance. Parker and Dempsey were pals when the champion was four-rounding here and Dempsey has never forgotten his pal of the tough days.

Benjamin Boxes Ten-Round Draw With B. Harper

PORTLAND, Ore., June 21.—Joe Benjamin, contender for the lightweight crown, and Bobby Harper of Seattle, before the largest crowd that ever attended a fight in Portland, last night fought ten sensational rounds to a draw.

In the second round Benjamin staggered Harper, who in 150 fights has been knocked down only once, with a right chop to the jaw, and in third floored him for the count of two. But there Harper turned the tide of battle and with a merciless fire of left hooks to the jaw and body, by the sixth had Benjamin hanging on desperately, very tired, wobbly and apparently on the verge of a knockout.

But Benjamin rallied, and with a great fighting finish, in the ninth and tenth, gained a draw. In the ninth he spit Harper's eye with a left smash and while he was blinded with blood ruined rights and lefts remorselessly to his jaw, but Harper never staggered. The tenth was another great round.

Wrestling Notes

LOS ANGELES, June 21.—Andrews Costanos, heavyweight wrestling champion of Spain, will wrestle Jim Londos next Monday night at the Philharmonic auditorium, announces Nate Scharlin, promoter.

Costanos has wrestled a draw with Ed "Strangler" Lewis and won from Wladek Zbyzko at Mexico City for the championship of that country.

Dempsey Is to Box Oklahoma Circus Freak

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 21.—Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, evidently is satisfied that the world's heavyweight champion has reached the peak of his training grind and soon will be ready to start the process of tapering off. Asked today why the champion limited his boxing to four rounds yesterday, Kearns said:

"Dempsey is ready now. Why should he come out here and work his head off every afternoon. I want him to take this training business as he feels. If he feels like breezing through a light workout, why that will be all right with me. Dempsey knows his condition better than anybody, and nobody can drive him through a long workout if he doesn't think he needs it."

TO BOX BIG BEN.

Dempsey is looking forward with an anticipatory grin to prospects of boxing with "Big Ben" Wray, 24 years old, who arrived here yesterday from Sayre, Okla., with a craving to trade a few punches. Wray is 7 feet 2 inches tall or, as he puts it, "6 feet 14 inches," and hopes to make ring history in the next few months.

Two months ago Wray was a cowboy and oil rigger down in Oklahoma. He never had a glove tied to his wrists. Three weeks ago he slammed a knockout punch on Tex McCarthy's chin and when Tex, a fairly good heavyweight, came to, his first act was to sign as Wray's manager. Previous to knocking out McCarthy "Big Ben" had three fights. They all ended within four rounds with Wray looking down 7 feet 2 inches to where the prostrate forms of his victims decorated resined canvas. Carl Morris, the Sapulpa giant and original white hope, was stopped in four [illegible] reach of 87 inches and tips the beam at 250 pounds. Previous to the last 30 days of training he scaled 291 pounds. What a killing punch from Dempsey's shoulders might do to his pride and joy is the least of McCarthy's troubles.

WRAY IS NO BOXER.

"I've boxed with Dempsey," McCarthy said today. "long before he was champion, and I've boxed yet, but he is game and has a wallop that will knock your shoes off. You can't hurt him. I can hit, but everyone I landed on him just bounced off and he grinned.

"What he needs is experience. Dempsey will give it to him. He may get knocked over but he'll get up."

Dempsey boxed four rounds in the old dance pavilion yesterday while the lightning flashed and rain came down in torrents in the worst storm this city has experienced in years. He looked faster than on the previous day and his cold has responded to treatments so that it made little difference in his breathing. Bill Wolpin, a 170-pounder from Appleton, Wis., an ambitious new sparring mate, was on the floor three times in two rounds.

U. C. Ball Team Is Off on Trip To the Islands

Seen off by many friends and relatives, the University of California baseball team sailed yesterday on the Matson cabin steamer Manoa for Honolulu, to play a series of games with teams in Hawaii. The team's infielder, Charley Erb, who was captain of the California football team last season, sailed last week on a honeymoon trip, and thus has the distinction of being the first member of the team to set foot on the islands. The players leaving yesterday included Coach Zamloch, R. Minty, pitcher; W. Kelly, pitcher; Paul O'Neill, pitcher; L. Thompson, catcher; W. A. Hoeple, first base and captain of the team; Theodore Bill, second base; Bert King, [illegible]; Al. Sears, outfield; Harry March, student manager; W. Banning, pitcher; George Smith, outfielder, and Penny Russell, pitcher.

Washington Crew Has Trial Pull On Hudson River

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 21.—The Washington varsity held its first time trials today on the Hudson river course where, a week from today the annual regatta of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association will be held. Unofficially clocked at 14:25 minutes for the three miles, Coach Callow's westerners were favored by only a mild breeze and tide, while the thermometer remained at the century mark as it has for the last three days. Navy's record breaking time last year, which smashed the previous mark by a half minute, was 13:35 minutes.

The shells of the Annapolis eight, marine chasers, were unloaded while the Washington varsity and freshmen eights were out on the course. Following last year's custom, the Navy and Washington will share the same boat house.

Football Coach Sees California Beating East

"California spirit? I'd heard about it, but I never knew exactly what it was until I heard 'I love You, California,' sung by a group of primary school students," said L. G. ("Sandy") Sanders, for twelve years head coach at Columbia university, in addressing the members of the Lions club yesterday.

"They had their heads thrown back and were proclaiming their native love in tones intended to startle the wild game in the heights of the Sierras. Then I knew what California spirit was.

"All I could think of at the time was, "God help the East in football twenty years from now.'"

Mrs. C. Woody Wins Diablo Club Tourney

Ideal Weather Conditions and Good Course Result in Close Scores.

By W. D. McNICOLL.

At Diablo yesterday an Invitation Tournament attracted over fifty members and guests. The weather was ideal and the course in excellent condition for low scoring. Mrs. Sumner Woody of the home club had an excellent score, 95-25-70, which easily won the low net prize, her game was very steady and the roll on the fairways gave considerable assistance as far as distance was concerned. Mrs. Woody was around in 48 and 47. Mrs. R. R. Yates also had a gross medal score of 95, but her low handicap of 8 put her many strokes out of the net prize. Mrs. Yates has just resumed golf after a long enforced absence, but is rapidly getting back to her previous form.

Mrs. D. H. Foote, who gets most of her practice over the California course in San Francisco, was the only other player to break the century mark, her score of 99-26-73 shows that she has not forgotten how to play the Diablo course. Mrs. H. W. Force had a very satisfactory medal score of 105, her handicap of 30 gave her third place. Mrs. Lee Dunham, who gets most of her practice at Claremont and Sequoyah, failed to play up to her handicap over Diablo's fast fairways. Mrs. Roy L. Shurtliff, who was first to have her name inscribed on the artistic Subscription Cup during last month's contest, failed to duplicate her score yesterday, and had to be satisfied with 110-27-83.

Mrs. F. W. Pope, 114-30-84, Mrs. W. Arnstein 109-25-84 and Mrs. C. A. Stacy 100-20-86, were all closely bunched at the finish. In conjunction with the Invitation sweepstakes, the club members were competing in the June Subscription Cup contest, which was also won by Mrs. C. S. Woody, who will now have her name inscribed as winner in the second contest for the cup which has to be won three times before the winner's personal property.

The detailed scores were as follows:

Mrs. C. S. Woody	95-25-70
Mrs. R. R. Yates	95- 8-87
Mrs. D. H. Foote	99-26-73
Mrs. H. W. Force	105 28 77
Mrs. Lee Dunham	111-30-81
Mrs. Roy L. Shurtliff	110-27-83
Mrs. F. W. Pope	111-30-84
Mrs. W. Arnstein	109-25-84
Mrs. C. A. Stacy	100-20-86

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

By BOB SHAND

SUNNY JIM MOOSE TAUSSIG'S colored battler may have a sunny disposition outside the ring, but he is a mean cuss when his hands are decorated with the Sol Levinson product. Mistah Jim had a date with Sailor Paddy Flavin at the Auditorium last night and he ended the festivities after only a minute and twenty seconds of fighting, when the customers were looking forward to a four-round contest. Shortly after the young men had received their instructions the Sunny one kissed Mister Flavin's chin with a right hand, and Paddy went down like a ton of coal being dumped into the cellar. He took a count of seven and the Sunny one was waiting for him with another cross that sent the tar sprawling. The lights were not entirely extinguished, but enough's enough, and the tar and his shipmates were more than satisfied when the affair was stopped.

Against a green kid like Johnny Tillman the Flavin boy looked like a million dollars, but against an experienced fighter like Sunny Jim Paddy looked less than three cents. Sunny stalled around for a minute to see what his opponent had. When he discovered he was not dangerous he unbuttoned a cross that would have knocked J. Harrison Dempsey down. The sailor did the best he could. It wasn't much, but you can't blame him when the class of the colored boy is taken into consideration.

Joe Lynch Loses Another to Farr.

Joe Lynch lost another to Johnny Farr, and he lost it by quite a margin. Farr appears to have the goat of the Mission bantie and he looks better every time he starts. Farr carried the fight to the Dolph Thomas entry and took every round after the first, which was about even.

Frankie McCann and Young Brown put up one of those battles the customers talk about for days. From the opening gong until the finish they stood toe to toe and let loose with everything they had. It was the prettiest draw you could imagine and the judges got a hand for the decision. Just how the boys stood up through those four rounds and socked and socked and socked and got socked and socked and socked in return is a mystery. They must have been trained to the minute. If T. Simpson wants to do the customers a favor he will stick the same pair right back on again next week. McCann opened a cut over Brownie's eye in the opening canto, and the blood bothered the Mexican rander a bit, but he never stopped fighting.

Al Sange Winner Over Billy Gordeau.

Al Sange knocked Billy Gordeau down for a short count in the first round and had him on the verge of a knockout, but didn't know how to apply the finisher, and Gordeau came back and fought Al to the ropes before the round was over. Gordeau got his second wind in the next round and fought hard throughout the balance of the fight. The decision in favor of Sange did not meet with the approval of some of the customers, who thought Gordeau should have been given a draw for his gameness.

The Coalman ran into some tough luck and a flock of pokes to the pantry and he was a badly battered fighter at the finish of his mill with Ray Kronick. Nick Alexson, who was supposed to meet the Coalman, met with an accident while driving his car near Sacramento, and Kronick was substituted at the last minute. The Coalman was simply too green. He knew nothing about shortening his punches, and when Kronich discovered this he bored in and beat his man at infighting. The Coalman has improved at that, and with Benny Hart in charge he should be even better next time. Kronich won all the way.

Cap Nelson and Pete Francis Box a Draw.

Cap Nelson and Pete Francis put up a mean scrap that met with the approval of the clientele. Francis scored a knockdown in the first round, but Cap proved his gameness by hopping right up and carrying the fight to his opponent. One Judge gave it to Nelson, but Referee Brackett and the other judge decided in favor of a draw.

In the curtain raiser Frankie Malone and Young Rizzo boxed a draw.

There were several substitutes on the card, but the advertised fighters could not have done any better.

PUEBLO, Colo., June 21.—Bud Hamilton, Denver bantamweight, won the local and foreign sport writers' decision over Midget Smith of New York, at the end of their ten-round fight here last night.

A consensus of opinion showed that Smith took the first three rounds.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 21.—Chuck Wiggins, Indianapolis light heavyweight, and Martin Burke of New Orleans, boxed ten rounds to a draw here, in the opinion of newspapermen.

Bill Johnston Gets Worst of Wimbledon Draw

LONDON, June 21.—Two tennis favorites will be eliminated early in the Wimbledon singles tennis championships, it was discovered when the draw for the tournament was announced. William Johnston and Vincent Richards were placed in the upper bracket and Jean Washer, Belgian star, may meet Richards early as he also drew the first bracket.

F. T. Hunter, an American, is in the lower bracket and looms as a possible finalist. However, before Hunter can reach the finals, he must defeat Count De Gomar, one of the Spanish Davis Cup team.

In the women's draw, Molla Bjurstedt Mallory and Suzanne Lenglen are placed in the same half and it will be impossible for them to meet in the finals.

One hundred and thirty-three entered the men's singles and 70 the women's.

Shelby Ready For Influx of Sporting Men

All Arrangements Made to Handle Dead Game Sports Attending Fight.

SHELBY, Mont., June 21.—Preparations to handle the influx of fight fans expected here July 4 to witness the heavyweight championship contest between Jack Dempsey and Tommy Gibbons were nearing completion today under the direction of the Chamber of Commerce and officials of the boom town. An automobile tourist camp of 157 acres with accommodations for 3000 cars is being laid out.

The town has approximately 2000 residents living in tents, several thousand more in tiny one and two-room shacks and a few hundred in the substantial residences built before Shelby experienced its oil boom.

SPECIAL FIRE BRIGADE

A special fire brigade is being organized to minimize the danger of fire among the hundreds of flimsy wooden shacks or the inflammable canvas tents, or even in the big wooden shell in which the July 4 contest will be staged. Fifty men to man the city fire fighting apparatus, consisting of four hose carts, will be available for that duty. War has been declared on the army of mosquitoes which have become almost a plague since the recent wet weather. William Shea, state deputy health officer, and his assistants are coating streets and pools in the vicinity with crude oil in an effort to exterminate the insects.

To curb the activities of miscreants July 4, sheriffs from surrounding counties have been requested to aid Sheriff Harry Benjamin of Shelby in policing the town.

BUILD BIG STOCKADE

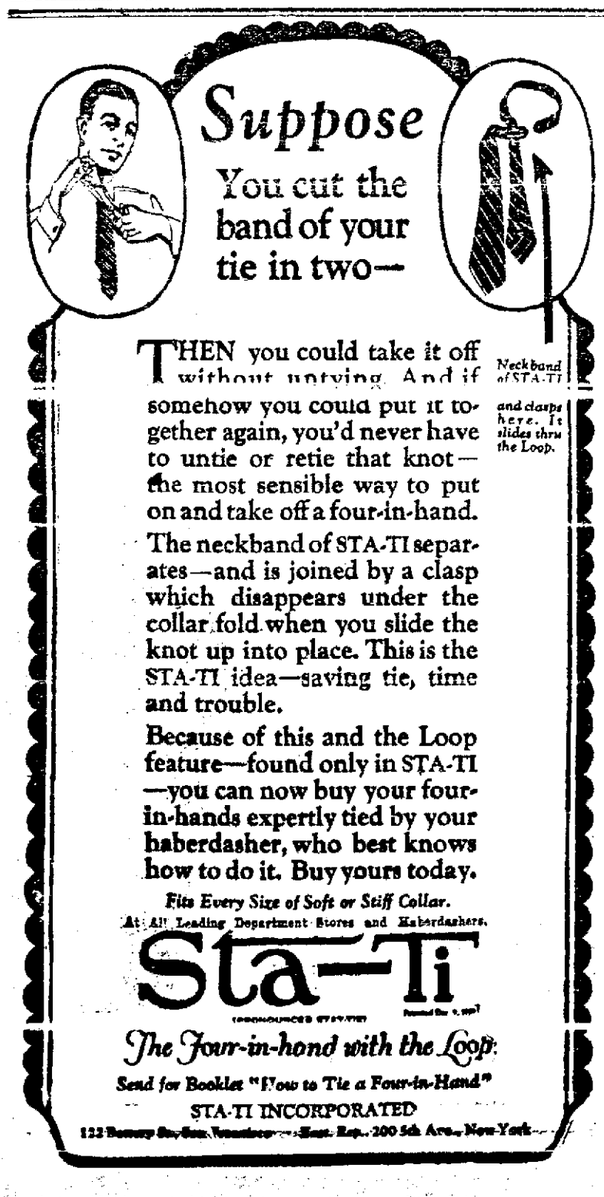

In case the jail, which has a capacity of ten persons, becomes crowded the overflow will be incarcerated in a stockade now under construction in which 200 may be imprisoned if necessary.

To accommodate the anticipated crowd, town officials and the chamber of commerce have expanded the water system from 100,000 to 700,000 gallons capacity. Increased electric lighting facilities five times, mapped out a sanitary program and arranged for policing additional sheriffs on the day of the fight. Boy Scouts will meet trains and direct travelers to hotels, the arena and business district.

Gibbons' workout yesterday consisted only of bag punching and tugging contests with his sparring mates. He has some cold sores on his lip and decided against any boxing for that reason.

WRESTLING TOURNEY.

LOS ANGELES, June 21.—Kenneth Dix, wrestling impresario, announces that he is preparing to bring together some of the prominent wrestlers for a series of mat bouts to be staged here.

THE BUDGET IMBROGLIO.

A situation that is unique in the history of State politics has originated through the refusal of State Controller Ray L. Riley to draw warrants for all state activities not expressly provided for under the budget.

To the average citizen the budget and its entanglements have seemed a jumble of figures, and the present situation, which is of grave import, since it definitely ties up the payment of millions of legitimate administrative claims, is imperfectly understood.

To unwind this knot it is necessary to go back to election days, when Governor Friend W. Richardson launched his economy program, announcing that, if elected, he intended to keep the State budget of expenditures down to the seventy-nine million dollar mark.

However, there was a colored "gemman" in the woodpile. There are, over and beyond the budget, certain so-called "recurrent appropriations" provided for by previous legislatures which have to be taken care of every two years. And after the Governor had put through his budget, having vetoed various amendments to that document, the matter of these recurrent appropriations was brought up, a majority of assemblymen and senators protesting that the Budget Act required that all expenditures, without exception, should be provided for in the budget. This, it is clear, would have meant a large, but merely apparent increase in the budget. It is evident that inserting these figures would have been a mere matter of book keeping and that it would not have increased the actual expenditure.

The advantage of putting the recurrent appropriations in the budget would have been a compliance with the Budget Act; avoidance of any possible clash between the budget provisions and the statutes governing recurrent appropriations, and there would have been no danger of tying up any of the State departments theough litigation. However, Governor Richardson did not take this viewpoint, and the budget went through in its original form, though a "rider" was added with the avowed object of "legalizing" the recurrent appropriations. This "rider" legislators declared to be insufficient, which viewpoint is shared by Controller Riley, who declares that he is "the watchdog of the people's money."

The matter now goes to the Supreme Court, which will decide on the legality of these budget departures. And should the court hold that the recurrent appropriations must be bodily incorporated in the budget, then a special session of the Legislature becomes necessary. Speedy action on the part of the court is desirable to end an anomalous state of affairs.

The Governor's antagonists expected to have an easy victory in a referendum over the Bromley bill, but such expectations have been ruthlessly dissipated by the chief executive's veto of his own measure. The Governor concluded there was too great a chance of its defeat, or of its constitutionality being successfully attacked, and did not want to stand in such a vulnerable position. That is the way he puts it, while not abating his contention as to the desirability of such a measure. Such a face-about is unusual, as executives generally stand by their policies.

King Boris says that if he loses his job as king of Bulgaria he will come right over to this country and get a job as locomotive engineer, driver of racing cars or university professor. He seems to have about the same idea that they all do over there. When out of a job they emigrate to the United States and exploit the country. Not all are so versatile as to range in capacity from driver of racing automobiles to college professor, however.

Stanford University hospital is one of fifteen to come in for a share of the Rockefeller benefaction of $150,000 to promote the use of insulin in the treatment of diabetes. The virtue of the new discovery seems to have been established, [illegible] of the poor. Hence the gift, which is to meet the expense of administering it in wards.

CONVENTIONS AND CONVENTIONS.

The bay region is experiencing a most welcome plethora of conventions, if the Greek word may be used in this connection. Of course, the principal convention is that of the National Education Association, which commences shortly in Oakland, and is to be attended by some twenty thousand delegates. In San Francisco there have just concluded the State Dentists Convention, the State Shoe Dealers Convention and the National Hotel Men's Convention, all of which have either observed an "Oakland Day" or have sent strong delegations to the Eastbay.

The American Medical Association will hold its annual convention in San Francisco next week, and the delegates will pay several visits to this city. An important adjunct of this meeting will be the session of the American Cancer Institute, at which discussions will take place dealing with the latest discoveries in this field. Science is applying itself with greater concentration than ever to the study of this disease, and the day may not be far distant when both remedial and preventive discoveries will be made, bringing relief to thousands of sufferers.

In days not so long past there was little co-ordination in materia medica. The convention system, under which scientists and surgeons from the ends of the earth meet and compare methods and results, is benefitting all mankind. A particularly useful feature of these medical conventions are the clinics held by eminent surgeons and physicians, from which the general profession learns.

VOLCANIC ACTIVITY.

Mount Etna is again in eruption, and once more are scenes enacted to which ancient Latium is but too well accustomed.

The despatches tell of fiery avalanches of lava rolling down the mountain slopes, driving before them one hundred thousand peasants of Sicily. And already Vesuvius is showing signs of increased activity, while nervous people are commencing to flee from Naples.

Probably the next volcano to be heard from will be Stromboli, that funnel of smoke and fire in the Mediterranean. For there seems to be some unholy alliance between these three fire-belching mountains. When one begins to rumble and emit lava, the other two usually follow suit, so that it would seem as if Etna beckons to Vesuvius on the mainland and to Stromboli in the sea, and calls, "Come, let us start something; we have slept long enough."

Etna seems the firebrand of the trinity. Some years ago, when she spread terror through the Straits of Messina, her eruption was accompanied by violent upheavals on the ocean bed, which caused tidal waves along the sunny coasts of Italy. An ancient city, Reggio, the Rhegium of the Romans, was overtaken by the tidal wave, and partly vanished into the waters.

"Rumblings and leviathanic mutterings beneath the earth" are reported, and the world cowers under the possibility of what may happen in the ancient Mediterranean basin. To really understand the tremendous, the overwhelming threat of the sinister Trinity one must have seen Vesuvius and Etna as they project their plumes of smoke into the clear Italian sky, or one must have passed Stromboli in the night, and have seen the ocean blood red with the flame from its tremendous crater.

Californians who have passed through one nightmare of earthquake and fire of which [illegible] children with fear the last are in a position to sympathize deeply with the people of Southern Italy, who are fleeing before the monster. And, should it become necessary to rush relief, California will, as usual, be among the first to aid and assist. Happily, it seems that this time the Trinity has given [illegible] least save life, if not property. But the smiling vineyards and villages clustering at the foot of Etna are destroyed.

The Paris thief who was caught while trying to steal lightning rods from the Eiffel Tower seems to have been out for a record over the man who purloined a redhot stove. Had he succeeded he would have been entitled to the palm without question, as he had to climb 984 feet in the air for his loot.

Detroit criminals are slow in adopting modern ways. They tunnel a 14-inch brick wall to steal furs, when they might go out and take possession of a payroll and acquire real money. And in other respects Detroit is so much up to date, too!

"Three die from heat in Chicago," while here in California we are just "aching with comfort." And the scientist who predicted the imminence of another ice age is confused again.

The devil is to be whipped around the stump in the imbroglio over liquor for sailors aboard foreign ships by making the grog ration a dose of medicine. It was certain that Jack's necessities would be met somehow.

News From the Front.

Sir: Your readers will be pleased to know that Aunt Prudence Hecklebury's campaign for the Presidency is flourishing in this locality.

Yesterday, [illegible] in front of a local real estate office, this question was put to passersby:

"Are you for Aunt Prudence Hecklebury?" with the following gratifying results:

Affirmative, 7.
Negative, 2.
Non-committal, 210.

A sinister note has crept into the campaign with the rumor that our opponents will attempt to amend the Constitution making the election best two out of three, thus forcing Aunt Prudence to win two legs to gain the Presidency.

At the Hecklebury League headquarters over the ice cream store it was said that this damnably design will fail. B. C. C.

Aye, there was a singing long ago,
Troueveres strumming to ladies gay,
Fiddles scraped by the amorous bow,
Slim waists squeezed in the same old way,
I, too, remember anoth day
(Old times passi g in sad reviews),
Toots and his darkies start to play
"Tiger Rag" and "The Beale Street Blues."

Clear and loud his cornets blow
The first full notes of his roundelay.
Muttered tones from the trombone flow
Guitar and banjo thump and sway.
Anxious clarinet squeaks and m[illegible]s.
Toots and his band perspire and play
"Tiger Rag" and "The Beale Street Blues."

DON MARQUIS.

A TRADE THAT KILLS ITSELF.

The law to protect bears, just signed by Governor Smith, represents a type of legislation that the wholesale killing of wild animals makes increasingly necessary. The open season for bears in New York State now runs from October 15 to November 15, and no hunter may legally take home more than one bear a year.

According to Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, president of the American Museum of Natural History, the age of mammals will soon come to an end unless steps are taken to limit the ravages of trappers and hunters. For example, the sea otter, which possesses one of the most beautiful of furs, is nearly gone. Only 76 of these creatures' pelts have come to fur dealers in three years. About $0,000,000 pelts a year from all kinds of wild animals are now put upon the fur market.

If this rate of killing keeps up, according to zoologists, it will not be long until many valuable animals will be virtually extinct. There [illegible] any other purposes. Great efforts have been made in recent years, efforts somewhat belated in many cases, to conserve our forests. The short-sighted exploitation of fur animals raises the urgent need for similar precaution. And in their case the need is even more urgent than in the case of forests.—New York Sun.

EXCERPTS from the NATIONAL PRESS

New Orleans Item: "Consider now the 'chigger.' The chigger belongs to the flea family. It is very small but very persistent. It is easy to come in contact with, and hard to get rid of. Just like some larger animals with fewer legs. The female chigger punctures the skin and burrows under it. Once safely inside, she lays eggs. Then she stays there, very comfortably. The host becomes very irritated. The chigger's residence begins to itch. The host scratches industriously, but vainly. Scratching the skin doesn't do any good. Unless we poison the premises with oil or iodine, or use a gouge, Mrs. Chigger's house becomes a sore and many little chiggers emerge, to look about for nice places into which to dig themselves."

New York Evening Post: "Yesterday's session of the writers, producers and others interested in the motion picture business left the movie industry looking like one of its own targets for custard pie. Basil King, telling how one of his novels was butchered for the screen, suggested that conscientious authors might about as well boycott the business. W. B. Maxwell thought that the movies are going from bad to worse. While Clayton Hamilton appealed to scenario writers to stop drawing so much material from prose fiction. The spectacle of 400 authors applauding while the movies are raked fore [illegible] kind of cooperation desired between our best pens and our producers is still distant."

Salt Lake Tribune: "Citizens of this country are carrying around more than 200,000,000 pounds of dangerous fat, according to the National Health Council, which has launched a vigorous campaign to induce at least ten million men, women and children to take yearly examinations on their birthdays and find out the exact condition of their health. The active campaign starts on July 4, and lasts one year, during which time everyone wishing to preserve his health and increase his span of life will be urged to go to his or her doctor and have a thorough examination."

Kansas City Times: "The brazen attempt of Wall street and the wets to lure the guileless Democrats to New York and sell them the Brooklyn bridge calls for instant action by the guardians of that unsophisticated party. There can be no doubt that the audacious proposal to hold the national convention in that citadel of the interests is the boldest design yet revealed to deliver the party of the common people into the hands of the octopus."

Seattle Times: "Now that the local authorities at Shelby, Montana, have given assurance the town henceforth will be [illegible] virtue, the hardy devotees of the boxing game need only be warned [illegible] the sawed-off shotgun with the engraved oil stock."

A vineyard of 1100 acres near Livingston, Merced county, known as the largest vineyard in the world, changed hands Tuesday for [illegible] is probably a record price in vineyards, even in California. The grapes are Thompson seedless and were set out six years ago. The land was growing small patches of rye at the time and estimated to be worth about $30 an acre. Reduction of wine grape prices by 20 per cent from the 1922 price. The high prices of the past few years stimulated production and the planting of new vineyards. JUST FOLKS

WHEN THE BABY SMILES AT YOU.

Now the rising sun at morning is a glorious sight to see,
And there is a wealth of beauty in a blossoming apple tree;
There are landscapes built to thrill you with their splendor night and day,
And when you come upon them "Oh's!" and "Ah's!" are all you say,
But the loveliest sight I know of, one which thrills you through and through,
Is that glad smile of a baby when she wants to come to you.

There is nothing to excell it, not the rising sun at dawn
Nor the glitter and the splendor of the dew upon the lawn,
Not the majesty of mountains with their jeweled crowns of snow,
Nor the silver of the waters as they fall to depths below—
These are not so captivating, though they're beautiful to view,
As the glad smile of a baby when she wants to come to you.

There's no painter who can catch it and no poet who can tell
All the wondrous radiance of it and its charm ineffable.
When those little eyes start dancing and across that chubby face
The countless lines and wrinkles of her gladness seem to race,
Then you see God's best creation—
The glad smile of a baby when she wants to come to you!

GENTLE ART OF CRAMMING.

The gentle art of "cramming" knowledge into the heads of dull and backward students was developed to a high degree by the late Wilson Nolen, who died suddenly Wednesday at Cambridge. His was no tutoring for "honors" such as is common in the English colleges, but rather tutoring to "get by." Many an idler, many a scatter-brained youngster, many a harried and overworked athlete at Harvard was helped by the "Widow" to pass his examinations.

To the university instructors he was an unwelcome appendage. He had his scouts in each class, he obtained notes of all lectures, he knew the eccentricities of the teachers, and he was shrewd in forecasting examination questions. To many a wealthy student, however, he was invaluable, and to many of those who were working his way through Harvard he was a help by giving them the opportunity to earn good money tutoring in his school.

He flourished largely because he was able to do what so many instructors could not do—present the substance of a course in an orderly and systematic manner. Tutoring is an old custom, and there will always be laggards or dullards who will turn to tutors for assistance. [illegible] from a "boiled down" presentation of a subject, does it not follow that the brighter students would do likewise? As a matter of fact, is not the entire system built up by the "Widow" Nolen a reflection on the ignorance of how to study which is the heritage of most students.—New York Times.

PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICE

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

OXYGEN RATIONS COMPARED.

The vicious factor which makes a sedentary habit or mode of life unhealthful is a shortage of oxygen, a constant, permanent shortage which is not one whit more essential in the sedentary life than fingerbowls, but people have it because they think it goes with that kind of life.

In a recent installment I said that as nearly as can be determined the minimum amount of exercise a normal man or woman requires daily to remain normal is a walk of six miles. This consumes ordinarily, two hours daily, an amount of time which only prosperous people can afford. We Americans are the prosperous people of the world today. We can well afford two hours daily, to insure for ourselves for years to come uninterrupted prosperity.

Unfortunately there is no mathematical unit of measurement available at present whereby one may roughly estimate the oxygen getting value of a given kind of exercise, as one might estimate the caloric or fuel value of a meal of victuals. We know that sawing wood is a strenuous occupation consuming something like 6000 calories of energy a day. We know that an adult expends about sixty calories hourly when doing nothing at all, just resting. A woman expends about 100 calories hourly when sweeping, with a broom, not with a vacuum machine. For walking the amount of energy expended will vary greatly, according to the height and weight of the individual, the character of his gait, and the grade of the ground. One may progress like an Indian, with the least possible expenditure of energy or swing the arms to the tune of a number of calories per jeram or bounce up and down with each step at a cost of many more calories.

I can give only a crude estimate of the comparative value of various forms of exercise in overcoming the oxygen shortage. My estimates are made subject to correction, if anybody finds any gross errors in them.

Two miles of oxygen three times a day, or six miles in one dose, on the hoof, is the minimum daily requirement for the sedentary adult who would keep in reasonably efficient condition. A five to ten minute swim is equivalent to a three mile walk. A fifteen minute period of setting-up exercise is equivalent to a two mile walk. A nine-hole round of golf is equivalent to about one and a half miles of straight walking. Changing a tire is equivalent to a quarter mile walk down hill; inflating the tire is equivalent to walking from Chicago to New York with a short stop in Buffalo for lunch. A round of boxing is equivalent to a mile walk. A set of tennis is equivalent to a three mile walk. A game of lawn bowls is equivalent to sliding down the cellar door.

Housekeepers and storekeepers often imagine they get considerable exercise walking about the house or the store every day. When we attach a pedometer to measure this exercise they generally cover about a mile—not the ten miles they estimate.

People who can afford their six miles of oxygen on the hoof will find considerable diversion and satisfaction in carrying a pedometer to tick off the mileage and check up estimates of familiar distances.

E. L. BROWN, PATROLMAN, SUSPENDED

Is Fourth Member of Police Department to Lose Star Since June 3 On Charge of Unbecoming Conduct

Upon the testimony of four men that he had flourished his revolver and officer's badge in a spirit of bragadocio and insulted the patrons in an Oakland restaurant at an early hour Tuesday morning, Patrolman E. L. Brown was suspended from the Oakland police department today and Acting Chief of Police J. F. Lynch has recommended his discharge from the force. This marks the fourth suspension of a member of the force since June 3.

Lynch opened an investigation of Brown's conduct yesterday afternoon at the request of Paul Kapci, 710 Thirty-third street, who was in charge of the restaurant at the time the disturbance is alleged to have occurred. His charges against Brown were corroborated this morning by James de Augustini, Frank Parlato and Wilbur Nelson, employees of the restaurant. Lynch then recommended the discharge of Brown for conduct not becoming an officer.

According to the charges laid before the department, Brown, who was on his vacation and in citizen's clothes, asked Kapci to introduce him to some of the female employees of the restaurant as they were going off duty. When Kapci declined to do this Brown became angry, the employees testified, and insulted the patrons of the restaurant with profane language. Kapci then told one of the waiters to call a policeman, whereupon Brown is alleged to have drawn his revolver, announced that he was a policeman himself, and dared anyone to try to arrest him.

Patrolman Barney Curren responded to the call from the restaurant and finally induced Brown to leave the place and go to his home. Brown has been a member of the police force since 1916. He denied all the charges.

ESCALON INVITES HARDING TO VISIT

"The city of Escalon, San Joaquin county, California, extends to yourself and party a most cordial invitation to include Escalon in your itinerary on your proposed trip into Yosemite, Escalon being on the line of the most direct picturesque and best paved road from San Francisco to Yosemite. Escalon bids you welcome.

Traffic Cop Protects People at Runaway

SANTA CLARA, June 21.—A runaway horse caused pandemonium late Tuesday afternoon when it ran wild down Franklin street, Santa Clara's main thoroughfare, endangering the lives of many who were on the streets at that time, and but for the presence of mind of Traffic Officer George P. Fallon considerable damage to the horse or property would have been done. Fallon, seeing the runaway, rode his motorcycle up Franklin street in front of the horse, keeping traffic out of the way to make room for the frightened animal, and finally it was stopped after a circuitous run around the different streets.

These vats will be covered by a building 50 by 165 and each vat will hold 500 gallons of cucumbers in process of pickling. William H. POLICE FIND WOMAN WITH GASHED ARM

Mrs. Grace Michelsen At the Emergency Hospital Says Injury Was Received in Preventing An Auto Theft

Mrs. Grace Michelsen, 831 Sixteenth street, was found late last night at the Fruitvale safety station, Fruitvale avenue and East Fourteenth street, by Patrolman A. B. Lillienthal. Blood was flowing freely from a cut on her right arm. She was taken to the emergency hospital.

There she told Inspectors W. J. Davis and Louis Kirsch that she attended a party at the home of Mrs. Eva Kronhold, apartment 1, 1237 Thirty-fifth avenue.

While the party was in progress, she said, she heard some one start the motor of her automobile, which was parked in front. To save it from being stolen she ran to the door, and unable to open it put her fist through the plate glass window. When she went outside the car was gone.

At the hospital, according to the police, Mrs. Michelsen first gave the name of Mrs. Grace Hoffman, 1831 Thirtieth street, Sacramento, who owns the car, according to the license. The car was found later in front of the Thirty-fifth avenue address.

FARMERS IN FOUR COUNTIES' MEET

MODESTO, June 21.—Farm advisers and cow testers of four counties will meet here Monday for an all-day conference on matters concerning the cow testing associations. The counties to be represented are Madera, Merced, Stanislaus and San Joaquin.

A program for the meeting has been arranged by Noel Negley, state dairy inspection specialist. His aim is to standardize methods in the various counties and to cause discussion of matters of common interest. Similar conferences are to be held in various parts of the state, Negley said. At Monday's meeting the new cow testing contract will be discussed. The cow testing year ends August 1.

Stray Dog Attacks, Severely Bites Baby

SANTA CLARA, June 21.—Manuel Cantal, of Alviso road, in Santa Clara, has lost his faith in dogs. Yesterday morning a stray Airedale was befriended by Cantal and given a home at his ranch. Cantal allowed his 3-year-old son, John, to pet the animal and as a result the baby lies seriously bitten at the father's home. The dog sprang upon the child, knocking it down and tearing at him. Luckily he fell face downward or his features would have been scarred. As it was he suffered wounds of a painful nature around the head and face before the animal could be pulled away. The dog's head has been sent to Berkeley for examination.

Mayor of Antioch Resigns His Post

ANTIOCH, June 21.—George B. La Montague, mayor of Antioch for several years, has handed in his resignation to the city council. His action came as a surprise to the other members of the board. The pressure of personal business, which for some time past has prevented him from giving his full attention to his duties in municipal affairs, is the cause given for his withdrawal from the board.

NEW GEMS by O. HENRY

Treasure-Trove of Humor from Newly Discovered Writings

A STARTLING DEMONSTRATION.

What a terrible state of affairs it would be if we could safe to say that if such were the case most of us would be afraid to think above a whisper.

As an illustration, a case might be cited that occurred in Houston. Some months ago a very charming young lady came to this city giving exhibitions in mind reading; and proved herself to be marvelously gifted in that respect. She easily read the thoughts of the audience, finding may articles hidden by simply holding the hand of the person secreting them, and read sentences written on little slips of paper by someone at a considerable distance from her.

A young man in Houston fell in love with her, and married her after a short courtship.

They went to housekeeping and for a time were as happy as mortals can be.

One evening they were sitting on the porch of their residence holding each other's hands, and wrapt in the close communion of mutual love, when she suddenly rose and knocked him down the steps with a large flower pot.

He arose astonished with a [illegible] on his head and asked her if it were not too much trouble, to explain.

"You can't fool me," she said with flashing eyes. "You were thinking of a red-headed girl named Maud, with a gold plug in her front tooth and a light shirt on Rusk avenue, standing under a cedar bush chewing gum at twenty minutes to eight with your arm around her waist and calling her 'sweetness', while she fooled with your watch chain and said: 'Oh, George, give me a chance to breathe,' and her mother was calling her to supper. Don't you dare to deny it. Now, when you can get your mind on something better than that you can come in the house and not before."

Then the door slammed and George and the broken flower pot were alone.

SAN LEANDRO

Speeding Laid To Three Autoists

SAN LEANDRO, June 21.—Three autoists fell into the time trap of Traffic Officer H. J. Johnson yesterday afternoon. They were released after depositing $10 bail each, pending their appearance before Justice of the Peace W. J. Gannon.

Louis Tesio, a bank official, stated that he was in a hurry to get to Los Angeles, where he will spend his vacation. Arthur Arebotaro was in a hurry to pass another vehicle, according to his statement to Officer Johnson when he himself was overtaken.

Mrs. Minnie Okers, 395 Fourteenth street, Oakland, was also in a hurry, but she did not offer any excuse for speeding at the rate of thirty-five an hour on East Fourteenth street.

Odd Fellows Hold Hard Times Party

SAN LEANDRO, June 21.—A successful "Hard-Times" stag party was held by the Odd Fellows at their hall here last night. Members of the lodges of the various surrounding cities were invited, with the proviso that they wear the oldest clothes available. The penalty for violation was "Kangaroo Court" and a subsequent fine.

Several speeches were made by the officers, and after refreshments were served, several hours were spent in story-telling and reminiscence.

All Dogs Must Have Tags, Says Marshal

SAN LEANDRO, June 21.—Marshal J. F. Peralta today ordered the city poundmaster, A. Sylvester, to capture every dog within the city limits that did not have a license. They will be taken to the pound, where they will be held three days before they are asphyxiated.

Most likely moves will be made to force owners of dogs to put muzzles on them, states Peralta. This is because that during this season dogs are very susceptile to hydrophobia.

Hayward C. Of C. To Be Luncheon Guests

SAN LEANDRO, June 21.—The Hayward Chamber of Commerce will be the guests of the local chamber at a luncheon at the Estudillo house. A large representation is expected, as the proposition of seeking the improvement of Bay Farm Island highway is to be discussed.

This question is considered vital to both cities, as well as to Oakland and Alameda, because it will open a new artery of traffic that will not only relieve the present congestion of East Fourteenth and East Eleventh streets.

A committee was appointed at the last meeting of the chamber to make investigations as to the feasibility of such a move as well as to endeavor to interest the civic bodies of the other cities.

Legion To Hear Of Carnival Success

SAN LEANDRO, June 21.—Full reports as to the financial as well as the social success of the Cherry Carnival are to be made at a meeting of San Leandro Post No. 117 of the American Legion at a meeting to be held at the Odd Fellows hall tomorrow evening.

Plans are to be made for a show that is to be given here by the post during the latter part of the summer, according to Paul Brannon, the commander. Committees to arrange the details will be appointed. The affair will be put on entirely by talent from the post.

WRESTLER'S WIFE SAYS SHE KNOWS OF NO DIVORCE

Wisconsin Records, However, Says Court Freed the Big Wrestler From Wife.

While Dr. Ada Scott Conner Morton Fredericks of San Jose was today telling interviewers what "pals" she and her husband, "Strangler" Ed Lewis, have been and still are, Lewis, whose real name, outside of wrestling circles, is Fredericks, was speeding eastward from Wisconsin Rapids, carrying in his pocket a decree of divorce which he had just been granted in the latter city.

"I don't know a thing about any divorce," Dr. Fredericks declared. "I have received no notice of any divorce action or of any intention of my husband to sue for one. We have been perfectly happy and it is only four days since I heard from him. There must be some mistake."

The county records in Wisconsin, however, state in formal black and white today that Robert Fredericks has been granted a divorce from Ada Scott Fredericks in an uncontested suit. The decree was granted by Superior Judge Byron B. Parks in the circuit court at Stevens Point, Wis.

Fredericks, known throughout the world as Ed (Strangler) Lewis, is the world's heavyweight wrestling champion. Mrs. Fredericks is a graduate of the College of Physicians and Surgeons in San Francisco, and the former wife of Dr. A. W. Connor, of San Jose, and of Dr. A. W. Morton, of San Francisco.

TRIAL DATE SET IN DAMAGE SUIT

MARTINEZ, June 21.—Following demand by the plaintiff for a jury trial, Superior Judge H. V. Alvarado today fixed September 18 for trial of the suit instituted by Mrs. Nellie Storey of Napa against the California Transit Company, in which she asks damages of $30,868 for the death of her husband, Harry Storey, who, she claims, died on March 11, 1922, of injuries he received in an automobile accident seven days previous.

Storey, according to the suit, was a passenger from Oakland on a bus of the transit company. The suit claims that the bus left the highway near Rodeo and that Storey was thrown against the side of the machine, suffering injuries that proved fatal. Negligence of the stage driver is alleged in the suit.

A mighty shepherd of a straying band,
Aloft Diablo towers—
The rounded hills his flocks on every hand
In wavering lines across the autumn land
That waits the winter showers.
—Henry Anderson Lafler.

Many Eastbay hikers are interested in the resumption of the Hospitality Hikes under the auspices of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce. Designed for the purpose of introducing tourists to the wonderland of trail and scenic glory of the bay country these hikes are proving a wonderful stimulus to a better acquaintance between Eastbay and San Francisco outdoor people. Mrs. Babel Johnson of Berkeley is in charge of the hikes which will be held every Sunday throughout the summer months. Assisting her as guide and general encyclopedia on campcraft will be Victor Barlow, well known Contra Costa Hills Club member. The initial Hospitality Hike was held last Sunday to Stinson Beach, near Bolinas bay. More than a hundred hikers and tourists made the trip to the beach by stage, returning to Mill Valley by shanks' mare.

California Alpine Club.

Lake Lagunitas will be the objective of the California Alpine Club next Sunday. The members and their friends will take the 7:15 a. m. boat to Sausalito and train to Kentfield. They will then walk via Ocean and fire trails and Eldridge grade to Lake Lagunitas. Lunch will be taken at the fireplace. The club will return via Fish Gulch and road to Ross. Distance, 14 miles. J. Louis Callaghan and Edward Patterson, are the leaders.

Sierra Club.

Two week-end trips are planned for the Sierra Club, one an overnight affair and the other for Sunday only.

The big trip will be to Millikan canyon, leaving Saturday afternoon at 3:30 on the Monticello boat, [illegible] Francisco, and train to Napa. After dinner the party will walk seven miles to a point near the McManus ranch and camp. Sunday morning the hikers will explore Millikan canyon, which for picturesqueness and ruggedness reminds one of the high Sierras. The return will be made Sunday afternoon to Napa for the afternoon train. Bring breakfast and lunch for Sunday. Distance Saturday, 7 miles, Sunday 11. Sydney Schlessinger and James de- [illegible], leaders.

The Sunday hike of the Sierra Club will be to Alto, Paradise Cove and Tiburon. The party will take the 8:15 a. m. Sausalito boat and train to Alto, then walk via Ridge and El Campo to Paradise Cove and lunch. Return to Tiburon. As it will be moonlight, those desiring to do so may bring supper and have a campfire on the beach. Distance, 8 miles. Leaders: Iva Mason and O. G. Tubby.

Contra Costa Hills Club.

Tocaloma and Bear Valley will be the objectives of the Contra Costa Hills Club on Saturday afternoon and Sunday next. The members will take either the 2:45 or the 5:45 p. m. Sausalito boat and train [illegible]

Camp will be made overnight on Paper Mill creek, where campfire will be held with the usual entertainment. Hotel accommodations may be secured at Olema. On Sunday the party will walk via road to Olema, thence through Bear valley to ocean, where lunch will be had. Return will be via Point Reyes station. Distance, 14 miles. Leaders: Fred Roehm and George Howden.

Romany Club.

Boy Scout camp will be the destination of the Romany Club tomorrow evening. The members will meet at Fourteenth and Broadway, Oakland, at 6:20 p. m., take Piedmont car (A) to Fortieth and Piedmont avenue, transferring to the Montclair bus. Distance, 2 miles. Campfire. Bring animal story. Leader, Virginia Gee.

On Sunday, June 24, the Romany Club will hike to Ingleside Beach and Cliff House. Members will take the 1 p. m. train from Oakland. Meet at ferry candy stand. Take Ingleside car to Ingleside beach. Walk to Cliff House. Swim at Sutro. Leader, Esther Bernfield.

Hospitality Hikes.

The second trip of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce's Hospitality Hikes will be taken Sunday through Sutro Forest to Twin Peaks, Mt. Davidson and the residential section contiguous, thence to Murray's Beach. Those contemplating taking the trip should meet at the waiting room in front of the Affiliated Colleges at 9:30. Take No. 6 car and get off at the waiting room. Lunch will be taken after the trip through the forest and a side trip up Twin Peaks at a spring near the base of the peaks. Mrs. Mabel Johnson is in charge of the trip.

Side Trails.

The social event of the Contra Costa Hills Club next week will be a "Kid Party" at DeFremery Park, Oakland. Girls are requested to bring a basket lunch with enough for two. Take West 16th depot car No. 7 to park.

During July the Sierra Club will take to the tall timbers of the Sierras. At least the two or three hundred lucky folks who can desert civilization for a four weeks' outing will go to Pate Valley in the Grand Canyon of the Tuolumne, winding up in the Yosemite valley. These "high hikes" of the Sierra Club are recognized the world over as the last word in the matter of extended en mass hiking. Only seasoned hikers may take the trip, which is at all times under the watchful eyes of experienced Sierra guides.

Auto Too Slow For Veteran Prospector

HELENA, Mont., June 21.—After walking thirty miles between breakfast and dinner recently, Wallace Birkhead, 70-year-old prospector, who has lived forty years in the Marysville, Mont., min- automobile when within a few miles of Helena. Before they had gone a mile in the machine a tire blew off and Birkhead completed his trip afoot.

"I would have been here sooner," he told a friend, "but I was ing district, obtained a lift in an delayed by an automobile ride. You can't depend on them things when you're in a hurry."

He made the thirty miles in five hours despite the delay caused while he waited to see if the machine were going to travel again soon.

MANY VARIETIES PLUMS DISPLAYED

MARYSVILLE, June 21.—Fruits of eight of the scores of varieties of Myrobolan plums grown by Gregory Bros. at their nursery in the Yuba river bottoms, near Hallwood, are on display in the office of Farm Advisor Harrison. The colors include black, yellow and several shades of red. The Myrobolan plum's value is chiefly for root stock for other fruits—plums and cherries.

This firm has produced many millions of seedlings in Yuba county that have been distributed all over the country. The trees are propagated only one year in a place, new soil being used each season. The mother trees are here, however, and will supply the seeds for the seedlings wherever they may be produced.

My Favorite Stories by Irvin S. Cobb

A Gift of Tongues

The other day Montague Glass, with the assistance of a Scotch friend of his dug this one up. It professes to offer proof of the fact that it is easy for a Scot to master the language of any other nation. As an example, it is pointed out that two members of a Highland regiment assisted in the capture of Wei-Hai-Wei during the Boxer rebellion. Immediately following the victory the Kilties addressed each other in perfect Chinese; or at any rate, the Chinese prisoners present might have been excused for thinking it was Chinese. The dialogue between them ran as follows:

"Weel! We hae Wei-Hai-Wei!"

"Hae we?"

"Ay! We hae!"

Without any desire to take from the Scot any part of his linguistic glory, I nevertheless insist that the foregoing yarn merely is a skillful paraphrase of a much more ancient wheeze which was current in the south when I was a small boy and probably, in some sections down there, still is current.

As the tale goes, an Englishman was making his first visit to the gulf states. He was much more interested in the habits of what he called the Blackamoors, meaning by that the members of the colored population. A waggish white man chanced to fall into conversation with him on board a train then passing through the Delta of Mississippi. The Englishman said that the negroes spoke with an accent which made it difficult for him to fathom their meaning.

"You should hear them talking Indian," said the southerner.

"Is it possible that these people understand the aboriginal tongues?" asked the astonished Briton.

"Oh, yes. Just listen and I'll give you a demonstration."

The train had halted at a small station. The native leaned from the car window, and, addressing an aged darky on the platform, called out: "W'ar he?" Instantly the reply came back: "W'ar who?"

Uncle Wiggily by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE FUNNY BIRD.

"Uncle Wiggily, come out! Come out!" called some voices near the rabbit gentleman's hollow stump bungalow one day.

"My goodness, gracious Agnes, I hope the chimney isn't on fire!" exclaimed Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, who was making cabbage pies.

"I guess it's only some of the animal boys calling me to come out and see their kite or something like that," spoke Mr. Longears calmly. And, surely enough, it was.

Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrel boys, were chattering away in front of the hollow stump bungalow, and when Uncle Wiggily asked what they wanted Billie answered and said:

"Come and see what funny bird this is, Uncle Wiggily, up in the old chestnut tree. He's making such a funny rattling noise and we're sort of scared."

"Come and see what a funny bird this is."

"Nonsense! To be frightened of a bird!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Why, you squirrel boys are almost birds yourselves when it comes to skipping around in trees."

"Oh, but this is such a queer bird and he's acting so funny!" chattered Johnnie. "He's got red feathers on his head and he's hammering with his beak on a piece of tin in the tree as if he were angry or something."

"It sounds like a soldier drumming," added Billie. "Do you s'pose, maybe, Uncle Wiggily, he's a soldier bird drumming on a tin drum to call other soldier birds to shoot mosquitos."

"Well, I shouldn't mind if all the mosquitos were shot," chuckled the bunny gentleman, "but I don't believe this bird is a soldier."

"Well, he's surely drumming," said Billie. "Listen!"

And as Uncle Wiggily and the squirrel boys listened they heard a loud rat-a-tat-tat and a ta-tat-too as the bird's beak rattled rapidly up and down on what seemed to be a tin can in the tree.

Uncle Wiggily squinted his eyes, he flopped his ears back and forth and he twinkled his pink nose. Then he said:

"I know what sort of bird this is. He's a red-headed woodpecker, and woodpeckers have long, sharp and hard beaks made for drilling holes in trees so they may pick out the bugs, grubs and worms on which they live. But why this red-headed woodpecker is drilling on tin is more than I can tell."

Just then the queer bird up in the tree stopped his tapping and drilling with his beak and sighed and called out:

"Oh, dear! I'll never make a hole in this hard wood! I never knew wood to be so hard before, nor to make such a funny noise. Yet I know there are lots of bugs and worms under there I can tap-ping, only I can't get them out, dear!"

"You seem to be in trouble, Mr. Red Headed Woodpecker," called up Uncle Wiggily.

"Yes, I am," answered the bird. "For two or three days, now, I have been trying to make a hole in this tree to get out some grubs [illegible] but, though I have drilled and tapped and bored with all my might, I cant make a hole, and my poor beak is nearly worn out."

"Ha! Ha!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "Excuse me for laughing, Mr. Woodpecker," he went on, politely, "but I can't help it. You are trying to drill a hole through a piece of tin. And though your beak is very strong you can never make a hole in tin."

"What do you mean—tin?" said the bird. "What do you mean—tin?"

"Scamper up there and show him, Billie," said Uncle Wiggily. So the squirrel boy scrambled up the tree and there, in a crotch among the branches, was an old tin can some of the animal boys had tossed up. The can had caught and become wedged fast.

"Look— this is tin," said Billie, scratching on it with his sharp paws. "It has rusted brown, so it looks just like the bark of the tree, so it isn't any wonder that you thought it was the tree. But you can't drill a hole through tin."

"That's right! I can't!" laughed the woodpecker. "How silly of me! But I know there are bugs under that can, if I could only get it out of the way."

"My brother and I will help you," offered Billie and he and Johnnie, with their sharp paws, soon scratched the old tin can to one side. Beneath it were many bugs, worms and grubs which the woodpecker and his wife ate.

"Thank you, Uncle Wiggily, and you, also, Johnnie and Billie, for so kindly helping me," sang the woodpecker. And just then the Fuzzy Fox jumped out of the bushes and tried to nibble the bunny rabbit's ears. But the woodpecker, with his strong beak, nipped the Fox on his tail and the [illegible] howled "Yow!" and ran away.

Thus everything happened for the best, you see, and it the little puppy dog doesn't chew all the stamps off the postman's letters and try to make them into a strawberry pudding, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the clothes line.

BILLY BECKWITH A Red Man With a White Soul A True Story of Early California By Dorcas James Spencer

Mrs. Walker, who had no intention or thought of being burdened with this family, involuntarily yielded to this spiritual force, and bowed before the influence of the Indian's devotion and purpose, quite forgetting that she had been all the morning wondering how she could most quickly be relieved of the small savages. She assured Billy that they were all welcome to remain there until suitable homes could be found for the others, and little Daisy should never be taken from him.

It was easy for the two men to complete their arrangements when Mrs. Walker had so generously made it possible. Billy entered forthwith upon his duties, while she began to realize that she had assumed a great charge, or as she expressed it, "had taken a big contract." It was long before hours could be found for Lily and Rose, and in the meantime hers was the task to teach them enough of civilized life to afford some possible opportunity for a happy home.

At last, Lily appeared to be fitted into a household where there were younger children to be looked after and where in turn the mother would care for her.

Rosebud, as her father liked to call her, was less fortunate; an attractive child small for her age too small to work, but loving and clinging, she did not take to strangers readily, and it was more difficult to find a place for her. As the months went by, the year rolled around, and another rainy season was approaching. Billy had felt that it did not matter so much, while the little ones could live all day out of doors, to follow him at his work, but he could not tax Mrs. Walker with two children in the [illegible] winter. Something must be done with Rose.

Dear little Rose. It was always Rose who [illegible] herself so readily into his arms when he came in from his work, that before he knew it, he was cuddling her to his heart. How he would miss her. He had sought in vain for a home for her in a white family. White people had played a great part in his life, and he coveted for her the superior intelligence and training of a Christian home.

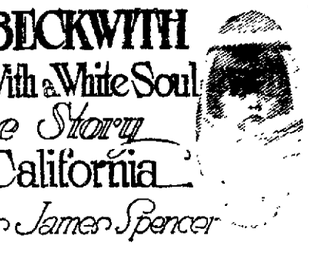

In the first friendly relations with white men, an older sister of his own had been taken to wife by an honest Scotchman, and another by a sturdy logger from Kennebec woods of Maine. When the authorities ordered all Indians to be sent to the reservation these men promptly called on a Justice of the Peace to legalize their marriages and permit them to retain their increasing families.

The Scotchman settled on a mountain farm and the logger located on the rich bottom lands of a river valley, where his broad acres and comfortable house gave food and shelter to numerous Indians as they wandered here and there. Their children sons and daughters were married and gone to homes of their own, but the young- [illegible] Billy knew that his sister would open heart and home to his child. There was a distance to be between them. The first sorrow of Billy's dear life had come through his sister's son, and Sarah knew that Rose was her grandchild. Each knew that the other was aware of it, though never a word had passed between them in regard to the subject. He could see no other way now but to take the child to his sister.

Very early one bright morning he mounted his faithful mule and taking Rose in his arms set out on his sad journey, and a weary one it was. Dearly he loved the child, the cloud on her birth cast no shadow on her innocent life. She was Alice's child, a miniature of her. Her winsome childish ways recalled the gladness [illegible] mother, and [illegible] he looked for the charm that had attracted him to Alice, a desire in her child.

All that long day, with the little girl clinging to him [illegible] the saddle, held in his arms for change or laid down by the roadside for rest, he was tearfully convincing [illegible] he should separate from her; and after all, it was easy to leave her with her own people. Telling her of the pleasant home and the kind aunt to whom he was bringing her, the laborious journey became delightful by their joy in each other.

Sarah received her with a maternal yearning that was simply claiming her own, with doubtless a vague sense of justice to her brother [illegible]

IN THE DAYS OF PIRATES.

The "Porgola" was skimming across the dark blue waters of the Mediterranean Sea. On board ship [illegible] his daughter Diana. His name was Lord Archibald Gluenister. They were standing on deck when Lord Gloumster saw a ship raising its flag. He took out his eye glasses and looked out on the blue water. Suddenly he started back and cried out—"A pirate ship!"

One of the sailors came up from the engine room, and taking his eyeglasses out he put them to his eyes and gazed out at the tiny ship coming nearer and nearer. "It's the Bloody Dog allright," he said with a twist of his head. "We have to fight, or flee like cowards."

The sailors blew a whistle and a lot of sailors in white uniforms and their caps set on the back of their head, came running up on deck.

"Get the guns and cannons ready!" he ordered and the men hastened to do his bidding.

Meanwhile Diana had been in her cabin and had grown sleepy so she ate her dinner and lay down to rest, and she fell asleep. She was awakened by a terrible shouting and shooting. She got up, hastily dressed herself and started to go out, but oh, the door was locked. "What can this mean?" she thought to herself. Had she been [illegible] Where was Alice? Why was her door locked? Who could answer all these questions. She did not know whether to call for help or not.

Her cabin was next to her father's so she kicked and knocked on the walk calling all the time. "Daddy! Daddy!" She thought he might have locked her in there for fun. But to her ears no sound came to gladden her, except the rumbling overhead which kept getting louder.

She did nott know what to do so she though she would look out the port hole. She looked out and saw a pirate ship up alongside of the Porgola. They were coming on the Porgola now. Now she understood it all, as she had seen the ship coming before its flag was up, but she had no idea it was a pirate ship. On the sides of the Pirate ship was printed 'PLUNDER!!'

When she had been watching at the Porthole for about five or ten minutes she heard voices outside and two or three keys fitted in the lock, but none of them seemed to fit. Diana thought it must be some of the pirates after her, so quickwitted as she was, she ran [illegible] got into bed and covered up just as the right key fitted in the lock. The key turned and the door swung open, and two terrible looking pirates entered Diana's cabin.

One said in a gruff voice, "So the dame's asleep eh? Well, we will take her the way she is!"

So they took her in their rough arms. As soon as they picked her up Diana began to scream and [illegible] gagged her and then carried her up on deck where the blood was all over the floor and men were lying dead, and some were groaning. The sight of it was so awful Diana turned her head very quickly.

Then the pirates, known as Thunder Joe and Lightening Dick took her on board the Pirate ship "Plunder." The Pirates hit Diana over the head and she knew no more.

When she came to she was in a dirty cabin with only a bed, a chair and a table for the furniture. She thought she heard someone groaning in the next room. She got up and put her ear to the wall and recognized her father's voice. Then he was safe too—but great was her anxiety. She loved him so.

Soon she heard some one coming. A young man entered the room and said "Come—follow me."

Diana, followed him to a room where another girl was sitting. When the man had gone the two girls began talking. The other girl said her name was Alice and that she lived in England but got jealous of her sister so one night she ran away and went on a boat leaving for America, but this ship overtook it and the pirates captured her.

Diana gasped. "My lost sister! Is it really you?"

[illegible] their arms around each other. Soon they were parted for at the door sounded a knock.

Diana opened it and there stood her father. He said he had found a place for escape. "Please take that nice boy that brought Diana [illegible]"

So they got him and the four went to the room where Diana had been before. Lord Gluenister opened the port hole and they looked out and there was a little life boat drifting nearer. "It must have come from some other ship, perhaps the Porgola. When it gets under the porthole I'll jump in it and then the rest can jump in," said Diana's father.

They did just as he said and were soon sailing merrily out on the blue waters.

They were drifting where they knew not, when they spied a large ship going to America. The young man knew how to signal so he signaled and they saw them and picked them up on their boat. They soon reached America and Alice and Dick were married, (Dick is the man on the ship) and Diana was engaged to a man over in England but he had gone for a trip to America and they were married there.

All the way from Michigan comes Witch Winifred, with a dandy story for us.

THE TWO SCHOOL MATES.

Two little boys whose names were Paul and John lived near each other in a pleasant village in England. Paul's father lived in a large mansion and kept many servants. Paul had a pony to ride and many playthings. He also had fine clothing and nothing to do but go to school.

John's father was poor and had only a small farm and family to take care of. John was obliged to get up early and drive the cows to pasture and do a great many things before he went to school.

Although John's father was poor he sent his son to the best school in the village, for he thought if his son became a great man he would be a comfort to him in his old age.

When he first came to the school [illegible] went to, the boys were dressed much better than he was.

And they said, "He shall not sit by me!" And when he would take his seat they would move over. At first John did not know what this meant but he compared his clothing with theirs and he said, "It is my rough clothing," and the tears rolled down his cheeks.

When Paul seen what was going [illegible] he said, "Do not cry little boy, I will come and sit by you, and here is a nice apple for you."

One of the boys cried out, "Paul is playing with apples!" And at once the teacher came up, took the apple away, and gave it to the one that told, as was the rule.

From that time John was Paul's best friend. Some time after this it happened that Paul, who had about a mile to walk to his home, met a number of gypsies. One said to the other, "That boy looks like a rich man's son. Let's take him into the woods and rob him!"

After a few minutes talk they seized Paul and took him off to the woods where the bushes were thick and stripped him of all his garments and left him by the road. When Paul's father saw that Paul did not return he got worried and started out to hunt for him, and sent his servants, but Paul could not be found. They inquired of John but he had not seen him since he bade him goodbye at the turn. And John went to bed that night but he could not sleep so he got up and went in search of him.

When he came to the cemetary he went to the church and called out, "Paul, are you here?" No one answered. Then some one answered "Hello!" and came out from behind a tombstone and John recognized him to be [illegible] they called Casper.

After some time John made Casper understand that he was in search of Paul and got the little boy to go with him. So they went till they came to the wood, and [illegible] "Paul! Paul!"

"Here! Here!" was faintly heard in reply. John rushed to the spot where he found Paul half dead. John took off some of his own clothing and put it on Paul, and started to lead him home.

When Paul's father saw John leading his son home he could scarcely talk and he said, "I offered a hundred pounds to whoever found him dead or alive, and you shall have it."

"No," said John, "I shall never forget Paul's kindness to me at my first day of school."

When Paul grew up he became a rich man and John was his steward.

HOW THE CHILDREN ESCAPED DEATH.

PART 1.

One morning Jane and Tom asked their mother if they could go into the woods to pick berries. Their mother said that they could, but not to stay till dark because there were many pirate dens in the woods and if they didn't come home early the pirates would catch them. The children promised that they would come home early. Their mother gave them each a basket and they started out, happy as they could be.

PART 2.

While they were picking berries Tom said "I think I hear somebody in those bushes talking."

"I think it's those pirates that mother was talking to us about, Tom. Let's go home before they get us."

They took each other's hand and started to run, but it was [illegible] the pirates were on top of them. They tied them up and took them into their den and set them in a room by themselves. The pirates went in another room and started to play cards and other games. The children were overhearing their conversation and they heard one of them say, "Let's hold them for $5,000 ransom."

The children were afraid to be in the room by themselves and looking in one corner they saw a skeleton moving its arms and legs, and they were frightened as ever. Then in another minute it vanished.

PART 3. THEIR ESCAPE.

Tom heard something say turn around. Tom turned around, and to his surprise he found a long knife sticking in the ground. He took this knife and cut loose all the rope that was tied around them, and they were free again, but how under the sun could they get out? There was no opening no place.

Just that minute a fairy appeared and said, "My children, don't fear anyone. I will open this den," and she really did it.

When they got out from the subterranean cave they ran as fast as they could to the sheriff's office, and a whole band of policemen came and caught all of the pirates, and all of the valuables were given to the children and $500 each from the sheriff and the pirates were taken to prison and were imprisoned for life. Their [illegible] were glad to see their children after their long disappearance.

THE FAIRIES.

The fairies are merry and gay,
For it's a festival day,
And they'll have a feast
In the mist
Of morning, yet I fear
Before the sun rises.

They'll have fly soup
And they'll feast by a shady nook,
Yet some folks think There's no such thing
as a fairy or a fairy ring.
Yet if you watch at dead of night,
You'll see in the misty light,
Those fairies dancing in a ring.

Confessions of a Stars Wife by Inez Klumph

CHAPTER VI.

We Take the Plunge.

I shall never forget that next morning—even the little details of the background are still clear in my mind. Hugh and I had breakfast out on the porch—the gallery, they called it down there—that ran around the second story of the hotel. Below us, in the courtyard, a little pickaninny was marching up and down singing "Dixie" in a sort of minor wail. And there was a magnolia tree in blossom, its great, waxy white flowers reaching out like ghosts' hands, it seemed to me. Even with the sunlight streaming across our breakfast table I couldn't help shivering as I looked at them.

"It's this way, honey," Hugh explained, when we'd each had as much of a cup of coffee as we could swallow. (When you have a husband in the movies you and he grab stray moments for your important discussions; we'd found that breakfast was about the only time we could count on, so we always fortified ourselves with coffee before the discussion began.) "The Independent Era people have gone bust, absolutely. This wire came yesterday too late for me to let you know about it, but I phoned them in New York, and it seems that the jig is up. The company has a long lease on a studio, and enough equipment for two companies—and that's about all. They can rent out space in it, which will help some, of course—"

Now, as Hugh went on his voice had dragged more and more. And his eyes never moved from my face. I'm no clairvoyant, of course, but any wife who's loved her husband and considered him just about every single minute for five years gets so that she can tell pretty well what's coming when he does that. And I knew what was in Hugh's mind perfectly well. I knew, too, that he hoped I'd suggest it so that he wouldn't have to. So I did.

"Then why don't you rent space from them and make a picture yourself?" I asked. "You could do 'Unredeemed,' form your own company—cast it to suit you—take a hand in the direction—"

I'd said enough. To mention "Unredeemed" to Hugh was like waving a scarlet parasol at a bull. He'd read the book and fallen in love with it the year before. But the Magda people couldn't see it at all as a vehicle for him, and turned it down. Whereupon Hugh bought the screen rights, and ever since had lived in hope of producing it. Now at last he had the chance.

"The Independent Era people would give me a good rate on the studio," he began tentatively. "And they've got just about everything they need there—plenty of lights, including a sunlight arc, some good stock sets, all that sort of thing. But the industry's in rotten shape, they tell me, right now—it might be hard to get backing, you know."

That was the time for the plunge. I took it, though I could feel my teeth longing to chatter.

"We've got enough money saved to back it ourselves," I told him quickly.

Now, that may not sound so very daring to you; you probably think that, with all the money stars earn, it would be very strange if we didn't have a good deal. I'll admit that Hugh had earned a lot, especially during the last few years; but if you'll pause and consider our expenses you'll see why we hadn't saved so very much. We'd built a house—and we'd built the kind of house we'd always wanted to have, which is saying a good deal. Recently we'd added an extra sun porch and a swimming pool. We kept two cars, a roadster for Hugh and a sedan for me. Hugh helped support his parents. And—no mean detail—wherever and wherever he went on location, Hughie and I tagged along. Hugh always claimed that it brought him bad luck to leave us behind, and we both liked to go, so we did—to Alaska, to Honolulu, to the Bad Land of South Dakota, we went.

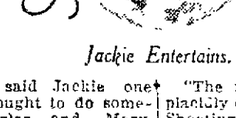

Then we discussed the provable cost of the picture, which was absurd, because we could tell nothing about it. There was no knowing how hard it would be to get a good leading lady, or whether any of the ones we considered possible would be free or not. We wanted some one who looked and could act like Norma Talmadge—and would do it for just about the salary of a Sennett bathing girl. Modest, of course! We wanted somebody else for the part of an older woman—Mary Alden was ideal, but we were sure we couldn't afford Mary. That was the way it went. We needed stunning sets such as those that Joseph Urban made for "The Enemies of Women." We would have liked to have a director like Alan [illegible]

"Yet the thing's got to be done well or it isn't worth doing at all," [illegible] in his eyes begged me to agree with him. "How about it? Shall we rent the Los Angeles house and try to make a go at this, or shall we go back to the Coast and start over again? Excelle wants me to sign again with them; they heard about the Independent's bust-up almost as soon as I did, and they made me a corking good offer to come back; it was forwarded to me this [illegible] we could get the game with our own organization, we may land at the bottom of the ladder, or we may make the very top. What's the word, pardner?"

Well, every woman whose husband has given up a good job in a lawyer's office or a hardware store or a garage and gone into business for himself knows how I felt. I tried to be fair to everybody—to Hughie, who was playing train under my feet with his father's hairbrushes; to Hugh, who was standing there across the table from me with his eyes begging for the answer he wanted. He got it.

The Story of JACKIE COOGAN As Told By His Mother To ZOE BECKLEY

Jackie Entertains.

"Muddi-dear," said Jackie one day, "I think I ought to do something for Douglas and Mary. They're always doing things for me—toys and books from Miss Mary, and Doug teaching me all those stunts."

"Yes," I agreed, "I'm sure they'd appreciate it. What did you think of doing?"

"Oh, I'll think of something," said my small son with the utmost confidence, and the matter rested there.

We went often to "Pickfair," the Pickford-Fairbanks home in Beverly Hills, where Jackie spends hours in the famous gymnasium enjoying Doug's latest stunts and trying to beat his host at his own game. Miss Pickford, Mr. Coogan and I are usually the entire audience, but sometimes Mr. Chaplin comes in, or Mr. Lloyd. Jackie's debut was in "Oliver Twist."

When the stunt part of the program was over and Doug drew up a chair and joined us, Jackie decided this was the time for his entertainment.

He has always been very full of fun, fond of comic stories and ready with all sorts of jokes and tricks. We had no idea what he was planning, but were ready for some prank or vaudeville stunt, dozens of which he knows and always has on tap.

With hair mussed and clothes awry from his recent wallowing on the gym mat, he now advanced solemnly to the center of the platform at one end of the big room and announced:

"I am going to entertain you with a recitation."

His father looked anxious.

"What's he going to do now?" he whispered.

"Oh, one of those jungle book stories," I answered, "or the Wizard of Oz.' He's been crazy about the Oz tales lately."

"The name of my selection" placidly continued our son, "is 'The Shooting of Dan McGrew!'"

Doug grinned behind his hand. Mr. Lloyd exchanged disturbed glances with Charlie Chaplin, who had come quietly in. And I felt the hot blood rise to my cheeks.

"The Shooting of Dan McGrew" is a fine bit, but the idea of its being recited by my 7-year-old did not appeal to me at all. As everyone knows, it consists of endless verses about an Alaskan 'whisky palace' peopled with every possible sort of unsavory characters and works up to a climax of shooting and melodrama of highly emotional type. Mr. Coogan has recited it for years, and incredible as it seems, the child picked it up and now began to reel it off with a dramatic appeal that thrilled as much as it amazed us.

He imitated every tone and gesture of his Dad's, throwing his whole self into his piece that ex-[illegible] monologists, and when he finished there was a moment of complete silence. Sobs were in my throat and as I stole a glance at the others I saw a mist in the eyes of more than one.

Suddenly they burst into a tumult of clapping as Jackie stood bowing to right and left like an experienced actor.

"Now," said he as soon as his voice could be heard, "I'll do an encore if you like—"

(Cries of "Yes, yes!")

"This one's called 'My Madonna' and—"

"No, you don't!" cut in Mr. Coogan. "One of those is enough at a time. Come on, son, you and I have a date at the toy shop."

"Oh, yes—the Galloping Gee-Gee you promised me!"

And off he trotted with his father, completely the small boy again.

JUNE 21.

Chief Justice Arrested.

WHAT! the popular tribunal of the people dares arrest the head and fount of the wisdom and majesty of the [illegible] June 21, 1856, a constable of the Vigilance Committee is stabbed by D. S. Terry, judge of the state supreme court, whilst arresting a notorious political trickster. On the instant, with almost automatic precision, the machinery of the Vigilantes is set in motion. The significant tap of the bell of the firehouse sounds. Quicker than fireman's response to fire alarm the forces of the Vigilantes turn out. Terry's political ruffians, and the self-styled Law-and-Order Men are hurrying to his rescue, when around the corner on the trot—flash of bayonets, rattle of artillery!

To the committee room with D. S. Terry, chief justice of California. A prisoner of the people. For days Terry's life hangs on a balance. Fortunately for him the constable does not die. The committee tries Terry for murderous assault. None of the tricks of Terry's own court can serve him; witnesses for the prosecution cannot be intimidated, perjured testimony has no chance whatever; the judges cannot be bought, nor jury packed, nor the issue involved in legal flim-flam, nor straw bail acceptable. Justice is stripped naked of the filthy rags in which the legal courts of California have [illegible] her. The people have rescued justice from the mire, and enthroned her in purity and truth.

Terry is guilty. No question of his guilt. But here the committee finds itself in a quandary. It cannot sentence the prisoner to a jail that is controlled by his own henchmen. The only course open is banishment. Put him on an outbound ship and expatriate him. But the state or federal authorities might intervene and rescue him. That would make the sentence a farce.

In the end Terry is allowed to escape to a U. S. sloop of war in the harbor. The U. S. officers accept the fugitive, perforce, but without enthusiasm. They send him back to San Francisco, where he resumes the supreme bench. But the people of California have spoken.

CHAMOIS VS. FLANNEL.

If the leaves of your needlebook are made of chamois skin the needles will never rust. It is much better than the customary flannel.

FOR BEST RESULTS.

Fresh vegetables should be cooked rapidly to obtain best results. Most vegetables, such as peas, asparagus, beans and corn, should be cooked in salted water.

A PLACE FOR WRAPPING PAPER.

A bag made of denim or ticking, with a pocket for twine, may be suspended on two hooks in the cellarway and prove a splendid place for wrapping [illegible] way, yet convenient.

WHEN KNITTING.

Be careful not to split the wool or silk when putting the needles into the ball.

What Does Your Husband Do?

GERALDINE FASHIONS THE HOME

Efficiency at Bat

STUFFY WILLS, first baseman for the Stalwarts, wore a long face.

"It would take more than an efficiency expert," he said, referring to the job Nettie Caine held with the large Boswell company, "to find out what is the matter with me. I'm telling you the eye docs have given up the job. I just can't judge the low ones, that's all, and all the pitchers on the circuit are wise. As a .300 hitter I'm dropping like the mercury in December. Pretty soon I'll drop right out of the league—me what used to be known as a fence buster!"

Nettie sensed the weight of misery behind the words and her heart went out to the big man.

"It's only a slump," she said encouragingly. "You'll come back strong." There was no response.

"I have not been out to see you play because I've been busy, but I'll be there tomorrow. I have an idea that there is a solution to every problem and maybe I can help." Stuffy grinned.

"What do you know about baseball?"

Next day Nettie sat in the stand armed with a business-like note book. There may have been some who wondered at the attention she concentrated upon Stuffy whenever he was at bat, at the notes she took and at her alert serious expression, but no one had the courage or the impudence to ask. The girl was very much in earnest.

"I'm going to undertake this problem," she informed the ball player that evening over the telephone. "You are to come out to my home tomorrow morning and ask no questions. Bring your favorite bat."

"The little girl of the figgers and system is going to show me how to land on the pill, is she?" Stuffy put it to himself as he steered his car through town. "What I need is efficiency, all right, but hitting the ball is a lot different from punching the clock."

Nettie, with a large basket on her arm, met him at the door. Together they drove to the country, the man taking his directions from the thoughtful companion. Close to a large field they stopped. Stuffy carried his bat and Nettie held to the basket.

In the center of the field the girl lifted the top of the basket and drew out a stick, on one end of which she had tacked the cover of a pill box, hollow side up.

"Stand straight, or just as you stand at the plate," she directed, while she shoved the pointed end of the stick in the ground until the box was just above the man's knee. Then she took from the basket one of a number of baseballs.

"They're cheap ones. I got them from the ten-cent store, so we won't have to chase them." She balance the ball on the pill box cover, then eyed the whole critically.

"I'll put the balls here and you hit them. Take a full swing, just as you would if someone were pitching to you, and hit the ball squarely. Try to remember just where the bat goes, keep the form and distance in mind so you can repeat. That's what you have to do, learn to hit that ball with your eyes shut."

"It will be a cinch, Nettie, but you know they don't stick them up in front of you in the major league. They have a most deceitful way of—"

"You do what I say!" Excitement made the girl peremptory. "Listen, I kept score on you yesterday. Fourteen low balls were pitched to you and you didn't judge any of them right. Nine of the fourteen went over the plate just as close to your knee height as possible without being too low for a strike. It's my idea that better than half will be that height. You can tell when they are in or out, but your eye fails when they come down by your knees. Do you see my idea? Set yourself into position to hit at that same height on all of the low ones. Don't try to judge them."

For half an hour Stuffy knocked five-cent baseballs off the stick. He was surprised when he topped the first, lengthened his hold on the bat, and sent the rest soaring like golf balls over the field. Nettie made him mark the bat with a pencil.

"I'm not going out to see you play tomorrow," she said. "I want you to put your whole mind on this. It will be hard to avoid the temptation of trying to meet the ball."

It was difficult. Stuffy found himself eyeing the pitcher. He knew a low one was coming, braced himself and swung. Again he had missed, and he knew it was because his eyes had been fooled. Despite himself he had been tricked. Then he set himself to try Nettie's system. He would imagine a ball on a stick, knee high, and, no matter where the pitcher seemed to be throwing it, he would swing as he had swung the day before.

It is fortunate for Nettie's system and Stuffy's baseball career that the ball met the bat, reversed its direction and went for a three-bagger, for with the hit came confidence and the knowledge of a trick that would retrieve a reputation. In the eighth inning, when a hit was needed, Stuffy got another.

"They'll learn to quit pitching them low to me," he crowed to himself, "and then—oh, my!"

"Being as how I was afraid I was going to be released," Stuffy struggled with the words, "I was scared to ask you before, but, Nettie, what I need is an efficiency expert in the family."

"Of course you do," said the practical girl. "I've known that a long time."

My Marriage Problems

Adele Garrison's New Phase Of

Revelations of a Wife

THE PLANS LILLIAN MADE FOR MADGE.

I looked up from the flippant newspaper story of Dicky's escapade to find Lillian's eyes fixed pityingly upon me. But there was something beside compassion in her keen eyes—a question which I was not yet ready to answer definitely.

"Pleasant little tale for dutiful wifely reading," I said bitterly, throwing the paper to the floor. "You say this account is the worst. If there's nothing you think I ought to see in the other accounts I'll not bother with them."

"I think you're very wise," Lillian replied evenly, picking up the paper from the floor and smoothing it in orderly housewifely fashion with the others. "There's nothing to be gained by reading them, and you're going to need your time."

"You don't imagine I'm going up there?" I asked acidly, perversely ignoring the half-packed bag I had hidden behind the bed at Lillian's knock.

"I'm sure you have not decided that question so quickly," she answered quietly, "but there is one thing which cannot be left to the imagination."

"What do you mean?" I asked startled.

"What we are going to do with the reporters."

"The reporters?" I echoed feebly. "Surely, Lillian, no paper would send a reporter down here for [illegible]."

I made a disdainful gesture toward the paper she had just picked up.

WHAT LILLIAN FEARED.

"You're an incurable optimist," Lillian retorted. "Remember, you people were so much in the limelight last year on account of Junior that the possibility of a divorce suit in the family isn't to be passed over. Some of the papers won't touch it, but I'll wager three nice plummy cookies—"

I interrupted her ruthlessly, all my faculties centered on the one word which had leaped venomously at me from her lips.

"Divorce!"

"Of course," Lillian's answer was apparently careless. "You read the newspapers, don't you? How many silly, half-baked women are there who lose their heads at some story regarding their husbands and rush to a divorce lawyer without even hearing the other side? Sometime within the next few hours you'll be asked what you intend to do about this—incident."

MADGE DECIDES.

I felt as if someone had picked me up and had immersed me in an icy pool of water. My hot, unreasoning anger against my husband vanished, leaving behind it a cold bitterness far more dangerous to our future relations. But I was sane, and realized what Lillian had been trying to force upon me, that any reckoning of mine with Dicky must be postponed that just now there was but one question before me, how best to silence the gossip which Dicky's action had caused.

I threw up my head and faced Lillian steadily.

"It's over," I said huskily. "I'm ready to do whatever you think best about it. And—and—I already had started to pack."

She came swiftly to me, and took me for a second into her warm, comforting embrace.

"You brick!" she said. "I knew you'd round to. Let me see your bag."

I handed it to her, and she took out the comfortable, easy-to-adjust gown I had put into it.

"I thought so," she said, "and you probably planned to wear that old traveling suit."

"Why—of course!" I stammered.

"Nothing doing!" she said firmly. "You're going to wear that very best tailcar, and take that spiffy new afternoon frock, your pretty [illegible] and a couple of nifty mouses. You'll wear your bronze oxfords—they'll go with the afternoon frock, too—and take your sport oxfords. Yes, you can get them in. I'll pack the bag myself. Go and dress, and get some color into your cheeks or I'll put a touch of rouge on you. And hurry. We've got to make that telegraph office pronto, and clamp that fool telegram of Dicky's beyond any possibility of the reporters' getting creation, I'll nominate the Dicky-bird right now."

Today.

Today—
Yawns in my startled eyes—
A glint of sun—
Now flecks the Eastern skies—
To my dismay—
I cross the thresh-hold of another day—
The rumble of a waking world—
Comes to my bed—
The never ending strife is on—
The race for bread—
So I arise and make my changeless way—
Unto the marts of busy men—
Alike each day—and never changing—
But yesterday as I went my way—
Among those bowed in sorrow—
I pointed to a clearing sky—
And said—"Tomorrow—
Your cares will surely disappear"—
And it is here—
But somewhere on its endless way—
It changed its name—became today—
And we must face it—
For though we offer it proud place—
No man has seen tomorrow's face—
Yet still we say—
As we go hopeful on our way—
"Tomorrow—
Will bring an end to pain and sorrow—
But when we rise—
To greet tomorrow's golden skies—
The skies are gray—
It is today—
An old man shuffles down the street—
With warping form—with sorry feet—
And hopeless eyes—
Save for the hope that ever lights—
Tomorrow's skies—
No friend holds out a warming hand—
An upright life has been his lot—
But those who filled his humble cot—
Are far away—
There's no tomorrow for him now—
It's just today—
Sad yesterdays now haunt his years—
Sad yesterdays—all filled with tears—
He's sad—alone—
No sin-spots fleck his honest heart—
Naught to atone—
How keen should this one be to fly—
Unto a home beyond the sky—
But no—he whispers in my ear today—
Tomorrow pain will fly away—
The hope that springs eternal—
Tomorrow will we flee from sin—
Tomorrow will our ship come in—
Tomorrow never comes—
For somewhere slyly on the way—
Tomorrow's name becomes today.

MAKING MONEY WITH HAND TOOLS.

The Romans used to have a temple in which money was coined. That temple was built in honor of the goddess Juno. Sometimes the Romans would call her Juno Moneta, and we get our word "money" from her second name.

The Anglo-Saxons of old England used to say "mynet" or "mynet" for money. From [illegible] we get "mint."

When coins were made with hand-tools, they were supposed to be worked, one in one. If you look closely you can see a scale in this picture.

comes our present word "mint," a place where money is made.

I once had the pleasure of going through a mint at Philadelphia. I saw all sorts of machinery which was used to make silver coins. The United States has "base" mints in several parts of the country, and all use machines.

In England at the time of Queen Elizabeth and Shakespeare there were no such machines. Money had to be made by hand.

One picture will give you a good idea of how coins were then put out. One man is to be seen at an anvil. He is hammering a piece of metal so it will be just the right thickness.

Another man is using some very large shears. He is cutting "blanks." At the right are two men who take the blanks and stamp images on them.

The rulers of different countries in Europe were in the habit of having their "pictures" put on the coins. They thought that would make people think them greater.

"WHERE does your cousin Blowgee live, Mister Treemax?" Raggedy Andy asked as he and Raggedy Ann and the Treemax walked through the deep, deep woods.

"Well, Sir!" the Treemax laughed. "You will be surprised when you see his home! For Cousin Blowgee's home is right wherever he takes off his hat!"

"But Mr Treemax! Do you mean to say that Cousin Blowgee, if he walks into anyone's house and takes off his hat that he lives there until he puts his hat on again?" Raggedy Ann asked.

The Treemax laughed. "Oh, no, Raggedy Ann! But Cousin Blowgee is a very peculiar creature. He doesn't look any more like me than I do like him and he wears a great, great big hat. Cousin Blowgee's hat is so large that it is hard for him to carry it around with him. When he takes off his hat, he just uses his hat for a house!"

"How strange!" the Raggedys exclaimed.

"Yes, it is strange!" the Treemax agreed. "But it is just as handy for the Blowgee to do that as it is for old Unk Turtle to carry his house around on his back all the time! Cousin Blowgee, however, is fixed a great deal better than old Mister Unk Turtle, 'cause Cousin Blowgee can take his hat off, and old Mister Turtle can not take off his house! Cousin Blowgee only uses his hat for business though, and it is really quite convenient. Just wait until you see it!"

After walking for five minutes, the Raggedys and the Treemax came to where a large hat stood upon the ground. In the hat was a little door and two little windows. And a little stove pipe stuck out of the top.

"Here's where Cousin Blowgee lives!" the Treemax said.

The Treemax and the Raggedys walked up to Cousin Blowgee's house hat and the Treemax knocked upon the door.

"How many?" a voice inside asked.

"Three!" the Raggedys both said together.

"With, or without mustard?" the voice inside asked.

Raggedy Ann looked at Raggedy Andy and Raggedy Andy looked at Raggedy Ann for they could not understand what Cousin Blowgee was talking about.

But they answered, "Without mustard!" for they knew that they did not have any mustard.

And while they stood and wondered, a little window opened and three hot weeny sandwiches were put out to them.

"Ha, ha, ha!" the Treemax laughed. "Come on out here, Cousin Blowgee, you have company!"

"Oh! It's Cousin Treemax!" the Blowgee cried. "I thought you were three customers and he started to take the hot weeny sandwiches away, but Raggedy Ann said "Please do not take the hot weeny sandwiches away, Cousin Blowgee, for Raggedy Ann and I [illegible] they knowed the Treemax has to eat hot weeny sandwiches good to eat, and Raggedy Ann wished for each to have a bottle of ice cold root beer to drink with the sandwiche. And that is how the Raggedys became acquainted with the Blowgee, cousin to the Treemax.

THREE HOT WEENY SANDWICHES WERE PUSHED OUT TO THEM.

ADVICE FROM HER DAD.

Jimmie Joseph Blaney was in love with Amy Gay.
Jim owed her daddy money and her daddy told him: "Pay!
Don't be a dummy, Jimmie, and expect to marry Amy
While owing me that money; you must pay me, Jimmie, pay me."

"You've got to do it, Jimmie boy, to be my Amy's beau;
You've got to cut the drinking out, and pay up as you go
I'll let no rummy owe me—now you know me, Jimmie Joe—
I'll let no rummy owe me, nor a dreamy romeo."

Listen, World!

EVERYONE likes fat, jolly Ellen Hughes, but if the authorities deport her because of Bolshevik tendencies some of these days, no one will be surprised. There's such a thing as making an actual vice of tolerance and good nature and all that sort of thing. Not of course that anyone doubts her love for Ed but . . . You see it's this way:

Ed and Ellen have been married for over 15 years, and it hasn't made any more impression on Ed than a gentle slap on a bunch o' dynamite. He's just as happy-go-lucky as he was at 20, and just as big a flirt. He rolls his eye at every pretty woman he meets. Sometimes he rolls it considerably more than once. There have been at least three near scandals. . . . .

And all this time Ellen just chuckles. If that man breaks her heart some day, she has herself to blame.

They were talking about it at the meeting of the Parents and Teachers' Association last week. Everyone knows how he has been carrying on with that Reynolds girl who teaches in the third grade.

"I feel I ought to tell Ellen, for her own good," said Miss Spencer. "Goodness knows, I'm no meddler but there are some things—"

So Miss Spencer told Ellen all about it, for her own good. And Ellen just laughed!

"I should worry!" grinned she, just as cheerfully as though the main thing about having a husband wasn't worry. "I've got enough to do without throwin' a fit every time Ed starts a new flirtation. Why, Ed can't any more help flirting than he can help eating strawberry shortcake. An' it doesn't mean any more with him. He's just made that way. Just the same as I'm scared of mice or can't resist chocolate creams even if my waist line is a perfect 48. It's the way we were born. Why shouldn't he smile if he wants to, or go around looking moon struck? It keeps him amused, and no harm's done.

"Sure—I used to get all worked up over it when we were first married, but I know better now. Fact is, I rather like it. He won't ever start growing old so long as he has these 16-year-old spells. And I'm a heap sight surer that he's staying with me because he really wants to than I would be if I raised Cain over his affairs."

Did you ever hear anything more insane? And the exasperating thing is that they're the happiest couple in our set!

(Copyright, 1923.)

I utter various nom de plumes, the following writer is venting his spleen against "the foreigner." His [illegible] however—he always uses the same brand of typewriter and the same brand of ignorant prejudice.

Dear Jerry:

Mr. "Harry Hare," was nearer right in his argument than your worst self. For instance, you refer to the German Slav. There is no such animal, to wit:

Slavs, (Slaves) or Slavonians, are an important branch of the Aryan family, which at present occupy large regions of Eurasia. The slavs show a closer alliance to the Lithuanian than to thte Germanic branch of the Aryan nations. In the early history of Europe they occupied the country tributary to the Carpathian Mountains. Subsequently they spread southward to the Adriatic and northward to the Baltic, and overran large parts of northern Asia. The two groups of slavs include the Western and the southeastern. The Poles, Czechs, and Sorbs are comprised in the western group, and the Bulgarians, Slavonians, Servians, and Croats in the south eastern. The total Slav population of Europe is estimated at 120,000,000.

So you see you did not in the least blow Mr R. P. Hare and his [illegible] in the water.

Also:

Anglo-Saxons, the name commonly applied to the people formed by an amalgamation of the Angles, Saxons, and other Germanic tribes, and who constitute the English, the Lowland Scotch, and a large portion of the present population of the United States. By far the greater number of tribes from whom the English-speaking descended and their seat in the northern part of Germany. The first of these came to Britain about the year 449. From Anglo-Saxon institutions have come many modern terms. Later the language was modified by the Danes, during the Danish supremacy from 1017 to 1042. Still later the Normans, a people of French-Germanic origin, conquered England and thus gave rise to a number of dialects. It was later developed into the modern English, with the help of Chaucer in the 14 century.

The Celts, we can hardly argue about for they are practically a people of no country, as they came from a [illegible] European or Aryan race. After spreading over large portions of Europe, they appear to have been driven into the British Isles by the Teutons, and succeeding waves of migratory people. They were eventually divided into other, and were originally a race of fanatical sun worshipers.

As to the Italians being black, just consult a map and notice their position in relation to Africa. It is common knowledge that the Italians are inter-married to a great extent with the black fishermen of [illegible] along that coast. Also, why do so many Italians have the thick lips and kinky hair of the nigger? I leave it to you.

"TRAVELER."

You are partly right in your statement concerning the Slavs, my friend but a little further reading of the encyclopedia would have helped you. There are three main branches not the Slav family, not two. My designation, "German Slavs" was a careless one. I referred to the Slavs from the territories adjacent to Germany, Slavs who, through assimilation, have become closely allied to German blood.

As a matter of fact, these classifications do not help our argument concerning immigration in the least. Such ethnological distinctions are lost in the movements of nations. Just as the term "Anglo-Saxon" has traveled far from its Germanic significance so has the term Slav become a loose distinction to be tested by language only.

But certain distinctions do still exist and should be respected. For instance, when you would admit the French and exclude the Italian on the score of blood you are committing an absurdity for the two races are the closest of blood kin. For the same reason you are being equally absurd when you call the Italian blood "black" because Italy faces a sea which also laps Africa. You might as well call American blood "black" because certain southerners intermarried with negroes, thus givin us a large number of mulattoes. There are Germans who are as dark as any Italian and Dutch who have [illegible] hair.

"No, "Traveler" you are trying to justify narrow prejudice by wise terms and it won't work. We do need selected immigrants. But we also need much improvement in our native stock. Ignorance within this country will ruin it quite as quickly as imported ignorance.

"SIS"—I didn't print your letter, sis, for folks are sometimes unkind enough to think I compose such praise myself. But I'm remembering every friendly word and thanking you for it. And I want you to write again. You have splendid ideals little Pal. Let's hear more of them.

G. S. I think your fears are largely unfounded, little girl. You are very wrong in not taking your trouble to a doctor. You need fear no shame or apprehension. It is very likely that the whole matter can be easily remedied—scarlet fever leaves strange results at times. Stop brooding over the trouble and take it at once to some sensible expert—not a quack but a good man. If you cannot do that, write and tell me more about it and perhaps I can find advice for you. Repeat the whole story when you do as I do not keep letters on file. I want to see that "no" changed to "yes."

"Berkeley" attained fame over night by a model budget in which four people lived for a week on $6, two of the people being growing children who need expensive little things like milk and eggs. Berkeley's children are very accommodating small folk however. They never break a leg, have a cold in the head or need to go to the dentist. Also they manage quite nicely on shoes at $1 per pair. However, when it comes to real consideration Berkeley's automobile holds all the records. That marvelous Elizabeth never sheds a tire, throws a fit in her battery or gets skittish with her spark plugs. Like Berkeley's wife she has all the domestic virtues. You'll remember that Berkeley's wife makes her own hair nets. Probably Lizzie drops in and puts a cunning little patch on her own inner tube while wifie knits the net. What a happy home!

Dear Geraldine:

After reading Berkeleyans reply [illegible] a couple of nights ago, I just can't help letting off a little steam or I am afraid I'll bust [illegible] conclusion that he is either a myth or else he handles the truth mighty careless, so let me ask him a few questions:

Mr. Berkeleyan you very wise old Solomon, what makes you so positive that your children wont suffer any broken arms or legs. Even Christian Scientists aren't immune from broken limbs, I know for I've seen it done.

do you buy shoes for children for $1, seems to me they must be soft soles No 0. You know it isn't only the little baby that has to wear shoes.

One more question and I'm done, what does girlie feed a family of four on that she can do it for only $6 per week, please come forward and give us your menu for a week. One hundred per cent of Oakland's housewives would surely like to know, as we don't any of us believe it can be done, that is if you really eat. I don't mean to just barely exist.

I have been keeping house for 20 years and have been trying very hard to beat the game, but I find no matter how I try I cannot bring my budget down. Our family of four eat a good deal more than $6 per week not counting meat and milk.

So if you will tell us how it is done, I am sure there will be a lot of grateful women in Oakland that are losing sleep trying to make the money stretch.

OLD TIMER.

Bankers Tell How Rio Grande is to be "Brought Back"

BUSINESS TAKING UPWARD OUTLOOK IN PHILIPPINES

Post-War Financial Debacle of Sugar Industry Is Righting Itself.

Following a period of two stagnant years, consequent upon post-war deflated values, all business in the Philippines is now taking an upward trend and the outlook is most promising, says the Mercantile Trust Company.

The balance of trade is now in favor of the Philippines, development of the Islands is being resumed, and new productive industries are being started.

The financial debacle that overwhelmed the sugar milling industry when the bottom fell out of the world sugar market two years ago has left a few scars and difficulties, and the final disposal of the "centrals," or factories then constructed, is a problem still unsettled. Conditions seemed to indicate, however, that centrals and all will somehow pull through and the main fact in that connection is that the plantations and the centrals are now working on a good market.

SUGAR MILL TROUBLE.

When everything was booming, and the world demand for such products as copra, hemp and sugar was at its sharpest, the Filipinos launched out to meet the emergency and, among other things, erected suitable centrals at strategic spots in the plantation district for the rapid production of sugar.

These were purchased when prices of machinery and everything else were inflated to bursting point. The machinery was paid for and the construction work performed with borrowed money. When the bottom fell out of the sugar market, and the world demand for hemp and copra subsided, the promoters of these sugar centrals and other enterprises could not meet their obligations. They were utterly ruined. Many of the mills then hurriedly rushed to completion, regardless of cost, have never turned a wheel.

All of these enterprises, the up-to-date sugar centrals, equipped for the rapid, complete, and economic production of cane sugar adjacent to the sources of supply, were the most costly and apparently destined to be the most beneficent from a productive point of view. Their promoters were completely ruined. They abandoned their over-financed investments and left to those who had advanced the funds the work of maintaining the centrals, in the face of the debacle, or allowing them to rot, and thus bring desolation to the sugar planters as well as to the speculative manufacturers.

"CENTRALS" IN CHAOS.

Out of this disastrous financial chaos developed the Philippine Sugar Centrals Agency which took over control of the abandoned centrals and operated them as well as circumstances would allow for the benefit of the creditors.

Difficulties have arisen over the disposal of the centrals administered by this agency, and those difficulties are not yet past. Proposals for their sale to the growers on the time payments system were put forward. No policy in the premises seems to have been adopted, or presently to exist, but the centrals are jogging along somehow, and turning out fine, marketable sugar. If prices hold up and existing sales conditions prevail a year or so longer the whole tangle will be unraveled.

NEW COMPANY WILL TAKE OVER ENTIRE PROPERTY

Missouri Pacific and Western Pacific to Divide Equities After Debts.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Announcement of the details of the plan of reorganization of the Denver and Rio Grande Western railway system was outlined today by Kuhn, Loeb and Company and the Equitable Trust company.

Under the plan the $31,114,000 outstanding refunding bonds of the Denver and Rio Grande and the $10,000,000 adjustment bonds are to be exchanged for new general mortgage 5 per cent bonds bearing interest from February 1, 1924, and maturing in 1955, and new 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock at the rate of $725 of general mortgage bonds and $400 preferred stock for each $1000 principal amount of refunding bonds with the coupon maturing February 1, 1923, and subsequent coupons, or for each $1000 adjustment bond with the coupons of October 1, 1921, and subsequent coupons.

DIVISION OF CONTROL.

Preferred stock will have no voting power but no merger, consolidation sale or lease as an entirety, or any mortgage or guaranty of securities of other railroads or any increase of the preferred stock or any issue of other stock on a parity with or having preference over the preferred stock can be made without the consent of the holders of two-thirds of the preferred stock. The plan provides also for the creation of a preferred stockholders committee of three members.

The common stock of the new company is to be vested equally in the Missouri Pacific and the Western Pacific.

Provision is made for financing future improvements, extensions and other capital requirements and for refunding underlying bonds, but it was said no issue is contemplated for the immediate future.

The new company is to receive $10,000,000 in cash for which no securities other than common stock are to be issued, the funds to be used to make payments contemplated by the plan of reorganization, including provision for immediate capital requirements.

STOCK TRANSFER.

The re-organized company is to acquire the property now subject to the refunding mortgage and adjustment mortgage of the Denver and Rio Grande Western and also the other property of the company. The capital stock of the Utah Fuel company, subject to the pledge of such stock under the first consolidated mortgage of the Rio Grande Western Railway company is to be vested in trustees.

Dividends on the stock of the Utah Fuel company are to be paid to the new company except that whenever the new company shall have paid all accrued dividends and provided for current dividends on its preferred stock, the Utah Fuel dividends are to be paid to the Missouri Pacific and the Western Pacific, which are to be equal owners of the equity in said stock. Kuhn, Loeb and Company and the Equitable Trust company, as reorganization managers, made the plan public. It was stated that the plan, of course, is subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission and that stockholders of the Western Pacific would be called into special meeting to ratify the plan.

Refunding bonds and adjustment bonds of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad company may be deposited under the plan on or before August 1, 1923, with the depositories of the bond holders committees approving the plan.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Buying on the part of previous sellers turned wheat upward in price today during the early dealings. Estimates that the probable yield in wheat in Europe this season had been curtailed 25,000,000 bushels as a result of recent extreme cold weather had some bullish influence. For the most part, however, opinions apparently continued to lean to the bear side of the market. Opening prices which varied from unchanged figures to 1c higher with September $1.04 to $1.04⅜ and December $1.07¼ to $1.07½ were followed by slight further gains and then a somewhat sharp setback.

Corn and oats were firmer in the absence of any decided pressure to sell. After opening at ⅛c off to ⅜c up, September 77¾ to 78c, the corn market scored material upturns all around before beginning to react.

Oats started unchanged to a shade higher, September 37⅝ 37½c to 37¾c. Later all months showed a little advance.

In the provision market firmness of grains counted out the effect of lower quotations on hogs.

GOVERNMENT IN RAIL CONTROL SEEN AS MENACE

Head of Baldwin Company Declares Everybody Should Work to Prevent It.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Government ownership of the railroads would be a catastrophe, according to an address prepared by Samuel Vauclain, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, in whose absence it was read today before the Association of Commerce by Grafton Greenough, vice-president of the Baldwin works.

"Everything should be done by those who are interested in the welfare of our country to prevent such a catastrophe as government ownership of railroads," the statement said.

Julius Barnes, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, another speaker, declared that the railroads are making good their statement that with fair revenues they would supply service and the result is a decrease in agitation for government ownership. Efforts in Europe to get rid of government ownership after many years of experiment, also tended to a change in public temper, he added.

Last Mile of Alaskan Railway Track Is Laid

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Laying of the last mile of track on the Alaskan railroad will be completed this week, permitting immediate through passenger and freight traffic without change of cars between Seward and Fairbanks.

Construction of the 470 miles of railroad between the two terminals, the Department of the Interior said in an announcement today of the road's completion, will have taken exactly nine years, three months and five days. The department held this to be a "remarkable achievement considering the character of the country and the delay caused by the intervention of the world war."

The average cost of construction per mile was said to have been approximately $84,000.

RAILROAD EQUIPMENT.

SHARON, Pa., June 21.—The Standard Tank Car company has promised to deliver 1000 box cars of forty-ton capacity to Ford Motor Company during September, October and November. The company has enough orders today to keep its plant busy the remainder of the year.

Run of Chinook Salmon Is Light

PORTLAND, June 21.—Chinook salmon canneries along the Columbia river have had such a light supply of raw material that the majority of packers are able to operate only two or three days a week. The price of fish is 18c a pound, with a ½c tonnage tax and delivery charges, which makes the price to the connery 21@21½c. This does not allow for the loss in weight which occurs between the time the fish is caught and when it is delivered to the cannery after a forty-mile average haul by boat. Trolled fish are scarce. Bluebacks are of high quality, good color and oil, but instead of the early estimates of 35,000 cases now 20,000 cases, or even 15,000 cases, are expected.

Java Attracts Investment of British Money

Tea and Rubber Estates Reported to Be in Demand From Londoners.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—It is reported on good authority that British interests are investing heavily in Java tea and rubber estates, says a cable to the Department of Commerce.

Banks have not released their vigilance but credit conditions in Batavia are more liberal. Wholesale prices of steel and other imported goods, with the exception of textiles, are higher. Prices of export products are in keeping with world markets. There is little produce speculation and the Batavia share market is quiet. Realty values are approaching a position pro-[illegible] Native living costs are decreasing with lower rice prices. There is satisfactory activity in small dwelling construction.

East and central Java districts are experiencing considerable labor unrest. On May 8, the entire native railroad personnel participated in a strike. Several freight cars are tied up, but passengers continue on schedule. The government is making careful preparations for control, including military guard of both private and government lines, and there is general confidence that the strike will be limited to short duration. There is no labor unrest in West Java.

Pineapple Prices Raised 25 Per Cent

HONOLULU, June 21.—(By Associated Press).—Increases in the prices which the large pineapple canners in Hawaii will ask for their pack this year are expected to raise the territory's gross revenue from this commodity from $19,000,000 the amount in 1922, to approximately $24,255,000, it has been estimated.

The increases, announced already by the Hawaiian Pineapple Company, the largest packers of the commodity, and the Pearl City Fruit Company, one of the smaller concerns, average about 25 per cent. They are made necessary, according to the firms' announcements, because of the increase of the prices of sugar, cans, boxes, and the raw pineapples. The price advances approximate 50 cents a case of one dozen cans.

$269 Per Ton Ore Delights Prospectors

KING CITY, June 21.—The "New York," a gold mine near Gorda, Los Burros mining district, is destined to make its owners, J. F. Harbolt, W. D. Cruikshank and Jim Krenkel, independently wealthy in the near future, it is believed here. After working the property more than twenty years with varying success, the three men announce that they have struck, at the end of a 439-foot tunnel, and [illegible] taining gold sulphide ore as well as a considerable quantity of free gold. The find averages $269 to the ton. The ledge is said to be from ten inches to a foot wide.

APRICOT CROP IS PROVING PUZZLE TO PRODUCERS

Many Growers Say Returns Will Not Justify Picking; Persian Melons Here.

This was butchers and grocers picnic day and in consequence the wholesale produce market did little but mark time. Reports from the country indicate that large quantities of apricots will not be picked owing to the congested market and limited cannery demand. A sidelight on the situation is that the unusually big crop means that a great portion of the fruit is small in size, growers not going to the expense of thinning. The canneries are refusing to accept any fruit that will not average 12 to the pound. As a result a large percentage is out of the canning market and must be either dried or sold fresh to the retailers. Hence the growers in many cases are letting the fruit go to waste, the prices not justifying picking, packing and shipping charges.

Melons are arriving from the Imperial Valley in large quantities. The first carload of Persians was reported today by Sam Herman. The Hunt Hatch people had a consignment of Honeydews. The late spring has aided the melon crop as far as quality goes. The fruit has matured and grown to larger size than usual before being picked, especially the cantaloupes.

Peaches will be less plentiful by about 10,000,000 bushels this year, judging from the forecast of condition on June 1, according to the fruit and vegetable review of the federal bureau of agricultural economics, issued today in Chicago. Spring frosts generally delayed the early peach crop picking and damaged the fruit but a fairly good crop of the late varieties is anticipated. The total peach crop is estimated at 46,525,000 bushels.

Georgia probably will have a million bushels more than last year, but California's output probably will be 2,500,000 bushels less than the large 1922 crop. A short crop also is predicted for the Carolinas, Arkansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Colorado. New York's crop will also not equal that of last year.

In expectation of the broadening of the season with heavier supplies, declines in price were noted in most consuming centers. Closing prices in Boston for the week ending June 18 ranged from $1.25 to $2 a bushel for Georgia early varieties, and the top price was $2.75 at Pittsburgh.

Congress May Put Crusher On 'Wildcats'

WASHINGTON, June 21.—(By International News Service.)—Legislation to prohibit dealing in stocks, bonds and agricultural products by companies without financial backing adequate will be introduced in the next Congress, it was announced here this afternoon by Senator Dial, Democrat of South Carolina.

Dial did not outline the details of the plan, but declared he sought a method to stop "bucket-shop" operation and to protect investors and farmers.

NEW SCANDALS HOURLY FEARED IN WALL STREET

Many Brokers May Be Compelled to Shut Shop Pending Legal Investigation.

NEW YORK, June 21—Supreme Court Justice Wasservogel today signed two orders temporarily enjoining the stock brokerage firms of W. W. Weese & Company and J. H. Dube & Company from bucketing or otherwise engaging in fraudulent stock transactions.

NEW YORK, June 21.—(By International News Service)—William Silkworth, president of the consolidated stock exchange, who has been under fire as the result of the failures of E. M. Fuller & Company, and the brokerage concerns of Ruskay & McMasters, this afternoon announced his resignation just as the market closed. Such action had been foreshadowed since testimony brought out at referee hearings of the defunct concerns that Silkworth had approved the financial status of the bankrupt firms only a short time before they went into receivership.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Wall street waited today for the explosion of another bomb—perhaps several of them.

The chief explosive was expected when Deputy Attorney-General John Dwyer of New York has carried out his announced intention of asking injunctions compelling many stock brokers who have been under investigation to shut up shop for alleged fraudulent practices.

Dwyer refused to tell the names of the brokers he has under investigation or the number that might be hit under his combustible.

The New York Stock Exchange firm of Zimmerman & Forshay failed yesterday.

Seymour L. Cromwell, president of the exchange said the failure could have been averted if the firm had had more time to negotiate a loan.

The firm announced its liabilities at approximately $7,000,000 and assets at $9,000,000.

Dwyer, who has conducted an investigation of various broker houses, as a result of which the injunctions will be sought, said he was loath to continue his inquiry unless the brokers could be made to sign waivers of immunity.

BANK POOL TALKED OF.

The New York Stock Exchange is considering a banking pool to assist embarrassed firms to obtain loans on slow assets in case of inconvenience through renewed liquidation by investors and speculators.

[illegible] exchange firms, it is said, will be asked to contribute to the pool in a general move to support the market and restore public confidence.

Zimmerman & Forshay was the largest money-changing house in Wall street and one of its members John S. Scully, long has been regarded as a foremost authority on foreign moneys. For years the firm's quotations on silver were accepted as official in the financial district.

President Cromwell in his interview with more than fifty reporters who swarmed into his office this afternoon, expressed surprise at the failure.

An important development today was suspension for a year by the New York curb market of one member and expulsion of another.

Benjamin Alexander was the member expelled. A. B. Morley of A. B. Borley & Co., was suspended.

Alexander was expelled for "an act inconsistent with the curb's principles of trading."

Morley was suspended for "an act detrimental to the best interests of the exchange."

Alexander was conected with the house of J. Schneck.

BANK POOL TALKED OF.

NEW YORK, June 21—Formation of a banking pool to assist brokerage and banking firms likely to be inconvenienced by the widespread uneasiness of investors and speculators through the two large stock exchange failures since Saturday [illegible]

Street. Seymour L. Cromwell, president of the exchange told reporters that he had heard such a suggestion but did not know whether it had passed the discussion stage.

Cromwell said that the failure of Zimmerman and Forshay could have been averted if the firm had had more time to negotiate a loan on its frozen credits in which, he said, several banking firms would [illegible]

Thomas Cochran, a member of J. P. Morgan and Company, disclosed the story of the frantic efforts members of the firm had made to induce the Morgan house to come to the rescue.

Cochran, who had been out Tuesday night, reached his home shortly before midnight to find that repeated telephone calls had been made for him. In a few minutes the telephone rang again and a member of the firm begged him for a midnight conference at which he would "look into the picture," as he expressed it.

MORGAN AID SOUGHT.

He declined, saying he would be glad to talk it over at his office yesterday morning but before the hour set for the conference, the Zimmerman and Forshay condition had become so critical that Morgan and Company decided it could do nothing.

The firm had been subjected to a run since Monday, when rumors were circulated that it was about to follow the trail blazed last week by the now bankrupt exchange house of Knauth, Nachod and Kuhne which like Zimmerman and Forshay did a large banking business and trade in German exchange and letters of credit in addition to its brokerage line.

Handicapped by the frozen condition of more than $1,000,000 in assets impounded by the alien property custodian during the war, the firm tried to negotiate a loan on the basis of that claim, but failed. The crisis came when the National Bank of Commerce, with which the firm kept its principal account, suspended certification of its checks. News of this action augmented the run on the firm.

Anaconda Will Buy National Conduit

NEW YORK June 21—Acquisition of the National Conduit & Cable Company by the Anaconda Copper Mining Company was seen as a possibility when it was revealed that Anaconda was the "outside interest" which made an offer of $70 for the company's outstanding bonds. The offer has been accepted by more than 60 per cent of the bondholders.

With approximately $1,165,700 of National Conduit bonds outstanding, Anaconda's offer is equivalent to about $2,000,000 for the issue. The total cost of the property if taken over, it is estimated, will be $3,000,000.

SURVEY FOR SITE FOR POWER BEING MADE BY U. S.

Results Expected to Show the Need of Reclassification of Public Domain.

WASHINGTON, June 20—Complete inventory of the water power resources of the public land states with a view to determining the possibility of developing additional power is being prepared by the interior department.

Public lands reserved for use in connection with power sites and shown to be without power value will be recommended for restoration to entry. Lands that may be used in connection with power sites but that are well adapted for other uses will be recommended for restoration to entry with a reservation of the right of the government or its permittees to use them as power sites. Public lands that are found to be valuable as power sites and that are not already reserves will be classified as power site lands and withdrawn from entry.

The program for the 1923 field season includes:

Oregon—300 miles of Rogue river and tributaries will be mapped and surveys of dam sites will be made.

Northern California and Oregon—Survey of Klamath river from Keno, Ore., to its mouth will be completed, involving 190 miles of additional surveys.

BUSINESS and FINANCE

By H. S. SCOTT.

Wall street woke today with that "dark brown taste" in its mouth following the staggers in prices that fell on the heels of the $17,000,000 failure of Forshay and Zimmerman yesterday. The air was filled with rumors of more failures to come and at noon there were reports that one serious collapse was almost a certainty. Heads of the big exchanges, however, believed that the worst was over.

Meanwhile, Edward M. Fuller, confessed "bucketeer," is still in Ludlow street jail because he refuses to tell the court what became of the proceeds of his failure. He will not be permitted to start serving his regular term of one to four years in Sing Sing until he tells investigations of the activities of Wall street firms, which recently failed, are under way. Attorney General Sherman also has squads at work, ready to raid any brokers caught bucketing.

Prices were considerably mixed at the opening of the stock market. Support was evident in some of the influential shares, U. S. Steel, Baldwin, American Can and American Locomotive rising one to 1¾, with Utah Copper and American Express gaining 3. On the other hand liquidation was apparent in some of the low-priced oils, motor accessory shares and in active specialties which were off from one to two points.

Secondary operations showed a more stable movement of prices, buying becoming more general when it was perceived that liquidation was not resumed in important stocks. Many of the weak issues at the outset moved up smartly later, particularly General Asphalt. The creation of many new low prices for the year in yesterday's decline attracted what is known as "bargain hunters" and their offers coming into competition with short covering operations ran up prices of many shares to a noteworthy extent during the first thirty minutes. Foreign exchanges opened lower, demand sterling being off ¼ at $4.61½. French francs off 3 at 6.21 cents and German marks falling back to .000⅞ cents.

[illegible] today apparently exceeded the greatest expectations of the bear faction and when the list showed evidence of concerted support at the outset today, shorts scrambled to get stocks. The recovery was utilized later to some extent to dispose of weakly margined stocks which were awaiting a rally, but these offerings had scarcely any influence on the balance of the list except to cause some restriction in buying toward noon. Call money opened at 5 per cent.

Speculation was feverish in the mid-afternoon. While the action of the market demonstrated that the recent general liquidations had ceased, enough weak spots cropped out to puzzle traders as to the immediate course of prices. Chandler, Consolidated Gas, Southern Pacific, Gulf States Steel, Famous Players, American Woolen and Standard Oil of New Jersey were among the leading shares which were quoted at new low prices for the year.

The closing was strong. Encouraged by their success in turning the course of prices upward, bull operators became more aggressive in the final hour, many of the leaders touching their highest prices of the day. Studebaker, Baldwin and American Can were up 3½ to 4 points.

Bond prices paid little heed to the slight improvement in stocks in the early dealings today. Declines of from 1 to nearly 3 points being common. U. S. government issues held fairly firm and there were also a few other exceptions to the downward trend. Chile 7's moved up 1, while Marseilles 6's, Mexican 4's and 5's, Brazil 7's and 8's, French 8's, Dumerican 7's and Czecho-Slovakian 8's each dropped 1. Bolivia 8's fell off 2½ points. Denver & Rio Grande refunding 5's gained 1 on announcement of reorganization plans, but more than a dozen other railroad mortgages declined a point or more.

Cerro de Pasco 8's gained 3 and American Telephone & Telegraph convertible 6's and Montana Power 5's each advanced 1.

BIG U. S. TRADE WITH AUSTRALIA SEEN FOR YEAR

Southern Commonwealth Outlook Bright, With Wool At High Prices.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Several features of the Australian situation combine to justify the belief that 1923 will be a prosperous trade year. Wool is bringing excellent prices, says the Department of Commerce, and indications are favorable for their continuance. Improvement is expected in the meat industry. The export of metals is increasing. It is believed that money will be easier and that interest rates will be reduced during the year.

The position of the United States in Australian trade is favorable, especially with regard to machinery and automotive vehicles, and to a lesser degree with agricultural implements. The year 1922 was a banner year for American automobiles. The United States holds first place in Australian imports of automobiles, hardware, miscellaneous iron stores, and surgical, scientific and musical instruments, and second place in iron and steel imports, although with the Newcastle Steel Works again in operation the importation of these commodities may register more or less of a decline. Other import lines in which the United States holds a strong position are kerosene and gasoline, lubricating oils, linoleum and oilcloth, patent and enamelled leather, and arms and ammunition. Over 90 per cent of the motion picture films shown in Australia are imported from the United States.

The two dangers threatening the country are labor disturbances and continued drought. The refusal of labor to accept a reduction in wages to meet changed conditions is the outstanding feature of the labor situation

IMPORTANT GOOD WILL AND TRADE TRIP TO ARCTIC

Business Men of Oakland and Bay to Visit Alaska and Siberian Ports.

One of the most comprehensive good will cruises and trade excursions in which Oakland merchants and business men have had the opportunity of participating will shortly be made into the Arctic. The steamer Buford, operated by the Alaskan Siberian Navigation Company, will carry the trade excursionists into the north. The party of approximately 150 from Oakland, San Francisco and other Central California points in the vicinity of San Francisco bay, will leave here July 20 and will be away forty days. During that time the most important points of Alaska and eastern Siberia will be visited. The Crabtree Ageincy of this city has charge of arrangements for the east side of the bay and the remainder of central California.

Already the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce has announced its intention of sending a strong delegation to represent it. P. E. Crabtree expects the Oakland Chamber to follow suit.

"This is without a question of doubt one of the most important trade expeditions to leave California, and I am anxious to see Oakland well represented," he stated. "We have plans made not only to visit the various points of interest but have secured permission also to land on the Pribiloff islands, where the great seal rookery is located. The mining country will be visited and the trade envoys will be given every opportunity to see every phase of the industrial and agricultural development of the country. We will go as far north as the ice pack, which will be in the vicinity of Point Barrow. Several calls will be made on the Siberian coast. There will also be inland trips, so that those making the excursion will be enabled to see everything worth while."

The entire cruise will total 8316 miles. The route will include a short stop at Seattle, a [illegible] Prince Rupert Sound to Ketchikan, to Wrangell Narrows, Taku Glacier, Juneau, Skagway, and by the White Pass and Yukon Railroad to White Horse and the Klondike. From Skagway the Buford will continue through Lynn Canal, across Chatham Sound to Sitka, Cordova, and the Copper River district, Anchorage, Kodiak, Cold Bay oil fields, Lighthouse Rocks rookeries, Dutch Harbar, Unalaska, Bogoslof Island, Pribiloff Islands, Cape Chaplin and Anadir in Siberia. At Lawrence Island reindeer statalon, Nome, and north to the ice pack. The return will call at East Cape, Siberia, Nome, Norton Sound, St. Michael's Akutan Island whaling stations, across Gulf of Alaska to Seattle and to San Francisco, arriving on August 29.

A. C. Anderson, general traffic manager of the Alaskan Siberian Navigation Company, is co-operating with Crabtree and L. J. Calender of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce in perfecting the excursion.

ALICE A HAS STORMY VOYAGE ON COAST TRIP

Gale Hits the Little 50-Foot Craft On Way to the Honolulu Races.

The auxiliary power ketch Alice A, built at the yards of W. F. Stone & Son, in East Oakland, has arrived in San Pedro after an unusually heavy trip of four days through stormy seas which seriously disabled larger sailing craft. Word of the arrival of the little 50-foot vessel was received from her owner, Captain W. F. Meyer, by Lester Stone, her designer.

When the storm struck the boat she was north of Santa Barbara. Before the crew could take in the mainsail the wind had done the job for them. This aside from the loss of a small amount of deck gear, was the only damage. The same blow sent the French schooner Northtown into Gaviota so badly disabled that she had to be towed here.

The Alice A is a new type of sailing boat. She carries her deck flush to the cockpit with a break amidships to stow the small boats in safety while at sea. She is 50 foot long, has a 14-foot beam and a draft of 6 feet. There is an abundance of cabin space, a large galley, and ample room for ship stores. The boat is powered with a marine gas engine located under the bridge deck. Power plant also includes a Delco light unit.

[illegible] that the Alice A did not remain longer in this vicinity so that they might have a better chance to study her qualities. She had to proceed south, however, to enter the California-Honolulu race.

Notice to Mariners

Rocks, Yaquina Bay Entrance.—The following rocks have been discovered at the entrance to Yaquina Bay:

A rock over which there is a least depth of 7 feet at low water, in the South Channel, about 80 yards 172° from South Channel Buoy 26.

This rock makes navigation of South Channel more difficult and local knowledge is absolutely necessary. The shoal from the bar extends about 350 yards southward from Inside Bar Buoy 3, recently moved.

A rock over which there is a least depth of 10 feet at low water in the fairway, 93 yards 360° from the outer end of the south jetty.

This rock is practically in midchannel and until it can be properly marked or removed it would appear safe for vessels to follow the northern half of the channel at this point.

Buoys, Cathlamet Bay, Columbia River.—On May 12, 1923, the following buoys were established in Cathlamet Bay in approximately lat. 46° 12′ N., lon. 123° 46′ W.

Naval Base Buoy 1, a third-class spar, in 12 feet of water, on the eastern side of the channel to Naval Base, on the bearings:
Prairie Channel Light ....117°
Tongue Point Light ....259° 30′
Tongue Point Crossing Light 350° 30′

Naval Base Buoy 3, a third-class spar, in 15 feet of water, on the eastern side of the channel to Naval Base, on the bearings:
Prairie Channel Light....110°
Tongue Point Light ....282°
Tongue Point Crossing ....359° 30′

Naval Base Beacon 2, a post with red triangular daymark 9 feet above the water, on a rock on the western side of the channel to Naval Base, on the bearings:
Tongue Point Crossing Light 8° 30′
[illegible]
Tongue Point Light ....280°

In calibrating the radio-compass stations of the Thirteenth Naval District, in January, 1923, certain changes were made in the calibrated arcs. The present sectors of each station in the district are as follows:

Empire—230° clockwise to 10°, an increase from 0° to 10°.

Fort Stevens—175° clockwise to 335°. The extension of 10° in the south sector covers indentation in tion and Tillamook Head. The extension to 335° on the northern limit of the sector cannot be considered permanent until it is determined whether North Head, where this headland intervenes between the ship and compass station, has an effect on the bearings in the sector concerned.

Kilpsan Beach (formerly Ocean Park).—195° clockwise to 310°.

Tatoosh—180° clockwise to 90°. The southern limit of the sector was increased to 180° to provide service for shipping proceeding clockwise southward to Cape Flattery. The calibration in the arc from 180° to 235° showed certain defects, which have been provided for by directing that vessels given bearings in this sector be notified, "Doubtful sector—possible error, plus or minus 5°." This will enable vessels to choose the error which will give the most unfavorable position and then to steer accordingly. This warning makes allowance for possible errors in calibration due to erratic deviation and will permit vessels to know their position with sufficient accuracy to enable them to change course to seaward if necessary.

New Dugeness—240° clockwise to 110°. Excellent calibration and bearings within the sectors given should be accurate.

Smith Island — Complete circle. Excellent calibration, and bearings in any direction from Smith Island will probably be accurate.

Cattle Point—120° clockwise to 280°. Excellent calibration, and bearings in sector will probably be accurate.

Soapstone Point—[illegible] clockwise to 50°. Good calibration.

Cape Hinchinbrook—110° clockwise to 294°. Good calibration.

Personnel.—Personnel are under instruction at all of the above stations, and the stations will be available for service to ships as soon as operators are considered qualified to give accurate bearings. As they should receive considerable instruction in general operating previous stations, it is probable that they will be qualified within three months. Until qualified, the stations will continue in their present status.

Tatoosh and Fort Stevens, continuous watch; experienced operators available for service to ships whenever required.

Puget Sound Group, Cattle Point, Smith Island, and New Dungeness available for bearings during thick weather when navigation by the usual visual aids is difficult.

Kilpsan Beach and Empire, operators under instruction.

Commencement of service when operators are qualified.

Lights, San Rafael Entrance, San Francisco Bay.—On May 29, 1923, San Rafael Creek Entrance Cut Buoy 2, a second class nun, was established, in 9 feet of water, at the entrance to the dredged cut leading into San Rafael Creek in approximately lat. 37° 58′ N., long. 122° 30′ W.

The buoy was moored about 50 feet northward of the northern edge of the dredged channel, on the bearings:
Point San Pedro, right tangent 31°
East Brother Island Light Station ....31°
Point San Quentin wharf, south light ....199°

On June 1, 1923, San Rafael Creek Entrance Range Lights, each fixed white of 160 candlepower, were established to mark the center line of the dredged channel [illegible] above high water, from a single pole structure with triangular shaped daymark, vertex up, painted white, located 6125 yards 275° from East Brother Island Light Station.

The rear light is exhibited 19 feet above high water from a single pole structure with triangular-shaped daymark, vertex down, painted white, located 490 yards 293° from the front light.

New York Slue West End Light and Echo Board, San Francisco Bay.—On June 6, 1923, New York Slue West End Light and Echo Board was rebuilt, at low water mark, 25 yards 343° 30′ from its former position in approximately lat. 38° 02′ 30″ N., lon. 121° 53′ W., without other change.

The old structure was removed.

Buoy, Main Channel, San Francisco Harbor Approach.—On June 1, 1923, Temporary Inside Bar Buoy, a first-class can with black and white vertical stripes, was established, in 9 fathoms of water, 285 yards 180° from the position of Inside Bar Gas and Whistle Buoy, which is missing from its station in approximately lat. 37° 46′ 50″ N., lon. 122° 34′ 40″ W.

Light, Ilwaco Channel, Columbia River Entrance.—On June 1, 1923, Ilwaco Channel Light No. 1 in approximately lat. 46° 17′ N., lon. 124° 01′ W., was renumbered 2 and the color of the structure changed to red without other change.

Shilshole Bay Outer Light Station, Puget Sound—Pending the installation of the new light and fog signal apparatus at Shilshole Bay Outer Light Station, a flashing white light (every 5 seconds, flash 2.3 second, eclipse 2.7 seconds), is exhibited on the new structure located 105 yards 122° 30′ from its former position, in approximately lat. [illegible] 122° 24′ 15″ W.

Experiments in Concrete Boats On the Columbia

Japanese Sailors Get Reward for Bravery in Rescue At Sea.

SEATTLE, June 21.—Captain Harry W. Crosby, a Puget Sound mariner and vessel owner, left tonight for Astoria to direct the operation of towing a concrete barge to Seattle. The stone craft is to be used in local waters. This barge is one of five built on the Columbia river when concrete marine construction was considered promising. Three of the craft sank two years ago when an attempt was made to tow them to San Francisco. Captain Crosby expressed confidence that he would get his tow to Puget Sound.

For service to Puget Sound the Far East steamship West Catron has been assigned by the shipping board to the Admiral Oriental line. The West Catron which is to come from San Francisco will replace the West Nitus, which requires repairs.

Details of the rescue of 27 men from the German freighter Otto Fischer in the bay of Biscay by the Nippon Yusen Kaisha steamship Hakogaki Maru were received here today. The Nippon Yusen Kaisha gave gold watches to the officers participating in the rescue and silver watches to the men engaged. The Otto Fischer sank. A heavy sea ran throughout the Hakogaki's exploit.

The Queen of the Pacific Steamship Company, which today left for Southeastern Alaska, carried 208 excursionists among her 280 passengers. In previous seasons 100 has been a large excursionist passenger list.

The Victoria of the Alaska Steamship Company, on her first voyage of the season into far northern waters, turned for Seattle last night after touching at several points on Norton Sound. The Latouche of the same fleet, which left here today to load explosives at DuPont and then proceed north, will penetrate Kotzebue Sound.

FEW U. S. VESSELS PRODUCE PROFIT, SAYS CAPTAIN

American Marine Laws Are Blamed by Officer for Condition.

RICHMOND, June 21.—Few American freighters pay interest on the investment these days, according to Captain C. H. Bruun of the steamship Las Vegas of the Swayne-Hoyt line, which docked at the Richmond municipal docks yesterday. He explained as the reason that the American shipping laws, aimed at throwing precautions around shipping, compel so much larger crews at such heavier scales of wages than foreign competitors that it is almost impossible to make American ships pay.

The Las Vagas is en route home to Australia and will touch at both New Zealand and the Philippines. She is loaded with lumber and also is taking on a part cargo of oils. It is one of the larger steamers which dock at the Richmond wharf, being 425 feet long and of 5400 gross tons capacity. It carries a crew of 37 men.

The Las Vegas is one of the newest pattern boats, being built since the war. It is but three years old. Coming out the ship was compelled to travel with a very light cargo as the coal mines of Australia, which usually furnish much of the shipping, were hampered on account of a strike among coal operatives.

This strike of the coal miners in Australia is a serious one, Captain Brunn reports, as it has affected two-thirds of the coal miners who have walked off the job and are financed to continue the strike. There is little prospect that the strike may help the United States coal production as Japan is planning on supplying the shortage caused by the strike of the Australian miners, according to reports.

What's Happening in the MOTOR WORLD

by Jim Houlihan

The committee in charge of the Studebaker picnic to be given on Sunday, the twenty-fourth, by the Wever Wells Co., have chosen Ramona park as the most suitable location for the picnic grounds. The park is near San Ramona, along the Walnut Creek-Dublin Road, and guests proceeding there independently of the main body will have no difficulty in finding the spot, as signs are to be placed prominently along the road to guide them.

With the decision rendered by their vice-president, Eb. Wells, that the establishment shall close down and all members be free to attend, there departed the only blot upon the horizon. A general undercurrent of activity prevails; the athletic ones are to be seen o'nights in scanty attire, running down Broadway getting in to form for the races, and a certain few who fancy their powers as public speakers are also preparing.

It is expected that there will be a party of about two hundred and fifty guests from the San Francisco organization, headed by Chester Weaver and the entire body of executives and the local committee is intent on showing these visitors what can be done by a bunch of real Oaklanders.

Details of the special features of the entertainment are not yet published, the only authoritative statement yet issued being to the effect that the picnic will be a "knockout."

Aid to Travel.

According to a statement made by D. D. Bohannon, vice-president of the Resilient Safewheel Company, Inc., of Oakland, considerable interest has been aroused by the Ford and Chevrolet cars equipped with Resilient Wheels which have been making demonstrations throughout the city recently.

"We have had little trouble in convincing any dealer who has taken a trial ride in these cars that the shock absorbing qualities of the spokes cannot be overstated," says Bohannon. "The roughest streets have been selected for our demonstrations and the cars have been taken up and down curbs without reducing speed. The ordinary wheel, being rigid, cannot take up these shocks, which therefore are passed on to the mechanical parts, inflicting the injurious vibration, which motorists recognize as their greatest enemy.

"We have worked on the perfecting of this safe wheel of ours for several years, being determined not to put it on the market until we could do so at a reasonable price and with an absolute assurance of its engineering perfection. The need which it fills is one which has been admitted for a decade and with which many manufacturers have tried to cope.

"In most cases the problems confronting them were greater than their mechanical skill could surmount and their devices failed to defy the tests to which they were put by prospective investors. It is obvious that a wheel devised not only to take up shocks but also to carry the entire weight of the car must be of that most enduring quality."

SIERRA ROAD CONDITIONS.

Stormy weather on the 15th and 16th, bringing exceptionally heavy rains in the lower altitudes and snow to depths of a few inches to a foot above five thousand feet, made necessary discouragement of motor travel over all of the roads into the park, and even the entire closing for one day of the Big Oak Flat road to outgoing travel. While weather conditions still appear to be somewhat unsettled, past records of conditions at this time of the year would indicate that the chances are all in favor of fair or good weather from now on. At any rate both the Wowona and Big Oak Flat Roads within the Park have about dried out and crews are at work repairing the damage done by the storm so that they are again readily passable an within two or three ays will be in first-class shape.

Heavy rainse have further saturated the meadow lands through which the Glacier Point road passes in its higher elevations, again delaying the opening of that road. Even so, with at all favorable conditions from now on the road should be open by or before the 25th of the month.

A crew is at work on the lower end of the Tioga road, and additional crews will be put on shortly in the higher country. Reporas are that road has survived the winter storms rather better than the average year with the result that after the cutting through the snow on the points of higher elevations, the job of repairing the road surface will be less difficult than in past years, and accordingly when open by about the 10th or 15th of July, it should be in better shape than usually at time of opening.

While travel is exceedingly heavy the same time of the year, nevertheless the increased sleeping and feeding facilities which have been provided for this year, together with the careful checking of reservations and their restriction to available capacity of the various [illegible] operating in the Park, has served to prevent so far, anything in the way of congestion. Between now, however, and the 10th of July is the normal period of most heavy travel and consequent heavy demands for accommodations. During that period it is unwise for anyone to attempt the trip without holding confirmed reservations or having one's own camping equipment.

Soviet May Assume Czar Regime Debts

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, June 21.—M. Ossinsky, new chief of the Soviet trade delegation to Stockholm, has just arrived here to negotiate a commercial treaty with Sweden.

He told newspaper men that Russia would acknowledge private ownership and the debts of the Czarist regime provided credit was granted her. He said both countries must make concessions and believed that a temporary arrangement could be reached as a basis for further negotiations.

HIGH BLOOD PRE SSURE RELIEVED

Oakland, Cal.
Gentlemen:
I suffered with high blood pressure and heart trouble for the past four years. This spring I became so bad that I did not think I would live until summer. I went to several doctors and they told me they could do nothing for me. My blood pressure was 202. After four weeks' treatment the pressure was down to 150, just slightly above normal. Today, after ten weeks' herb treatment, the pressure is normal and I feel as well as I ever did in my life. I can walk and eat without feeling the slightest ill effects, something I have not been privileged to do for over four years.

I also wrote several sanatoriums and their reply was the same as the local physicians; probably could prolong my life by remaining in bed for several months and keep on a strict diet.

Thanks to the Chinese herbs, I did not have to go to bed, and I feel that I am entirely recovered. Yours truly, and over 5000 sufferers not only satisfied but have been permanently relieved by our herbalist for the past eight years. Our patrons are our friends. A few cases of sufferers may not get satisfaction, but our herbalist will do the very best for them, but we do not just blame them not having faithfully carried out our treatments.

IDA M. RICE

HUNDREDS OF LIVES SAVED

No matter how much careful consideration is given to take a case, there is no human power who can relieve 100 per cent of the sufferers, unless he conceals those cases which he cannot relieve.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
I take this method of expressing my sentiments of appreciation to Dr. Wong Him for the wonderful cures he has effected in cases where several members of my family, including myself, were afflicted with various maladies.

I also desire to be the means of guiding anyone who is in need of medical advice, as he will find Dr. Wong Him to be a thoroughly reliable health specialist and absolutely conscientious. Through an occurrence experienced by a member of my family I can, with the greatest regard for sincerity, state that after a consultation, unless Dr. Wong Him is convinced that his herbs will effect a complete cure, he will under no circumstances accept the case.

Very truly yours

After a man has worn his first Foreman & Clark Suit— he knows that he has found the highest standard of clothing quality and style ever built into any suit, at any price!

Remarks have been made about the phenomenal percentage of Foreman and Clark repeat customers. It is generally known that we hold over 83% of all old customers. This may seem strange to those who do not know Foreman and Clark clothes. It isn't strange to those who do! Ask any Foreman and Clark wearer. In fact, if we had stores in smaller as well as larger cities from coast-to-coast, so a man couldn't move beyond reach, we'd build that 83% still higher. Even at present, men come hundreds of miles to this and other of our upstairs stores. Clothes buying sometimes waits months for a "trip to see Foreman and Clark." Not only with old customers. Many of the 100,000 new friends we gained last year---(and many of the 200,000 new customers we are winning in 1923), live 50, 100, often 200, and sometimes as far as 500 miles from the nearest Foreman and Clark store. That's loyalty. That's growth. That's success. And that's Foreman and Clark!

Better BRAIDINGS
Make better STRAW HATS

That's one of the reasons why Foreman and Clark Guaranteed $3 STRAWS at outsell any other guaranteed straw hat in the retail field.

We've got the boys' number!

F. & C. Junior CLOTHES

They'll tickle him to death with their smart style, you'll rejoice in the $5 saving at $12.50, $10 and

$7.50

An entirely new standard of clothing quality awaits the man who hasn't yet changed to Foreman and Clark clothes. At first it will seem strange to you that any one organization, no matter how big, could upset ordinary clothing value so completely. You may even wonder, "Is it possible to buy really fine clothes at $25, $30 and $35? Can I believe what my eyes show me and what my friends tell me?" But after you know the story behind these clothes and these prices, all that will be different. It will then seem strange to you not that Foreman and Clark subtract so much from clothing prices but that any industry should add on to the real value of a product so many profits, so many extra costs, as the clothing industry adds on to the price of the ordinary suit. The miracle then will not seem to be Foreman and Clark—but the indifference and lethargy of millions of men who remain content to pay ridiculous prices for clothes!

Study these un-varnished facts!

A—Pliable Belgium canvas coat body, instead of stiff cotton canvas.

B—Genuine silver Hymo instead of loosely woven haircloth.

C—One-eighth inch lock-stitch lapel, three fine rows of parallel threads, instead of one or two.

D—Hand-shaped, hand-felled, one-piece collar.

E—Inverted V-curve coat skeleton supporting lower area of skirt, as human muscles support the body. Counterbrace No. 1 resists up and down strain. Counterbrace No. 2 resists right and left pull. Counterbrace No. 3 resists diagonal or spiral twist.

F—Duo-stitched, triple braced pocket-flap, double strength against sagging and tearing.
